

Episcopalians Seek to Increase Budget $75,000

Religious Awakening in Nebraska Greater Than in Any Other Diocese in Country.

Financial matters occupied the morning session of the domestic missionary bishops of the Episcopal church, in two-day session at the Nebraska diocese headquarters in Bishop E. V. Shaylor's office in the Kennedy building.

Efforts will be made for an increase of $75,000 in the missionary budget of the church to $200,000 in 1923, according to John W. Wood, secretary.

"There has been a tremendous religious awakening in the Nebraska diocese," he said, "more so in relation to population than any other diocese in the United States. Episcopalians during the last three years have increased their giving by $1,700,000 a year."

"And yet there is a shortage in the ministry. And salaries of missionaries and clerical assistants are too low. Some women get as low as $800 a year and some married men as low as $1,200 a year."

Bishop Nathaniel Thomas of Wyoming spoke on "Religion and Business" at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon at noon, at which all visiting bishops were in honor.

Shatter Narcotic Ring in Sioux City

Federal Agents Arrest Men Alleged to Have Carried on Big Illicit Traffic.

Sioux City, April 21.—A narcotic ring, which is said to have disposed of enormous amounts of drugs to addicts of Sioux City's under world and is believed to have reaped a harvest of thousands of dollars in the illicit traffic, has been shattered, in the opinion of T. A. Kenefick and L. L. Marks, government agents who have been operating here for several days.

Four men, said by the federal men to have been leaders in the ring, have been arrested and are being held for action by the federal grand jury in May. Evidence of direct sales has been obtained on all four of the suspects, the narcotic sleuths assert.

Drug addicts in Sioux City and other middle western cities are receiving their supplies by means of an underground smuggling ring of international proportions, the officers assert. Narcotics are smuggled across the border from Mexico and carried to Kansas City, which is the distributing point for this territory.

Confidential aids of the ring then carry the drugs throughout the country where local rings, such as the one said to have existed in Sioux City, sell them to the unfortunate users, agents assert.

Riley Smith Loses in Plea for New Trial

Wahoo, Neb., April 21.—(Special Telegram.)—District Judge George Corcoran this afternoon overruled the motion of Riley Smith, convicted for robbing the Ithaca State bank of Ithaca, Neb., on December 16 of about $1,735, for a new trial and sentenced him to 20 years in the Nebraska state penitentiary.

Sentence was suspended for 10 days to give Smith a chance to file an appeal on the plea of writ of error with the supreme court, as he has signified his intention of doing.

Smith, in his statement of reason why sentence should not be pronounced, stoutly insisted that he is innocent and maintaining that he was never in Ithaca until December 23 when he voluntarily went to Ithaca with officers to submit to an attempt at identification.

Omaha Air Mail Pilot Praised by Postal Head

Lee flew from Chicago to Washington in a plane to be equipped with radio, making the 715 miles in six hours, two minutes.

He holds another speed record for flying the 362 miles between Chicago and Minneapolis in 232 minutes.

Lee is the oldest pilot in point of service, having started three years ago. He inaugurated the air mail runs between Chicago and St. Louis and Chicago and Minneapolis in 1918.

Vacuum Tube Perfects Radio

Audion Bulb Was First Step Toward Success of Wireless Phone.

Not long after the experiments of Marconi in 1898-1900 in radio telegraphy a few successful experiments were made in which the voice was transmitted by electric waves over distances of several miles. Up to about 1915, however, no practical use had been made of radio telephony, due to the lack of a means of producing enough modulated power to satisfactorily transmit over any great distance.

In the latter part of 1915 the A. T. & T. company performed their classic experiment and transmitted speech from their audion transmitting station at the Naval station at Arlington, Va., to observers at Honolulu, Colon, Panama, Paris and Mars Island, Cal.

Radio Phones in War. The wireless telephonic was used to a very large extent during the war for short distance communication between submarine chasers, transports and battleships at sea.

The success of these installations was due to the vacuum tube and a knowledge of its use. Radio telephony would not be in its present state of development were it not for the vacuum tube. With proper associated apparatus the tube is the most satisfactory type of generator of high frequency oscillations, we know, because it can be made to generate at will any frequency, say, from one cycle per week to several score million cycles per second.

Experiments have disclosed that the vacuum tube performs all of the functions necessary in radio telephony.

SPARKS

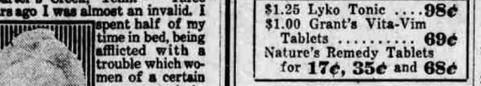

The Department of Agriculture will change from telegraph to radio-phones in the sending of market and crop news.

Using the electric lighting circuit for an antenna is not a very satisfactory method for receiving radio signals. One may receive a jolt instead. There is the risk of a short circuit or of getting the "hot" side of the wire.

Washington, April 21.—Secretary Denby announces that the bureau of engineering of the Navy department has successfully designed a universal amplifier for radio communication and other similar purposes. Heretofore, it is explained, obtainable amplifiers would amplify only incoming signals over a narrow band of wave lengths, but now Dr. J. M. Miller of the navy radio research laboratory has constructed a six-stage amplifier which gives practically the same amplification from a lower limit of several hundred meters to an upper limit in the neighborhood of 20,000 meters.

SPENT HALF HER TIME IN BED

Farmer's Wife Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman

Carter's Creek, Tenn.—"Three years ago I was almost an invalid. I spent half of my time in bed, being afflicted with a trouble which women are apt to have. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a well woman now and have been for two years. I can work as well as any one who is younger and as I am a farmer's wife I have plenty to do for I cultivate my own garden, raise many chickens and do my own housework. You may publish this letter as I am ready to do anything to help women as I have been so well and happy since my troubles are past."—Mrs. E. T. GALLOWAY, Carter's Creek, Tenn.

Most women find plenty to do. If they are upset with some female ailment and troubled with such symptoms as Mrs. Galloway had, the smallest duty seems a mountain. If you find it hard to keep up, if you are nervous and irritable, without ambition and out of sorts generally, give the Vegetable Compound a trial.

The Dancing Master

By RUBY M. AYRES (Copyright, 1922.)

(Continued From Yesterday.) His heart was hard as stone as he went back into the hotel and downstairs again.

Enid was coming out of the bathroom; she was smoking a cigaret and hanging on to the arm of an elderly man with a bald head.

She pushed him rudely away when she saw Royston and put on an expression of mock demureness. "Well, most noble and lofty one," she began.

Royston cut her short. "What do you want? I've no time to waste."

Her face darkened. "No time to waste on me, you mean," she said sharply, "but plenty for other people, apparently. It wasn't Netta this time—I know, though I couldn't see her face—who was she?"

Royston turned on his heel without answering, but she followed, and laying a persuasive hand through his arm.

"All right, Patsy! Don't be cross," she said. "I'm only teasing you. You can go out with who you like; I don't care as long as you don't cut me down to pay for them."

Royston's arm felt stiff beneath Enid's hand, and with a shrug she drew her hand away.

"What is it you want?" he asked curtly. She blew a cloud of smoke into his face. "What do I generally want? Money, or haven't you got any?"

"I don't come here to get any of it from some else, that's all," she added calmly. Royston's eyes flashed.

"If you do, you know what to expect," he said hoarsely. "I— Then he stopped, with a bitter sense of his own impotence.

Nothing he could say or do would alter this woman, he knew; she had driven and harried him until he would have given his last shilling for peace.

"I'll send you a check in the morning," he said, and would have left her, but she followed once more.

"Have you heard about the row here tonight?" she asked with relish. "Farmer and your country miss, Elizabeth Conyers? Harold Spencer saw part of it. Farmer tried to kiss her and she boxed his ears or two matters when a man's putting up money for her like he is! I wish he'd taken a fancy to me, that's all. Why, where are you going?"

Royston did not answer, and when he turned and walked away there was something in his face that was a warning, even to her obtuseness, not to follow him.

It was past midnight when Elizabeth got home. At first glance she thought the house was in darkness, but as the taxi stopped at the door it opened, and she saw Mme. Senecis standing in the hall. She came forward eagerly. "Petite?"

"Yes," Elizabeth's voice sounded faint and exhausted; her face in the

Grand Jury Will Hear More Stock Fraud Cases May 1

Score of Indictments Expected to Be Returned Against Party Alone.

Uncle Sam's pursuit of stock fraud promoters here is not yet over. "There will be several more cases of using the mails to defraud laid before the coming grand jury, May 1," J. C. Kinsler, United States attorney, admitted yesterday.

A score of indictments will be returned against promoters of one company alone, it is expected.

Mismanagement in another company, much involved in litigation, is also slated for investigation.

No big trials are scheduled for the Missouri Valley case, Kinsler stated he was waiting to know what sentence would be imposed on the Masse- Wohlberg-McWhorter-Chipley quartet in the Berg potash case before he would decide. Three of them are defendants in the Missouri Valley case.

Wholesale Meat Prices Show Big Drop From Peak

Chicago, April 21.—Wholesale meat prices show a tremendous decline since the peak prices following the war, according to the American Institute of Meat Packers.

"The average value of all meat and meat products exported during 1921, was 14 1/2 cents a pound as compared with 30 1/2 cents in 1919," says a bulletin issued by the institute.

"The average value of meat exported during 1913, was 11 1/2 cents a pound.

RADIO EQUIPMENT

BUY DIRECT FROM HEADQUARTERS

Beware of the dealer who tells you Crystal Detector outfits are good for long distances. They are dependable only at a distance of 15 miles, or less, for voice and music. They will, under favorable conditions, "pick up" once in a while distances up to 25 miles on voice or music, and greater distances on code or wireless telegraphy, but to understand code you must be able to read. I can't understand why any dealer should claim anything else. Possibly, it is because they don't know any better rather than to mislead you, but anyhow, take my advice, and—
