

Governor Helps to Open 'Humane Week' in Omaha

Kindness to Children and Animals Urged—Rules for Alleviation of Suffering Presented.

Governor Samuel R. McKelvie helped yesterday to open "Humane week" which is being observed by the Nebraska Humane society.

"We cannot give too much thoughtful consideration to the kindness that is due children and dumb animals," was part of the message he sent to welcome W. Bradley, director of the society.

More children are mistreated than one suspects, Mr. Bradley said, and the public could improve their lot by subscribing to this program of the Child Aid division of the society.

Program of Society.

1. To investigate all complaints concerning dependent, neglected and cruelly treated children, and to find the initial underlying cause or causes for present conditions.
2. To provide a "square deal" for every child that comes to our attention.
3. To aid in rehabilitating the homes which seem near the "zero hour."
4. To secure physical and mental examinations and treatment when needed.
5. To prevent delinquency by reaching children in their pre-delinquent days.
6. To assist children born out of wedlock of obtaining for them good care at birth, by establishing their paternity, when possible, and by helping their mothers in making plans for the future.

Dogs also have a pretty hard time, according to Mr. Bradley.

Features of Week.

"Hot days from now on will cause mental disorders in the canines," he said, "and people will be shooting them down. In most cases the dogs could be made normal if they were taken to our dog hospital at Twenty-first and Izard streets."

Outstanding features of Humane week will be:

Daily illustrated lectures for children at 4:00 p. m., on the fourth floor of the Burgess-Nash building.

Public luncheon at 12:15 Thursday, when semiannual report will be submitted by Mr. Bradley.

Sermonettes by boy scouts from pulpits of at least 10 churches next Sunday morning.

Candidates for Regent Must Pay $10 Filing Fee

Lincoln, April 24.—Candidates for regent of the University of Nebraska must pay a filing fee of $10 each under the nonpolitical election law, as it now stands, it became known today, through a ruling made by Darius M. Amsberry, secretary of state.

The act exempting them from fee, inasmuch as the office pays no salary, was amended in 1917, making the requirement uniform as to all candidates for nonpolitical offices.

Of the four candidates for regents, but one, Frank E. Edgerton of Aurora, has complied with the law, according to Mr. Amsberry. If the others desire to remain as candidates, they must refile, Mr. Amsberry states.

Divorce "Hearing" by Pencil and Pad

Omaha's quietest divorce suit was written—not heard—before District Judge L. B. Day Monday.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Hattie Barker, 56, deaf and dumb, appeared with her attorney, Ross Shotwell, and Mrs. C. A. Palmer, also deaf and dumb, to testify in writing that her husband, James H. Barker, 56, had called her naughty names three weeks after they were married on January 1, 1921.

Mrs. Barker stated that she tried to get along with her husband, but that he continued to complain; that her spouse didn't realize it costs more for two to live than one, and that he didn't know what married life meant. Mrs. Barker has four children by a former marriage.

Mrs. Palmer substantiated the wife's testimony, even the oath being administered in writing.

The husband failed to appear and juvenile authorities are investigating the case. The Barkers live at 3122 Chicago street.

Howard Farrell Files 11th Hour Answer to Wife

No Reconciliation, Say Attorneys—Syrup Man Also Defendant in Brandeis Store Suit.

At 4 yesterday afternoon attorneys for D. Howard Farrell, president of the Farrell Syrup company, filed an answer to the divorce petition of Annette Lady Farrell.

The answer takes but four lines of typewritten copy:

"Comes now the defendant (Farrell) and for answer to the plaintiff's (wife's) petition herein, denies each and every allegation therein contained."

Would Recover Costs.

"Wherefore the defendant prays that he may go hence and recover his costs herein expended and have such other relief as may be just and equitable."

Paul L. Martin of the law firm of Stout, Rose, Wells & Martin, counsel for Farrell, declined to discuss the answer.

Yesterday was the last day on which Farrell could file the answer under the law, and this eleventh-hour move is taken as an indication he will contest the suit of his wife.

Charges Cruelty.

Mrs. Farrell sued for divorce on grounds of cruelty March 22, 1922. She was awarded $150 a month temporary alimony April 13.

In her petition for divorce she asks alimony, alleging her husband is worth $75,000.

Yesterday morning Farrell was made defendant in a second suit, when J. L. Brandeis & Son filed an action in municipal court, seeking to collect $846.99 for merchandise alleged to have been sold to Farrell between April 1, 1921, and December 22, 1921. Payment was demanded and refused, the petition alleges.

Man Accused of Peeping Draws Fine in Court

Prisoner Says Arrest Due to Taking Short Cut Through Yard of Home.

John Stacey, 24, 4409 South Twelfth street, who said he is an inspector for the Water board, was accused by policemen in Central police court yesterday of being a "Tom the Peeper."

The charge was denied by Stacey, who attributed his capture in the shadows of the home of B. L. Koopman, 2710 South Thirteenth street, at 11:50 Friday night, to his having taken a short cut toward his home after accompanying a girl friend home.

Captured in Yard.

"They were not mine," Stacey told the court, "I defy anyone to prove they were."

In making the short cut to his home, Stacey ran into an impasse at the rear of the Koopman home and was heard by William Rabbs, 2708 South Thirteenth street, law student, who rushed out with a golf club crying to Koopman, who also hastened out. Rabbs held him at bay with the golf club and police were called.

Fined $5.

Stacey carried a flashlight and was dressed in old, dark clothing. Rabbs and Koopman said, but in court yesterday morning he was clad stylishly.

Judge Wapich fined Stacey $5 for disorderly conduct without referring to the "peeping incident."

Koopman is a branch manager for Armour & Co.

New Board of Barber Examiners Organized

The new board of barber examiners met yesterday for the first time and organized as follows: Dr. A. S. Pinto, health commissioner, chairman; Jack Becker, secretary; Ed Scranion, inspector.

Inspector Scranion will begin at once to distribute printed rules and regulations which will be posted in each barber shop, college and school.

One rule requires that brushes and combs must be thoroughly cleaned after each use, and another provides for sterilization of all instruments.

The board asks patrons of shops to co-operate by reporting violations of the rules.

Permits will be issued by the board to barbers, and proprietors who have paid their fees as required by the new ordinance.

Judge Says Sledge Appeal Is Absurd

Prisoner Held Here Because Prison Full Fails to Escape Term.

District Judge Troup characterized as "absurd" yesterday the effort made to get Fred Sledge freed on a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that he had not been taken to the penitentiary "within 30 days" after his sentence, as provided in the regular commitments.

Sledge was sentenced April 6, 1921, to one to seven years for larceny and has been in the county jail for more than a year because the penitentiary is full.

"If the penitentiary had burned down, would you argue that all criminals sentenced until a new one was built, should be turned loose because they could not be taken to that prison within 30 days?" said the judge.

"We all must submit to the physical facts, and when there is no room in the penitentiary it is necessary to keep prisoners elsewhere until there is room."

Sledge is to be taken to the penitentiary tomorrow.

There are 21 prisoners in the county jail awaiting room in the penitentiary.

Council Allows Auto Camp Fund Increase

City council committee of the whole acceded yesterday to requests of members of the Omaha Tourist Welcome bureau by increasing from $10,000 to $20,000 an appropriation for the establishment of an automobile tourist camp in Elmwood park. City Commissioner J. E. Hummel, head of the park and boulevard department, opposing the increase which the council allowed, asserted: "Last summer we checked the automobile tourists, who stopped at our camping ground in Elmwood park and found that one-half carried all their possessions with them and were migrating or just drifting around; one-fourth were health-seekers, and one-fourth the wealthy class with fine cars and equipment."

The committee requesting the increased appropriation, contended that the original allowance of $10,000 would not be sufficient to provide an adequate tourist camp.

Ordinance Prohibiting Firearms Sale Approved

City council committee of the whole yesterday morning recommended for passage an ordinance prohibiting sale of firearms and other weapons to minors and also prohibiting display of these instruments.

BOOST NOW! AND KEEP ON BOOSTING!

Omaha Elks have launched a campaign to sell one million dollars in bonds, with which to erect a new Elks Club building in Omaha. A copy of the prospectus which outlines the entire plan for the new home has been sent to every lodge in the state. Turn its pages and see what is in store for the Elks of this state.

Every one of the fourteen thousand Elks of Nebraska will have the privileges of the Club House of "39." This means that when you come to Omaha, and we want you to come often, you may live at the club and take advantage of all of its conveniences.

Every indication points toward success in this undertaking. Chairman Robert Trimble, who is in charge of the campaign, says that it will go over the top with a bang. We agree with him.

Four hundred and eight Elks, who have volunteered their services, will canvass the Elks population of Omaha, and before the week ends they hope to have the million.

Elks in the state may purchase the bonds. The bonds will pay six per cent. They will be a mortgage on the site and the building to be erected thereon.

The Elks' will be one of the finest club houses of any description between Chicago and the Pacific coast, and it will not be long before it is built. When the new club house is erected, and you are in Omaha, don't fail to visit it. Omaha Lodge No. 39 is building it, not only for Omaha, but for Elksdom.

The new building will also be of benefit to the state, for what helps Omaha helps the state, and what helps the state helps Omaha. Every time Omaha gets a million dollar building, it takes one more step toward becoming a bigger and better city in which to live.

And when Omaha grows, the state grows.

The new Elks club house will put Omaha and Nebraska on the map of Elksdom and will make Omaha the western mecca for Elks.

The million dollar Elks building will be built, and we want every Elk in this section of the country to have a part in the accomplishment of this big work. Every Omahan and every Nebraskan, whether he is an Elk or not, can help this good work by boosting for it.

Boost now and keep boosting until the million has been raised.
