

Radicals Only Group Opposed to Irish State

98 Per Cent of Americans Favor New Government, Say Members of High Commission Here.

"Ninety-eight per cent of the Americans favor the new Irish Free State, and in Ireland opponents to the new Gaelic state are but a small minority of radicals, given some standing because of De Valera's unreasonable attitude."

Thus did the three members of the Irish provisional government, high commission, in Omaha for two days, sum up Ireland's present political situation.

"It is now the declared policy of Irish Free State opponents to endeavor by violence to oppose the will of the majority of the Irish people," said James M. Sullivan, one of the commissioners. "Their leaders have declared they will not accept the verdict of the majority of the Irish people if it goes against them in the election next month. They are preparing to shed blood of their fellow Irishmen to enforce the will."

Mutiny Could Be Crushed.

General Piaras Beaslai, commandant of the Irish republican army, member of the Dail Eireann, vice president of the Gaelic league and founder of "Au Fainne," Irish-speaking league, emphasized that there is mutiny among only a very small portion of the republican army and that this could quickly be crushed if Michael Collins were not trying to avoid bloodshed.

"Already opponents of the Free State have given evidence of their idea of freedom by breaking up meetings by armed force and smashing up newspaper plants whose owners criticize them," said General Beaslai. "We feel sure that no Americans will give encouragement, still less financial assistance, to such a campaign of criminal lunacy."

Ask America's Friendship.

"We come to you as the accredited representatives of a native Irish government, recognized by other governments of the world and entitled to speak for the Irish people, to show our friendship and gratitude to the American people and to ask your friendship for the infant state which has come out from the shadow of tyranny into the comity of nations," was the explanation of the commission's aims given by John Forrester of the Dublin municipal council, third member of the commission, who said that for 20 years he has been identified prominently with the Sinn Fein movement.

Pender, Neb., April 25.—(Special.)—At the special election held here yesterday school district voters voted $100,000 bonds for a new public school building. The vote was 285 for and 135 against.

Considerable excitement prevailed as many of the heavier taxpayers were active in opposing the bonds. School children carrying banners depicting the need for a new school and the village band turned out and gave public concerts at noon and at 5 in the evening.

Irish Commission Here

"It's the Irish Free State or nothing," say the three members of the Irish Provisional government high commission, shown here. The three commissioners, who are stopping for two days at the Hotel Fontenelle, are, left to right: Gen. Piaras Beaslai, commandant of the Irish republican army; Councilor John Forrester of the Dublin municipal council, and James M. Sullivan, formerly of the United States diplomatic service, appointed a commissioner by special cable from Michael Collins.

Transportation on Missouri Held to Be Necessary

Omaha, K. C. and St. Joseph Flour Manufacturers Need Cheap Arteries to Markets, Says Congressman.

Kansas City, Mo., April 25.—Water transportation over the Mississippi and Missouri rivers is practical, cheap and necessary if a tie-up of transportation is to be avoided when the next extensive revival of business occurs, Representative Cleveland A. Newton, St. Louis, told the opening session of the Missouri Valley association here today.

"Cut-throat rates," said Mr. Newton, "have long been practiced by the railroads in their efforts to prevent water transportation in this country, and they are not only destructive to the railroads themselves. Experience shows that the railroads never have and never will be able to successfully compete with water transportation, and every attempt that they make in that direction is a source of needless expenditure."

"There is no river in this country the use of which is more needed to bear its burdens of freight than the Missouri from Kansas City to the mouth. The wheat fields of western Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas produce millions of tons of freight which ought to be given the benefit of cheap water transportation over the Missouri and Mississippi rivers out to the sea, and the flour manufacturers at Kansas City, St. Joseph or Omaha ought to be given the benefit of cheap water transportation down the Missouri and Mississippi to Cairo and then up the Ohio to the great flour market in the industrial fields around Pittsburgh."

Men Physicians Are Mercenary, Convention Told

Dr. Philbrick, Lincoln, Claims at the State Meet That Male Associates Are After Dollars.

Methods of decreasing mortality and pain in childbirth was discussed at some length by doctors attending the 34th annual convention of the Nebraska State Medical association at Hotel Fontenelle, yesterday afternoon.

Dr. A. B. Somers' paper on "Twentieth Century Obstetrics—A Criticism" resulted in a general and spirited discussion of obstetrics.

Dr. L. C. Philbrick of Lincoln, a woman doctor, rose and declared she believed the only reason men of the profession take obstetric cases is because they are lucrative.

Disagree on Hospitals.

"If I could come back to earth 500 years from now I would expect to find woman doctors handling all such cases," said Dr. Philbrick.

Commenting on Dr. Somers' expressed preference for handling obstetric cases in maternity hospitals, another physician declared the dirtiest of homes safer than the maternity ward of general hospital. One Johnson told of a case in Omaha where four physicians were called before one could be found to take the case and permit the patient to remain at home.

The doctors and their wives attended a party at the Orpheum last night. Medical and surgical clinics will be held at several hospitals for the visiting doctors this morning.

More Than 100 Registered.

More than 100 doctors had registered for the convention at noon yesterday, and total registration is expected to reach 300 before Thursday, the last day of the meeting. Speakers on yesterday's program were Dr. H. B. Lemere, Dr. R. J. Murdoch, Dr. E. W. Rowe, Lincoln; Dr. L. W. Rork, Oxford; Dr. N. T. Johnston, Upland; Dr. S. J. Jones, Hastings; Dr. A. J. Nebraskan Talks to Midwest Credit Men

Des Moines, April 25.—Credit departments in retail stores, when properly organized and conducted, form a part of the selling organization instead of merely functioning as a check on sales, speakers declared yesterday at the second annual conference of the midwest states division of the Retail Credit Men's National association. They said the negative aspects of credit work frequently are over-emphasized.

This view was presented by E. W. Lincoln of Lincoln, Neb., president of the national association and by Sidney Mandelbaum of Des Moines. Mr. Nelson said the credit men should cultivate friendly relations with the sales department, so that when credits have to be refused there will be no unfounded resentment on the part of the salesmen.

In general discussion it was said the credit situation is easing, although still requiring close watching. Collections have considerably improved in the last month, it was said.

Radio Department Trace Wires for Leaks, Says Expert

Many Amateurs Fail to Achieve Maximum Range.

"Why is it one receiving set will hear Newark, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Detroit without difficulty, while another of similar construction can hear only Omaha concerts?" writes a radio enthusiast.

This correspondent is experiencing practically the same difficulties that many radio amateurs new in the game are.

It is safe to say that not more than one-half the radio amateurs in Omaha are getting the maximum of which their sets are capable. There might be any number of reasons why this is so.

The trouble may be in any of the four following divisions of a radio station:

- No. 1 is the aerial.
- No. 2, the lead-in.
- No. 3, the radio set proper.
- No. 4, the ground connection.

If three of these are 100 per cent efficient and the fourth is only 50 per cent efficient, the set will not give maximum results.

A lead-in that "leaks" will spoil the results of the best set in existence.

It is a good plan to trace your wires to see if the connections are perfect if receiving is poor, an expert radio operator advises.

QUESTIONS

Warren Davee, West Point, Neb.

Q.—(1) How can I tell when I have a sensitive spot on my detector? (2) Can I hear music and speech with a crystal detector? (3) What radio stations can I hear from West Point? (4) How may I stop static from interrupting the signals? (5) Manipulate the hair spring on the crystal while you are tuning up. When you hear what is broadcast, you have struck a sensitive spot. (8) See that your aerial is away from and running at right angles to your phone and electric light wires and have patience in tuning up.

Randolph, Leigh, Stanton and Cozad Represented in Shipments Sold on the Local Market.

Everett Roberts came in from Randolph yesterday with two loads of choice Hereford steers for the local market that averaged 1,342 pounds for which he received the good price of $8.25 a hundred. Mr. Roberts said the cattle when bought here, last October, averaged only about 907 pounds and they netted him a handsome gain.

"There are quite a number of light cattle on feed around Randolph," said Mr. Roberts. "Heavy cattle on feed last fall, have all been sent to market."

Leigh was represented on the local market yesterday by a load of choice horned Herefords brought in by Carl Schroeder. The shipment averaged 1,144 pounds and were sold for $8.40 a hundred. Mr. Schroeder said the cattle he brought in were all raised and fed by himself and that he was well satisfied with the prices he received.

Ralph Obenchain Breaks With Wife

Back to Chicago, Refuses to Say Whether He Will Remarry Accused Woman.

Chicago, Ill., April 25.—Refusing steadfastly to say whether he would remarry Madeleine Obenchain, his former wife, if she is acquitted at her next trial for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, Ralph Obenchain today declared he was back in Chicago to re-establish his law practice, but would return to Madeleine's side in Los Angeles if she again needs him.

Reports from California said Obenchain was believed to have broken with his former wife, to whose aid he rushed eight months ago when she and Arthur C. Burch were accused of Kennedy's murder. The reports said he had changed his plans without wanting to marry Madeleine, but Obenchain today said that all depended on what happened in the future.

"But there is no change in our feeling for each other," Obenchain added.
