

SLEEPY-TIME TALES
THE TALE OF NIMBLE DEER
 BY ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

CHAPTER XIII
Cuffy Bear Weakens.
 The winter after Nimble lost his spike horns was a mild one. The snowfall was light. And Nimble was able to roam up and down Pleasant

"You're not Nimble Deer." Valley and about Blue Mountain as he pleased.

It happened that a certain bright day in early spring found him up the side of the mountain, near the cave where he had waited for Cuffy weeks before. And, as that whole queer affair came back to his mind, Nimble remembered how he had fed upon the green things under the snow.

That thought made him hungry. So he began to paw into the soft, heavy snow, which wasn't more than a foot deep; and he was enjoying a good meal when he heard a sudden rustle behind him.

Nimble wheeled instantly. And there, at the mouth of the cave, peering over the tangle which screened it, Cuffy Bear stood upon his hind legs, rubbing his eyes. Catching sight of Nimble, Cuffy blinked at him.

"Where's the Nimble Deer, madam?" Cuffy Bear growled presently. "I'm right here!" Nimble replied. "But please don't call me 'madam'!" he added.

"You're not Nimble Deer. You're a Doe," Cuffy Bear insisted. "You have no horns."

"I'm a Deer," Nimble retorted. "I had horns; but I've shed them." Cuffy Bear woofed a bit more. He seemed to be somewhat ill-tempered.

"You can't fool me," he grunted. "Nimble Deer's horns were firm upon his head when I left him here and stepped inside this cave. He agreed to wait for me; and I'm surprised that he broke his promise."

"I am Nimble Deer," Nimble declared again. "You led me to this spot from the spring. You told me you wanted to take another look at this cave because you were thinking of making it your winter home."

Cuffy Bear eyed Nimble with astonishment. And he shambled up to Nimble and sniffed at him. "It is you!" Cuffy cried at last. "So you did wait for me!"

"No, I didn't," Nimble confessed. "But here you are!" Cuffy Bear retorted. "You must have been waiting for me. And I've kept you a bit longer than I intended to, I'm sorry. I think I fell asleep in that den and had a short nap."

"A short nap!" Nimble repeated. "You've been asleep in there all winter! It's weeks and weeks since I last saw you. And I'm here now only because I happened to wander this way, when I heard old dog Spot baying."

Cuffy Bear was so surprised that he couldn't say another word. His mouth fell open. And he gazed blankly at Nimble.

But at last he spoke. "I must apologize to you," he said, "though it was really no wonder I called you 'madam.' You have changed a great deal since I left you here." "And you?" Nimble told him—"you have changed too."

"I have?" Cuffy Bear cried. "How's that? How have I changed?" "You look much hungrier," Nimble explained.

Cuffy Bear laid a paw across his waistcoat. "I am hungry," he admitted. "And if you're going down the mountain I think I'll stroll along with you and see what I can find to eat."

"Very well!" Nimble agreed. "One moment!" Cuffy Bear said hastily. "Just one moment, please! Wait till I go inside my cave! I believe I left my cap in there."

"I'm not going to wait for you," Nimble replied firmly. "For I know you might not come out again till laying time."

And then Nimble trotted off down the mountainside, heading for Cedar Swamp. For he didn't think old dog Spot would wander in that direction. (Copyright, 1922.)

"Raisin Week"

This is "Raisin Week"—recognized the nation over, and set aside by the California Raisin Industry as the week in which raisins shall be introduced into all homes with a view to increasing their popularity with every member of the household.

Within the past few years raisins have become widely known and recognized as food of real health value. It is the aim of the industry that this delicious California fruit food shall become known and used in not the majority of homes, but in every home.

Serve raisins in your household this week. Note some of the following ways to prepare them; just a few suggestions to help you get better acquainted with the variety of ways to serve, and to introduce

Removes Hairy Growths Without Pain or Bother
 (Modes of Today)

It is not necessary to use a painful process to remove hairy growths, for with a little delatone handy you can keep the skin entirely free from these beauty destroyers. To remove hair, make a stiff paste with a little powdered delatone and water. Spread this on the hairy surface and in about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To guard against disappointment, be careful to get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

Parents' Problems
 How can family loyalty best be taught?
 Let the older members of the family show their loyalty by not criticizing each other, or their relatives, when the children are present. Also show respect for other families and for the institution of the family in general by refraining from gossip or curiosity in regard to the petty affairs of neighbors.

PIMPLES ON FACE ITCHED BADLY
 Also On Neck. Very Painful. Cuticura Heals.
 "For some time I was bothered with pimples on my face and neck. They were very painful and itched so badly at times that I could not get my rest at night. I could not wear anything close around my neck, and after about a week the pimples festered and became inflamed."

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more and within two weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Sylvia Hooper, 817 Fulton St., Jeffersonville, Ind., July 23, 1921.
