

Ex-Governor Cox Launches Attack at Republicans

Says Administration "May Go Down in History as Outstanding Failure of Last 50 Years."

Harrisburg, April 28.—Speaking before a statewide gathering of democrats here tonight, former Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, democratic candidate for president in 1920, started a verbal onslaught on the Harding administration with the statement that "it may go down in history as the outstanding failure of the last 50 years."

Mr. Cox devoted the major part of his address to an attack on the national administration and delivered a few shafts at the present international policy of the country.

The result of the arms conference at Washington, he said, is a "regional alliance." This, he continued, "has led to other alliances and grave crises have come in consequence."

"Not only have we ceased to be helpful, but in view of recent developments, it is apparent that we are a distinctly disturbing factor in international affairs. Our leaders in banking and economic thought are doing the best they can as individuals. Recognizing the futility of appealing to our government, the statesmen of the world are endeavoring to arouse the co-operation of individual agencies."

The republican campaign pledge of "reorganization, economy and added efficiency in government," Mr. Cox declared, "has developed into the actuality of spoils in government."

Invention of Auto Engine to Run 272 Miles on Fuel Costing Nickel Claimed

H. H. Elmer, General Manager of Syracuse (N. Y.) Steel Company, Says He Has Designed New Type of Engine That Will Revolutionize Motor Car Industry.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 28.—Three hundred miles on a gallon of fuel costing 5¢ cents!

That is the claim H. H. Elmer, treasurer and general manager of the Globe Malleable Iron and Steel company of this city makes for a new type of engine designed by himself which internationally known engineering experts say will revolutionize the automobile industry.

Says It's "Discovery."

The principle upon which the engine works, is a "discovery" rather than an improvement, Mr. Elmer declares. It involves 371 distinct points, each one along a new line of engineering thought. The fuel is oil, vegetable, mineral or animal.

Three full size models of the engine were tested before directors of the company this afternoon. The directors, all prominent Syracuse business men, were first astounded and bewildered, then enthusiastic. A committee, including in its personnel John Wilkinson, inventor of the Franklin air cooled motor, was appointed to arrange for immediate development of Mr. Elmer's discovery by the Globe Malleable Iron and Steel company here.

Runs for Eighteen Hours.

According to Mr. Elmer and other directors of the company, a one-cylinder, three-horsepower engine ran continually for 18 hours on one and one-quarter pints of the fuel oil, a gallon of which is sold at retail price for 5¢ cents.

There are only 64 parts to the engine, including all the screws used in its construction. It will be placed on the market, Mr. Elmer said, at 60 per cent of the price of engines of any type in the same class now being sold.

Inquiry Begun Into Mysterious Death of Teacher

Body of Gertrude Hanna, Missing Since March 24, Found in Vacant Parsonage at Hoopston, Ill.

Hoopston, Ill., April 28.—Two separate investigations into the mysterious death of Gertrude Hanna, 25-year-old school teacher, whose body was found in the unoccupied United Presbyterian parsonage last night, were launched today by Chief of Police Bogart and County Physician I. G. Fisher.

Based on physicians' finding that Miss Hanna was approaching maternity, Chief Bogart began a search early today for six young men who will be questioned.

One man has already been quizzed, but the chief refused to say whether any new light had been thrown on the girl's death.

Friends of the dead girl were at a loss to explain her death. She was said to have had no love affairs.

Opinion was divided between the murder and the suicide theory. The girl's father, William T. Hanna, a mill owner, said his daughter had never threatened suicide. The basement room in which her body was found, however, was fastened from the inside. Absence of indications of violence also led some to believe that death might have been self-inflicted.

State's Attorney Lewman announced today, following an all-night investigation into the death of the young woman that he was not certain that the case involved murder, and indicated that no further action would be taken until a post-mortem examination had established that death was not the result of self-administered poison.

North Bend Pioneers Married 50 Years

North Bend, Neb., April 28.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. John Cusack, pioneers of Nebraska and among the first to settle in the great open spaces now dotted with towns and villages, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home here.

More than 125 guests, many of whom pioneered with the Cusack family when grasshoppers swarmed over the country, and stood shoulder to shoulder with them in the hardships of the early days, were present to extend their best wishes to the happy couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Cusack were married April 22, 1872, on the homestead of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie, three miles north of North Bend. Mr. Cusack was then employed as a section foreman on the Union Pacific.

In 1881 he went into the coal business in North Bend. During Roosevelt's administration he served as postmaster of the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Cusack are the parents of four children, Mrs. T. J. Kasler, North Bend; Mrs. Clifford Ford and Mabel Cusack, Corad, and Alice Cusack, Kansas City, Mo.
