

Council Bluffs Society

Luncheon

Mrs. B. M. Sargent and Mrs. Harry Van Brunt entertained at luncheon Monday in honor of Mrs. Melvin Barnes of Detroit, Mich., who, with her husband, visited last week with T. G. Turner and his daughter, Miss Marian Turner.

Ten guests were present and the table was most attractive with two tall, dark-blue vases holding Russell roses and chery blossoms. A mound of these same flowers was also used in the center of the table.

Dinner-Dance at Grand

Conspicuous among the events on last week's social calendar was the dinner-dance at the Grand hotel, Tuesday, which marked the opening of the new dining room and dance hall.

A special program was arranged for the occasion and among those who had table reservations were: F. A. Wickham with a party of 10; E. W. Hart, 5; Dr. L. L. Henningsen, 10; a "Dutch treat" party including Messrs. and Mesdames Jack Day, Don Waller, Reed Flickinger, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Cutler and George Wickham.

With Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Lougee were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Metcalf and Edward Schenken. James Bradley had eight guests and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lafayette, six.

Others having reservations were Donald Macrae, H. A. Quinn, Joe Smith, George Hamilton, A. F. Smith, Dr. E. T. Seybert, Dr. Earl Bellinger, A. I. Medlar, Walter Harkett, Louis Zimmichlen, Blaine Wilcox and George Lacey.

Bridge Luncheon

A very attractive party was given Saturday by Mrs. Donald Annis at the home of A. D. Annis on Bluff street.

One large table and six small ones were decorated with pink roses and lavender sweet peas, and following the luncheon the guests played bridge.

Friend of Miss Janis

When Miss Elsie Janis appears at the Brandeis theater the latter part of the week she will be greeted by many ex-service men whose acquaintance she formed while overseas during the world war.

Among the Council Bluffs boys who will welcome this charming actress is Eldon Anderson who was among the most seriously wounded from here.

Miss Janis chanced one day to visit the hospital in which this soldier was confined, and in going about asking the patients if she could do anything for them was quite surprised to have him say that the only request he had at that particular time was a kiss from her. She was "game," and now Mr. Anderson is anticipating her arrival, at which time he hopes to further the acquaintance he found so enjoyable.

Women to Play Golf

Although the opening of the Country club will not occur until the latter part of May the women golfers of the city have been so restless for their favorite game these balmy days that arrangements have been made to commence playing this week.

On Wednesday morning, May 3, all ladies interested in golf are asked to be at the club at 10 o'clock.

and each one is to bring her own luncheon as the cafe is not as yet open.

Mrs. E. T. Evans is president of the organization this year with Mrs. Frank Garrett, secretary and treasurer.

The handicap committee is composed of Mrs. Oscar Baumister and Mrs. B. O. Brington and the program for the season will be in charge of Mrs. W. L. Douglas, Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. Stuart McCall and Miss Marian Turner.

From the fact that a certain amount of money has been allotted to the women this year for their needs and prizes will be awarded at the weekly games a great deal of enthusiasm has been manifested and at least 50 women are expected on Wednesday for the picnic game.

For Mr. and Mrs. Barnes

Six guests dined with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Clark at the Brandeis tea room last Monday evening and later attended the theater.

The affair was planned complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Barnes of Detroit, Mich., who have been visiting at the T. G. Turner home.

Luncheon

Mrs. T. P. Wright and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Brainerd, entertained at luncheon Monday in honor of Miss Geraldine Hess, who was married the following evening to Douglas Peters.

A color scheme of yellow was used in the table decorations and six guests were present.

To Entertain

Mrs. Fred Hurd and Mrs. Frank Garrett have issued invitations for a luncheon to be given Wednesday at the home of the latter.

These hostesses have also planned a bridge luncheon for Thursday which will also be at the Garrett home.

Dinner

A lovely dinner was given on Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Shugart, whose guests included Messrs. and Mesdames R. D. Turner, X. W. Kynnett, W. J. Heiser, Walter Stephan, Fred Baumister and Melvin Barnes of Detroit, Mich.

Later the party attended the dance at the Eagles hall given by the Tuesday Dancing club.

Frances Earenlight Here

Miss Frances Earenlight arrived last Wednesday from Chicago and with her parents is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kehrer on Harrison street.

She is to return to Chicago, Tuesday, to fill an engagement there May 8, and will later leave with the Pavley-Oursinsky organization for a month in Mexico City.

Miss Earenlight plans to reopen her dancing studio here the first of July and will remain in Council Bluffs until October when she leaves with her company for London.

Card Party

Seventy-three tables were placed for the games of bridge, "500" and high five at the party given by the Catholic Women's league last Thursday at the home of Mrs. E. A. Wickham.

Proceeds from the affair will be used for charity in the city.

Oscar Keeline is convalescing from an attack of acute tonsillitis. A son was born at Mercy hospital last Sunday morning to Mr. and Mrs. James Mulqueen.

Furbelows of Fashion

A sports blouse of Persian blue has a small white collar in the back and odd circular cuffs.

Batiste sets came in peach orchid and flesh, made in tailored models and trimmed with black hemstitching.

"Radium silk wears better, we find than glove silk for vests," says the buyer in one local store. "It doesn't cling so much and therefore hasn't the rubbing that makes them thin."

New lingerie shows chemise and stepin sets of white voile edged with bands of blue or pink dotted voile. Striped sursatin is also used for these sets, as is seersucker crepe. An orchid wash robe set has a lace edge and scalloped edge on the steps.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

He Loves Two Girls

Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been going about with a young man two years my senior for seven months. He comes to see me twice a week. This young man tells me that he goes to see another girl twice a month, and he tells me what night he is going to see her. I have told him if he went to see her he couldn't see me, too. Do you think I ought to let him call to see me, when he still goes to see her? Do you think he can go to see her and love me at the same time?

The man is being honest with you. Can't you trust him? Even if you don't like seeing this other girl, aren't you inclined to admire him for the honesty which makes him tell you of his visits and insist on making them because of a promise to which his native honesty seems to pledge him?

K. L.: Don't be discouraged. There is a lot of real joy in striving. Do you remember the oft-quoted bit which says that to travel is more pleasure than to arrive. Of course, when the journey seems endless, and you lose faith in ever arriving, there is little joy of the journey. But as long as you keep your goal in view and retain a dogged determination to get there in the end there must be joy of journeying, however rough the passage.

Have you ever tried to make a hat out of an old canvas frame and some bits of ribbon and velvet which seemed too scant to drape into the desired effect? There's a lot of fun in trying to contrive a full hat out of a seemingly three-quarter equipment. But once the problem is worked out there's nothing much to do but go through the routine of sewing and stitching.

All effort is like that. While there's the thrill of wondering if you can make it this time—while there's the exciting possibility that you'll miss, or just hit, all work has the quality of adventure. Not even the finished product has the thrill of the moment when success lies just around the corner—almost within grasp.

We need to learn to keep on hoping and to keep on going.

We must train ourselves to take bruises to soul and body with a certain serenity. We have to get a fast grip on our pride. And once we don't mind the give and take of blows which we and life have to exchange we are bound to crown striving with success.

Genius has been defined as an infinite capacity for taking pains. Let's remember that. It's not a fairy gift for working miracles overnight. It's just the heavenly patience to work slowly toward our own latent possibilities.

Dimples: I have no way of learning the height of the different movie actors. I hope to be of more help to you the next time you write me.

Miss D. B. E.: I suggest exercise for you.

Sleeves Just Like the Grocery Boy's Cuffs

New York—(Special Correspondence.)—The glee of the small boy who finds a dollar on circus day is paralleled only by the fashion writer of today who locates a new touch on these same up and down frocks. That emotion is inspired by one of the new Jenny sleeves which we are illustrating today on a frock of navy blue Cherit twill. The schedule of this sleeve is as simple as that of the grocery boy's cuff. It's just a gauntlet-like arrangement pulled up above the elbow, and it usually serves as the medium introducing some novelty of trimming. Here, for instance, the gauntlet sleeves are of white linen with a design in Chinese blue and the collar repeats both material and motif. There is an excellent trail of white organdy, and by way of girle comes a linked affair in white and blue composition. It may be added that the touch of organdy was never more stressed than it is today.

'Twas a Wild Party

New York Flappers Enlivened Dinner by Throwing Buns Around.

(Cleveland Plaindealer.)

An "anti-flapper" bill has been introduced in the New York assembly which would permit the commitment of a girl between 16 and 21, as a wayward minor. The bill is designed to aid those who are unable to cope with their obstreperous progeny. It was said to have been inspired by reports of a party that took place recently in a prominent New York hotel. At this party each girl disappeared into the dressing room clad in a fairly modest and becoming gown. When she came out, however, it was, as Rupert Hughes once said: "Low and behold in front and La Vie de Boheme in the rear."

When dinner was announced all the flappers and flapperettes made a grand rush for the table, shouting "Food! Food!" at the tops of their voices. And once they were seated they amused themselves by throwing buns at each other.

"One debutante," according to a New York newspaper, "had the distinction of hitting her hostess, in the eye with a roll, which caused the hostess to retire from the party, and she is now under the care of a well-known eye specialist."

"Any mother who witnessed that scene," a New York matron was quoted as saying, "would be justified in trembling for the future of her sons should they fall into the hands of such girls."

Care of Chinaware. If the colors in the bands or decorations of china wear off, the cause can be traced to the use of strong soap and scalding water. When dishwashing, always use mild soap on fine china.

Take It In Time!

Do you know that by far the larger number of the common ailments of women are not surgical ones; that they are not caused by any serious displacement, tumor, growth, or other marked change?

Do you know that these common ailments produce symptoms that are very much like those caused by the more serious surgical conditions?

Do you know that many women and young girls suffer needlessly from such ailments? More than that, they endanger their health by allowing their ailments to continue and develop into something serious.

If treated early, that is, within a reasonable time after the first warning symptoms appear, serious conditions may often be averted. Therefore, at the first appearance of such symptoms as periodic pains, irregularities, irritability and nervousness, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken. It is prepared with accuracy and cleanliness from medicinal plants. It contains no narcotics nor poisonous drugs, and can be taken with perfect safety.

The Vegetable Compound acts on the conditions which bring about these symptoms in a gentle and efficient manner. The persistent use of it shows itself in the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms. In a word, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound acts as a natural restorative, relieving the present distress and preventing more serious trouble.
