

Son of Wealthy Merchant Held on Check Charge

Anselmo Man Accused of Passing Worthless Check for $1,200 on Omaha Doctor.

Frank Crist, 27, son of a wealthy business man of Anselmo, Neb., is in jail here charged with giving a check for $1,200 to Dr. George A. Angus and having insufficient funds to meet it.

Dr. Angus, who resides at 1601 Military avenue, told a reporter for The Bee he cashed the check for Crist two years ago when Crist came to him and told a story of domestic troubles and a need for "the money right now."

Crist, in turn, declared he never had been married and could not have had "family troubles."

Crist said he never heard of Dr. Angus before he received two letters from him recently.

Crist ran a butcher shop in Anselmo until a year ago. His father, John Crist, formerly conducted a general store there, and is now temporarily at Broken Bow operating an ice plant.

Crist paid $19,000 for breaking tooth. Cancellation of Long-Distance Engagement Basis for Record Payment.

Falls City, Neb., May 5.—(Special)—Heart balm, $19,452.72 worth of it, was paid to Miss Jennie Fellers yesterday afternoon by Louis Henry Howe.

Miss Fellers, who like Mr. Howe is of Humboldt, brought to the general store there, and is now temporarily at Broken Bow operating an ice plant.

Their courtship started in 1889, when Miss Fellers was only 14. Seven years later he proposed and she accepted, she said.

For 22 years their engagement continued, without any signs of a trip down the old church aisle, according to Miss Fellers. Then, on September 7, 1918, Howe flatly told her there wouldn't be any wedding bells, she alleged.

Miss Fellers originally was awarded $22,000, but the supreme court cut the amount to $17,000, plus interest, in a decision on January 21. This, together with the court costs, totaled $19,672.52.

Although probably not as much as the Widow Zander hopes to collect from Uncle Bim the settlement made by Howe here yesterday was the largest ever made in the history of Richardson county.

Man Held for Burr Murder Enters Plea of Not Guilty. Nebraska City, Neb., May 5.—(Special)—George Flessner, charged with the murder of Joshua Howard at Burr last Sunday, was arraigned in county court and upon a plea of not guilty his hearing was set for May 8. Flessner still maintains that he knows nothing of the killing of Howard at home and he does not attempt to explain the presence of bloodstains on the walls, floor and stairway leading to the room in which the murder was committed.

The prisoners in the county jail say that Flessner appears unconcerned over the murder charge; that he sleeps well and will talk to them of his doings the past few days, especially the part about his drinking "white mule." The funeral of Howard was held at Burr yesterday and was largely attended.

Gillette Razor Firm Wins Patent Infringement Suit. Gillette Safety Razor company of Boston has won its suit against W. J. F. Rieken, Bremen, who, it is alleged, infringed the Gillette trademark.

Rieken used the Gillette mark for stamping other razor blades made for him in Germany. He also used it in correspondence and advertisements. The Hamburg court decided the trademark "Gillette" is fully protected in the federal patent office at Berlin and ordered Rieken to give 10,000 marks security against future infringement.

The Dancing Master

By RUBY M. AYRES. (Copyright, 1922.)

(Continued from Yesterday.) A silence followed; out in the hall they could hear madame's shrill voice arguing with someone on the telephone; she sounded angry, and kept breaking into her own language, as she invariably did when she was excited and could not find sufficiently expressive words in English.

"Mon Dieu!" she wailed, flinging herself down on a couch in a tragic attitude. "Mon Dieu! Everything is going wrong. I am the most unfortunate— She beat her tiny hands on the many cushions. "First there is one thing, and now— She picked up one of the cushions and flung it across the room; then she held out a hand to Farmer. "A cigaret—give me one—"

Farmer lit one and handed it to her; both he and Elizabeth knew her too well to ask questions until she had recovered a little, and after a moment she broke out again. "The duchess! She thinks she is the duchess! All my plans they go—pouff! comme ca. After the way I had worked! And now she put it off, as if it matter not at all, not at all! She started to rise and then began pacing up and down the room furiously. Elizabeth gave a little gasp.

"You mean the 11th is put off?" she asked breathlessly. Madame swung round; her queer eyes were on fire. "For a month! And you and me and all the work we have worked, it matters not! The duchess she put it off, that is all there is about it! We count nothing—we go pouff!" "But why, why?" Elizabeth asked urgently. Madame began to calm down a little; she went back to the many cushions on the couch.

"The big charity ball is the same night," she said scornfully. "The duchess think it interfere, and she will not have it, so we are put off, we wait a month. What would you?" She rattled off a string of vituperation in her own tongue. Farmer shrugged his shoulders. "I don't know that it matters much, does it?" he said. He was rather pleased that he was not anxious to lose control of Elizabeth so soon, and he was confident that once she appeared in public she would soon be beyond need of his assistance.

Madame snorted. "To you—no, perhaps," she said, "but to me—and the little one here—"

"I don't mind very much," Elizabeth said slowly. She was relieved at the sudden change—although she would have been glad to have got it over. Madame went on chattering; she was keenly disappointed and upset and nothing Farmer or Elizabeth could say had any effect on her. Finally she went off to bed in a fit of hysterical tears.

Elizabeth looked after her and sighed; she got very tired of Madame's Senesitis. "Elizabeth, are you quite happy here?" Farmer asked suddenly. "She hesitated. "I suppose I am as happy here as I should be anywhere," she said unthinkingly. "That sounds rather pessimistic," he answered.

Elizabeth shook her head. "It's not really; only, Mr. Farmer, sometimes lately, when I think about my future, I get so frightened. Suppose—supposing I am never able to repay you for all you have done? I must owe you hundreds, hundreds."

Get Your Free $1.00 PACKAGE OF GENUINE YEAST VITAMINE TABLETS from your druggist today. If you are thin and emaciated and wish something to help you put on flesh and increase your weight, Yeast Vitamine Tablets should be used in connection with organic Nuxated Iron. With organic iron, both food and vitamins are absolutely useless as your body cannot change inert, useless food into living cells and tissues unless you have plenty of organic iron in your blood. Organic iron takes up oxygen from your lungs, this oxygenated organic iron unites with your digested food as it is absorbed into your blood just as the sun's rays heat coal and wood, and by so doing it creates tremendous power and energy. Without organic iron in your blood your food merely passes through your body without doing you any good. Arrangements have been made with the druggists of this city to give every reader of this paper a large $1.00 package of Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets absolutely free with every purchase of a bottle of Nuxated Iron.

RADIO DEPARTMENT

Radio Rage Hits Federal Offices

President Harding and Post-office Chiefs Install New Sets.

Radio-telephony has become a potent factor in the daily activities of government departments in Washington and in naval air stations surrounding the capital, a dispatch states. The Naval Radio Station at Arlington, just across the Potomac and within sight of Washington, broadcasts during the day the meteorological report, time signal, weather report, ship orders and naval news.

The Postoffice department, through its powerful broadcasting station releases weather reports, marketgrams, wholesale dairy reports and grain reports for New York and Pennsylvania farmers. Daily Programs. The Naval Air Station at Anacostia, a suburb of Washington, issues a public health lecture several times a week, and several electric companies broadcast at various times of the day and night, musical selections, news items and other features of interest to the persons who are "listening in" and enjoying the novelty of hearing the releases as they float through the air.

From the nation's chief magistrate to the small school boy the national capital has heeded the "call of the wireless," and the radio broadcasting today has a vice-like grip on young and old. Even "Uncle Joe" Cannon, that grizzled, battle-scarred veteran of more than a half century has become an ardent devotee of the alluring entertainment, provided by radio and has a receiving set.

SPARKS Tufts college, New York, will soon institute a course in wireless that will be most unique in that there will be no tuition fees, no buildings, no campus and no enrollment. In every sense of the word the instruction it plans will be free for all if one can just pull it out of the air.

Washington, May 5.—Radio concerts being broadcast nightly this week from naval air station NOF at Anacostia for the benefit of wounded and disabled soldiers confined to hospitals throughout the country are declared by the Soldiers' institute, under whose auspices they are being given, to be the most successful yet undertaken and scores of letters and messages of praise are being received daily. Although intended primarily for the entertainment of the soldiers, many thousands of radio fans have listened in.

QUESTIONS F. T. B. Leigh, Neb. Q.—(1) How is wave length calculated? A.—By dividing the velocity of electricity, 300,000,000 meters per second, by the frequency of the alternating current producing the wave. Thus, 300 meters in wavelength, frequency of 1,000,000 cycles per second.

L. J. K. Kearney, Neb. Q.—What kind of receiving set is considered good for receiving from a broadcasting station which is about 150 miles distant? A.—Any short wave regenerative tuner would be satisfactory for this purpose.

First Degree Murder to Be Charged Against Neneoff Lincoln, May 5.—According to Sheriff J. W. O'Rourke, of Valentine, Neb., a first degree murder charge will be filed at the term of the district court which opens early in June against George Neneoff, Bulgarian, suspected in connection with the murder of Jack Gellis in a canyon near Valentine last Saturday. Neneoff did plenty of talking here Thursday, but, according to Sheriff O'Rourke, there was nothing in his talk he indicated he was guilty.

G. Sharpless Worth Dies Coatesville, Pa., May 5.—G. Sharpless Worth, prominent iron and steel manufacturer, died at his home here last night. He was 71.
