D. A. R. Delegate to Speak.
Mrs. George Mickel returned Friday from Washington where she was a delegate to the national meeting of the D. A. R. Mrs. Mickel, who is state organizer for Nebraska, will report on the conference Tuesday at a meeting of the D. A. R. at the home of Mrs. E. R. Hume. Over 1,000 women attended the conference, and they were the guests of President and Mrs. Harding at a reception. The chief event, however, was a trip to Mt. Vernon, where Marshal Joffre and Ambassador Jusserand addressed them. Two oak trees were planted, one grown from an acorn from the old home of Lafayette in France, and the other from Solgrave, England, the former home of the Washington family.

Why you should be interested in the "Coffee Exchange"

New York has its great stock exchange, grain exchange and probably not so well known, its coffee exchange. Here is the great center where the world's dealings in coffee are carried on.

Samples from far away—East Indies, the islands of Java, Porto Rico and from South America assemble.

The coffee exchange establishes standards by which the world's buyers and sellers determine grades. There is no guess work about the grade of coffees but there is the greatest element of judgment in the quality of various types of coffee.

The coffee exchange determines grades. The coffee buyer determines values due to flavor, fragrance and nuttiness.

There are eighteen different varieties of green coffee and eight different grades.

Coffee is a product handled by only the expert. Expert buyers visit the various coffee growing countries. Experts at the warehouses of New Orleans and New York pass judgment on the gradings of various cargoes that arrive.

But the expert buyer, the blender, the final assayer of the finished coffee for your table, is the final buyer who selects and roasts your coffee.

How a courageous wife goads a husband to fight

NERVE—to push your way through life! Have you got it? Do men of money awe you? Do you truckle to millionaires and drop your convictions—and your nerve—when they speak?

Are you a coinceder or a scrapper? Do you whine and yell "enough" when Money sits on you or do you wriggle out from under and hit back?

Did you ever let a client win a game of golf from you because you were afraid if you defeated him, you would lose his business? Did you ever prostitute a glorious outdoor sport to win the good graces of a banker?

Get the RED BOOK MAGAZINE for May and read the "Quarter-Million Note" by Lawrence Perry. Note the difference between a yellow business man and his courageous, fighting wife. See how she quietly goads him on to redeem himself and save his self-respect.

This story is a liberal education in the Art of Being a Man. It won't hurt anybody—but it will resuscitate a lot of Quitters who will sacrifice anything to Win a Smile from Money.
