

Nebraskan Shows Capital How to Evade Red Tape

Frank Harrison, Lincoln Newspaper Man, Is Subject of Extended Editorial in Baltimore Sun.

Washington, May 6.—Under the heading of "A New Man in Washington," the Baltimore Sun indulges in an extended editorial on Frank A. Harrison of Lincoln, Neb., deputy commissioner general of the United States commission to the Brazilian exhibition. The Nebraskan is described as a Main street newspaper editor who does his own stenographing on occasion, and in general as an "irreconcilable" when it comes to dispensing with useless jobs and job hunters, red tape and expense. The editorial is as follows:

"Critics of government and advocates of federal economy and retrenchment should be informed of the arrival in Washington of a new man, fresh from the prairies, and a new idea. It so happens that a 'Main Street' newspaper editor in Nebraska, Frank Harrison by name, by some quaint turn of politics has been made the commissioner in charge of the American exhibit at the Brazilian centennial exposition, which opens in Rio de Janeiro next September.

Job List Is Low. Mr. Harrison has an appropriation of $1,000,000 to work with. He expects to spend only a small fraction of this amount. He was assured by various dignitaries, job hunters and otherwise, that he must have a staff of several hundred executive assistants, technical experts, research workers, trade attaches, etc., to do his work properly. Up to date Mr. Harrison has employed six men and a stenographer. When the office is rushed he "checks in" and does his own stenographing, as he calls it, his own envelope-addressing and other odd jobs that his newspaper experience taught him how to do.

Cuts Hughes' Request. The State department sent the Nebraska editor a demand for $10,000 in connection with the exhibition preparations a few days ago. He countered with a demand for an itemization of the sums to be spent. When it was received he sent this word to one of Secretary Hughes' assistants: "That work can be done for $2,500 without any trouble at all. Come over here and I'll show you how to do it." The State department dignitary did not come, but accepted the $2,500 without further parleying. Several thousand peremptory demands have been made upon Mr. Harrison from senators, representatives, politicians of high and low degree for "jobs" within his jurisdiction. He always asks: "Does your candidate speak Spanish?" Invariably they answer: "Yes. They will fit in the work in Rio splendidly." He replies to that: "Well, the Brazilians speak not Spanish, but modified Portuguese. But there for anybody anyway."

Makes Big Coupe. The biggest coup of this economist from the prairies has been to make the regular employes in the various departments do the work of preparing the specialized exhibits for him. No outside aid has been needed. For instance, the Department of Agriculture has made the plans for the agricultural exhibit; the bureau of mines for the mineral exhibit, etc. The routine politician would have found all this work a fallow field for special appointments for his henchmen.

All of this is merely a homely, plain, common-sense illustration of what federal economy and retrenchment really means. There is nothing esoteric or even scientific about it when a genuine "irreconcilable" reaches Washington. The man who wants to defeat red tape can do so, provided he can stand the pressure brought to bear against him. In the present case the Nebraska editor happens to have the confidence of President Harding and is likely to win out.

Husband Wouldn't Speak to Her for Weeks, Wife Says. For weeks Frank Frahm would not talk to his wife, although they lived under the same roof. Mrs. Helen Frahm stated in her petition for divorce filed in district court.

The Frahms were married in Council Bluffs in October, 1917. They have one child, Kathryn, 3. Mrs. Frahm charges that her husband scolded her going and coming in the presence of her friends. Frahm is a painter and earns more than $300 a month, she says.

Booze Banned as Part of Diet of City Prisoners. Boozing was denied standing as part of the diet of city prisoners by Judge W. F. Wappich Saturday. When a woman turnkey searched a box lunch consigned to Beatrice King, a prisoner, she found a quart of liquor. "Throw it in the sewer," the judge ordered.

Woman Nonchalant at Hairbreadth Escape

Paris, May 6.—At the loud report of a burst tire and the crash of tin and glass, I stopped abruptly my conversation with the sculptor Delaunay at the Montparnasse corner, and looked up to see a little old taxi pinnacled and tilted on the nose of a big two-decker tramcar. A crowd quickly assembled, as at a theater, and a policeman reached for his notebook and the chauffeur rubbed his eyes as if he had just come out of the ring.

For a moment all was still, and then the door of the taxi opened as if by a footman and out stepped, with head erect and gracious step, a beautifully gowned lady swathed in a magnificent fur coat. With all the appearance of emerging from a cocoon, still another creature, slighter in figure though no less elegant, followed the first. Waving a bill towards the chauffeur to pay their fare, as if it was the most natural event in the world, these two women showed a nonchalance in the face of what might easily have been their escape from death that was indeed a pretty sight to watch.

Leaving the perched over cab for those who were interested, our two ladies quietly disappeared into the restaurant with the same grace and ease of entering a ballroom. The little event might have slipped more quickly from my mind had I not caught just a word or two between them, and these words were said in an unmistakable American accent.

TO EVERY MAN AND WOMAN IN THIS CITY A LARGE $1.00 PACKAGE OF GENUINE YEAST VITAMINE TABLETS

FREE as explained below. These are guaranteed to be THE GENUINE YEAST VITAMINE TABLETS prepared from the original formula of Dr. Catin of the faculty of Medicine of Paris.

Since the amazing discovery of Vitamines, science now shows why thousands may be weak, thin, nervous and undernourished on three or four big meals a day, while you may eat a much smaller quantity of exactly the same food and by adding Vitamines to it, you may often quickly put on good firm flesh and obtain greatly increased strength and energy, provided your blood contains a sufficient quantity of oxygenated organic iron to enable you to assimilate your food properly.

Without organic iron, both food and Vitamines are absolutely useless, as your body cannot change lifeless food matter into living cells, flesh, muscle, bone and tissue unless you have plenty of organic iron in your blood. Organic iron takes up oxygen from your lungs. This oxygenated organic iron unites with your digested food as it is absorbed into your blood like fire unites with coal or wood and by so doing it creates tremendous power and energy. Without organic iron in your blood your food merely passes through your body without doing you any good.

For centuries scientists tried in vain to produce organic iron, to supply the alarming increase in iron deficiency in the blood caused by refined foods and improper methods of living. At last the problem was solved so that you may now obtain pure organic iron from any drugstore under the name of "Nuxated Iron" which is ready to be assimilated by the blood the moment it enters the system.
