

Governor Would Oust Saunders County Attorney

Petitioners Also Ask Removal of Thurston County Judge and Sheriff on Liquor Charges.

Lincoln, May 11.—(Special).—Governor McKelvie today directed Attorney General Clarence A. Davis to institute ouster proceedings against H. A. Bryant, county attorney at Wallace, for alleged failure to enforce prohibition laws.

Bryant is accused by a petition signed by about 50 Saunders county citizens of failure to enforce the dry law, becoming drunk, keeping liquor for his own consumption in his office, and being arrested for being drunk and disorderly.

At the same time Governor McKelvie wired County Judge Frank Flynn of Thurston county and Sheriff Charley Rutledge to appear before him at 10:30 Saturday morning to answer serious charges made against them by citizens of Thurston county in a petition filed before the governor.

The following charges against the judge and sheriff were announced by the governor:

The judge and sheriff together are alleged to have taken money and other valuables to release prisoners sentenced for violation of the liquor laws.

Judge Flynn is alleged to have accepted whisky in exchange for valuables left by prisoners. Sheriff Rutledge is alleged to have promised protection to bootleggers in Thurston county.

One hundred and seventy-five separate signatures ask for the removal of Sheriff Rutledge, and almost as many request the ousting of Judge Flynn.

Twenty-Eight Affidavits. There are 28 sworn affidavits against them.

These charges were made public after Governor McKelvie notified U. S. Rohrer, federal prohibition enforcement officer, and State Sheriff Gus Hyers.

Rohrer sent T. W. Carroll, his deputy, and Hyers sent O. D. Hedge and R. M. Fulton, deputies, to investigate.

They reported Judge Flynn admitted in the last 30 days he had received whisky and had drunk whisky with strangers at the court house in Pender, county seat.

"Badger Game" Attempted on Nebraska City Farmer. Nebraska City, Neb., May 11.—(Special).—What is believed by the officers of Otoe county to have been an attempt to work the "badger" game on a well-known farmer residing in the Dunbar neighborhood, was attempted a few days ago.

John DeFreece recently hired a woman through an Omaha employment agency to keep house for him and a grown son.

The woman was accompanied to the farm by her two children and everything went along smoothly for several days, when DeFreece appeared at the courthouse and said he had been assaulted by his housekeeper, a powerful woman.

She demanded money from him, which he refused to pay. The woman and her children were missing from the house when he returned home.

The car in which they left was found near Plattsmouth in a badly damaged condition.

Coiled Wire Helps Eliminate Static

San Diego Radio Station Perfects Sending of Messages in Hot Weather.

The advent of hot weather means trouble for the radio amateur. Static will be at its worst, and when the enthusiasts takes down his receiver and looks at them in disgust when he hears nothing but a lot of queer noises, he needn't think anything is wrong with the equipment.

Static at its worst practically prevents radio communication and many are the devices that have been rigged in order to contract its effects.

The San Diego, Cal., naval station found it utterly impossible to transmit any message at all in hot weather with the regular antennae, and it took six months of ceaseless experimenting before a satisfactory solution was found.

The station is situated on North Island, which lies in a valley. The radio shack itself was at the end of a 150-foot dock, projecting into the sea.

The suggestion of an electrical engineer was to drop 1,000 feet of coiled wire into eight feet of water at each end of the dock to install a barrage tuner in conjunction. The device worked well.

San Diego is one of the navy compass stations and on one foggy day the operator in his four-hour watch gave 35 ships their correct positions. They were all from 150 to 200 miles out.

Standard Oil Men Seek Concession to Run Russ Rails

American Company Negotiating Secretly With Soviet to Obtain Concession to Operate Systems.

By HENRY WALES. (Copyright, 1922.)

Paris, May 11.—The Standard Oil company is negotiating secretly with the soviet government to obtain a concession to operate the Russian railway, I learn, exclusively and authoritatively.

Temporarily abandoning its fight to obtain oil lands in the face of the determined efforts of the Dutch Shell and the Persian group to obtain deposits regardless of price, the American company is concentrating its efforts to obtain rights for the reconstruction and development of the railroads on the ground that this will give them a strange hold on oil production and shipment any way.

"If we control the transportation we will be enabled to obtain a share of the oil production," said a Standard Oil official yesterday. "The transport is the choicest plum in Russia today because everything is contingent on it. Americans alone are capable of reorganizing and developing the railways and we are about the only concern capable of alone—electrifying and double-tracking the transiberian line—will cost $5,000,000,000."

QUESTIONS

L. J. Pawnee City, Neb. Q.—(1) Will No. 18 copper wire do for a tuning coil? How much will be needed to receive from about 50 to 100 miles? (2) Will a 75 ohm receiver work on a crystal set to receive about 25 miles? A.—(1) Yes; (2) About 150 feet. The working distance of receiving apparatus does not depend upon the amount of wire on the tuning coil, but on type of detector and circuit used. (3) Possibly, but I doubt if you will get satisfactory results. It will depend upon the design of your set and the sensitiveness of the crystal.

J. I. G. Norfolk, Neb. Q.—(1) How is the loud speaker horn attached? (2) Will a raw pipe in the ground be all right for a ground? A.—(1) To the terminals used for phones, but a loud speaker does not work well with a crystal set. (2) If driven down far enough to come in contact with moist soil. Usually from 10 to 15 feet.

TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM

TO THE PUBLIC: When I was first asked to view "TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM," I went to the screening room to laugh and to ridicule, but after the screening was over I was thrilled and deeply impressed with the production.

I have read the book, I have seen the play, but the story in film form far surpasses either of them. It is a motion picture that is worthy of the finest screen in the land and I am positive that every one of you will more than enjoy "TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM."
