

MORNING-EVENING-SUNDAY.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Bee Publishing Company

THE OMAHA BEE

THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY

THE BEE TELEPHONES

OFFICES

The Steward's Report.

The republican conference at Lincoln Thursday was a report of stewardship.

The proceedings were written into the minute book of the republican state committee as a matter of technical record.

The war ended November 11, 1918. The democratic administration remained in power until March 4, 1921, nearly two and one-half years.

The republican administration accepted the job a job for supermen.

Amnesty for the "Political."

While the lowly but unpleasant numps take up the time of the youthful members of Kate Richards O'Hare's "cruade" in behalf of the men who were imprisoned under the espionage act, a move is being made in congress to secure the release of all such prisoners.

Europe's Lead in Aviation.

There are said to be twenty-one aviation companies operating in the middle west, but as yet aerial transportation has not made the progress that it has shown in Europe.

It is not easy to draw degrees or distinctions in the matter of treason, and yet some points do distinguish these groups.

Lord Bryce gave it as his opinion that no American city of more than 300,000 population could govern itself well.

Chicago did not get much excited as long as the gunmen slew only private citizens, but when it came to killing policemen—well, that's different.

Some demand for steel is noted, in spite of the fact that we are no longer building warships.

Part of the noise you hear these days is the rattle of the corn-planter.

Russia is reported to be learning, but yet has a long way to go.

that has ever been staged in modern times." This declaration reads like a circus poster. Better even than Conan Doyle, Mayor Thompson can raise the shade of P. T. Barnum.

A Vacancy Exists. Has Nebraska two United States senators at Washington, or only one?

But is Nebraska getting the advantage of that wise provision for equality of states? The record of votes cited by Congressman W. J. Graham at Lincoln Thursday indicates that it is not.

When the senate was considering the levy of emergency tariff rates on agricultural products, for the protection of Nebraska's dominant industry, Senator Hitchcock voted "No."

When prohibition advocates and enforcers sought to forbid the prescription of beer as medicine, thereby plugging a hole in the enforcement of prohibition created by a ruling of Attorney General Palmer, Senator Hitchcock did not vote.

When it was proposed to regulate the packing houses to which Nebraska ships millions of dollars' worth of its products, Senator Hitchcock did not vote.

When the senate passed a resolution declaring an end to the war with Germany, Senator Hitchcock voted "No."

When the highly important revenue bill was up for decision, Senator Hitchcock did not vote.

When the peace treaty with Germany was presented for ratification, Senator Hitchcock did not vote.

When the senate approved the four-power treaty, making possible the carrying out of the arms limitation program and ending the mad race for armed supremacy, Senator Hitchcock voted "No."

When it was proposed to appoint a commission to negotiate for the funding of the foreign debt owed this country, a matter involving the repayment of nearly eleven billions of dollars, Senator Hitchcock was present but not voting.

When it was proposed to increase the agricultural extension work of the federal government, Senator Hitchcock did not vote.

In nine of thirteen instances, Senator Hitchcock did not vote.

Gilbert M. Hitchcock holds the title and draws the salary of United States senator from Nebraska.

Uncle Sam and the Radio

Work of Government Helped in Many Ways by Wireless Phone.

(From the Washington Star.)

Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent annually for many years by the government in an attempt to advertise itself.

The spread of the radiophone had throughout the country bids fair to reduce even this really necessary government expense.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

Utilizing the several powerful stations of the government in Washington and scores of others scattered all over the country, it can send its messages further than others with less powerful apparatus.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

Utilizing the several powerful stations of the government in Washington and scores of others scattered all over the country, it can send its messages further than others with less powerful apparatus.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

Utilizing the several powerful stations of the government in Washington and scores of others scattered all over the country, it can send its messages further than others with less powerful apparatus.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

Utilizing the several powerful stations of the government in Washington and scores of others scattered all over the country, it can send its messages further than others with less powerful apparatus.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

Utilizing the several powerful stations of the government in Washington and scores of others scattered all over the country, it can send its messages further than others with less powerful apparatus.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

Utilizing the several powerful stations of the government in Washington and scores of others scattered all over the country, it can send its messages further than others with less powerful apparatus.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

Utilizing the several powerful stations of the government in Washington and scores of others scattered all over the country, it can send its messages further than others with less powerful apparatus.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

Utilizing the several powerful stations of the government in Washington and scores of others scattered all over the country, it can send its messages further than others with less powerful apparatus.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

Utilizing the several powerful stations of the government in Washington and scores of others scattered all over the country, it can send its messages further than others with less powerful apparatus.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

Utilizing the several powerful stations of the government in Washington and scores of others scattered all over the country, it can send its messages further than others with less powerful apparatus.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

Utilizing the several powerful stations of the government in Washington and scores of others scattered all over the country, it can send its messages further than others with less powerful apparatus.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

Utilizing the several powerful stations of the government in Washington and scores of others scattered all over the country, it can send its messages further than others with less powerful apparatus.

While the government is trying out the broadcasting experiment, it is publishing many books on radio which will serve to increase the interest and instruct thousands how to prepare and operate these sets, and thus gain more "listeners" to its new mode of advertising.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

Questions concerning hygiene, sanitation and prevention of disease, submitted to Dr. Evans by readers of The Bee, will be answered gratuitously, as far as possible, in this column.

SCARLET FEVER'S TAIN. Viewed from certain standpoints, scarlet fever is not a disease of major importance.

Of each 100 cases of scarlet fever only seven, or thereabouts, die, according to the law of averages.

It is not a very contagious disease. If 100 persons who have never had it are exposed to scarlet fever, not more than 25, or one-third, will develop it.

It is even less severe in the warmer parts of the country than the percentages would indicate.

Unlike whooping cough, it is not especially deadly with babies, nor with any other age group.

It is when we come to think about the complications that go with scarlet fever, and that come after it, that we understand why mothers dread to get scarlet fever into the family group.

Much of the Bright's disease of middle life and beyond has its beginning in scarlet fever.

Dr. E. A. Abbott, who talked to the American Medical association at their last meeting on the after-effects of contagious diseases, said that Bright's disease was more apt to come on as the scarlet fever patient was about ready to get well, that it developed in the milder cases as well as in the severe ones, and that it might clear up in a few weeks or it might last a lifetime.

Like with the heart, much of the heart disease of middle life has its beginning with scarlet fever.

Evidence of heart trouble may develop during the fever, or there may be fever following the heart disease. Proper care of a case of scarlet fever includes examination of the heart.

The cause of scarlet fever, whatever it is, finds its way to the throat at the very start, and does not quit that location until it is ready to clear out. By reason of this being the home base, the disease frequently extends to the ears, and deafness, complete or partial, is one of the most frequent after-effects of scarlet fever.

One reason for the trouble health departments have in controlling scarlet fever is the tendency of the germ to hang on in the throat long after it has disappeared from other parts of the body.

Scarlet fever has a short incubation period—one to five days. It begins with a sore throat, which is quickly followed by fever.

The rash appears, as a rule, within one or two days after the sore throat. When this rash is characteristic it is not easily confused with other eruptions. Where the face is reddish with the rash the area around the mouth stands out most prominently because into that zone the breaking out does not go. A white mouth set in a red face is characteristic.

No other disease causes such characteristic feeling during the stage of convalescence.

There is a preventive and a cure, but up to the present time the remedy is not in wide use.

Dr. D. O. Smith of Tulsa, Okl., reports on the use of serum from convalescent patients and the serum is obtained from it. This is then sterilized by

The Bee's Letter Box

Wanted. A team warden. Omaha, May 12.—To the Editor of The Bee: During the spring of 1921 every pond from Norfolk to Plattsmouth was staked by Omaha and Fremont fishermen.

This spring the same gangs are seizing every pond and lake from Decatur to Plattsmouth.

The spotman who buys a fishing license and spends from $5 to $25 to drive to some pond to get a little joy out of his leisure hours comes back only to say, "Hi—! They've seized that pond, too."

Where are the game warden? The writer hunted from Calhoun to Omaha since 7 p. m. Wednesday night to date and has been unable to locate said game warden.

Tuesday and Wednesday nights Beal's lake, at Calhoun, was seized, as I observed them doing so; they seized Carter lake at night. The writer has the auto license number of the gang at Calhoun.

Question is: Where can we get some real old-time game warden? Carter lake is full of trout lines.

425 First Trust. J. E. WHITE.

Negroes and City Schools. Omaha, May 2.—To the Editor of

The Bee: In view of the fact there are 10,000 negroes in Omaha, and they spend around $15,000 per day, paying taxes on $2,000,000 worth of property, and are making about as good citizens as the average persons under such adverse circumstances, it seems that some member of that race should be appointed to instruct in the public schools. This is very much needed, in view of the fact that only negroes understand negroes. There are two schools in Omaha that especially need some colored instructors and advisers—namely, Kellum and Long. This is not a harebrained idea, but a matter of necessity.

It is not true that all southern people are unfair to negroes. I was raised in the southland and have long since come to the conclusion that every man must have a square deal before we can reach that state of perfect peace, see all so eagerly await. ROBERT W. CONWAY, 721 Walnut Street.

Will Begin Early. The farm movement will soon begin in earnest. It will—and it will begin each morning at about 4 o'clock.—Baltimore Sun.

HOME BUILDERS' 7% SHARES. The integrity of HOME BUILDERS' 7% SHARES (now available by re-sale). rests upon real estate mortgages upon property of fixed earning power, and upon other assets of the Corporation which has no mortgage or bonded indebtedness.

The Successful Men You Meet

YOU'LL find recognize the importance of presenting a good appearance.

The self-assurance which comes from knowing that your clothes are correct in the eyes of others is a valuable asset.

The superiority of Nicoll Tailoring is distinguished by its excellence in quality, safe, conservative style, and faithful workmanship.

Prices $45 - $50 - $60 and up

We've all the latest novelties in refreshing colors for Spring.

Also White Cricket Flannels - Silks - Linens - Palm Beach and Mohairs for hot weather.

NICOLL The Tailor WE Jerrams' Sons 209-211 S. 15th. Karbach Bldg.

LYKO Illuminates the Future

With Its Rays of Hope For All Who Would Enjoy Perfect Health

This remarkable tonic is the inspiration and joy of the weak and debilitated. It brings back the sunshine of existence to those of lost vitality. It opens up wonderful visions of the future to the down-cast, weary-laden souls depressed in spirit and body.

If you are thin-blooded, pale and weak, physically and nervously exhausted, generally run-down, devoid of animation, or lacking in endurance and staying qualities and mentally depressed in consequence, let "LYKO" recreate your vital force and bring back to you that buoyancy, energy and cheerfulness of former days. Try it today and see how much better you feel tomorrow. Your druggist has "LYKO." Get a bottle today.

"As Strengthening As the Bracing Sea Breeze"

The Great General Tonic

FOR SALE BY BEATON DRUG COMPANY, 15TH AND FARNAM STREETS, AND ALL RETAIL DRUGGISTS

