

Tentative Laws Are Outlined by Farm Bureau

Meetings Over State Will Explain Program Being Advocated as Essential Legislation.

Lincoln, Neb., May 26.—(Special.)—Tentative draft of the legislative program of the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation has been made by the legislative committee. During the next few weeks the 21 points in the program will be presented at meetings of county and precinct officials of the farm bureau to be followed by precinct meetings.

The tentative draft of the program is as follows:
An amendment to the constitution which will enable the legislature, if need arise, to enact a rural real estate credit law, allowing the state to sell its bonds and loan the proceeds, with first mortgages upon Nebraska farms, for security.

Change Tax Laws.
An amendment to the constitution which will enable the legislature to classify tangible property for purposes of taxation. At present classification is limited to intangible property, such as credits, bonds and stocks.

Amendment to the constitution which will enable the legislature to change the salary of any elective officer during any term by a two-thirds vote of each house.

An amendment to the constitution under which the legislature can tax municipal property which is used as a public utility, as city water or light plants, and bonds and other securities of the various governmental subdivisions which are now exempt.

A state income tax law.
A law which will make it possible to organize a farmers' finance corporation.

Legislation which will result in taxing a public utility upon its rate making value.

Would Publish Returns.
An amendment to our present law relating to the publication of tax returns so that the publication of all or at least the larger returns would be required of the county commissioners in the simplest and most inexpensive manner possible.

A law which provides for township and precinct boards of equalization instead of a single county equalization board as at present.

Repeal of Smith mortgage law.
Action by the legislature seeking the co-operation and support of other states in an effort to secure the termination of the present federal aid road policy.

An amendment to the present road law which will leave a larger percentage of the automobile license money to the disposal of the county boards.

Amendments to the school law which will provide a state tax sufficient in quantity to pay all transportation charges of the pupil attending school while remaining at home.

Tuberculosis Eradication.
An appropriation similar to that of the 1921 session providing for paying indemnity in eradication of bovine tuberculosis.

A continuation of adequate appropriations for agricultural extension.

Amendments to the hog cholera verum law to overcome any defects in the present provisions of the law or constitution.

A state civil service law.
Legislation which will result in the state buying all land which is sold for taxes. This would give the state the high interest rate borne by delinquent taxes.

Amending the law to permit the county to adopt a new form of government as follows: Leaving it to the county through a charter convention to formulate the kind of government that it may want; leaving it optional with the county to adopt the county manager form of government; leaving it optional with the county to adopt the county commission form of government.

Water power development by the state.
Simplification of the work required to be taught in the grade schools.
