Woman Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Makes This Offer Cumberland, Md. — "My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegeta-ble Compound when I was between thirteen and fourteen years old and was going to school because I suffered with pains and could not rest. I did not have any more trouble after that until I was married, then I always was troubled in my back while carrying a child and could not do my work until I took the Vegetable Compound. I am strong, do all my washing and ironing and work for seven children and feel fine. I always have an easy time at childbirth and what it did for me it will do for other women. I am willing to answer any woman if she will write asking what it did for me."—Mrs. JOHN HEIER, 53 Dilley Street, Cumberland, Md.

JOHN Drinkwater's great play "Abrahar Jincoln," with Frank McGiynn, with a presented at the Brandeis theater or the last two times today, matines as "evening. No play produced in recent its has been more sturdily praised by he regular theatergoer, by the grudent of history and by the folk who delight in high literary quality in their entertainment. "Abraham Lincoln" is first of all the revelation of the soul of a great man. That is its fundamental virtue. But beyond that, and this is most important to those who seek diversion in the playhouse. "Abraham Lincoln" provides three hours of genuine pensure. Drinkwater was long a student of the theater and he knew well that to be successful—to gave a genuine appeal—a play must primarily entertain. He has exemplified this belief in writing one of the greatest plays the English-speaking theater has known in many years.

The Four Bards are sensational jugglers of human beings: the Skelly and Heit Revue offer a delightful norlange of song, dance and comedy; Nelwon and the Barry Boys are musical comedy entertainers; Walter Hastings, late vocalist of the Kelleruman Revue, entertains in popular song selections; Hazel Moran is a lariat expert with trimmings of comedy and dance; Stanley and Caffrey appear is a novel diversion.
