Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl 15 years of age and am considered pretty and attractive. This is my trouble: My Sunday school class is going to have a party soon. Each girl is to invite a boy friend, but I have several, and do not know which to invite, as I think a great deal of them all. I am afraid the others would be offended if I did not invite them.

Do you think I should not invite any boy at all? I have gone with all of them and I do not have any favorite one. Please tell me what to do. I thank you for your advice. SALOME.

Don't be so anemic in your attitude. Invite one of your boy friends. I think those who are omitted will survive.

Ways of Saving Gas. Beans can be baked well and at small cost by using a small tin oven, such as comes for oil stoves. I have used one which cost one dollar for more than a year, placing it over one of the single burners, which gives a very satisfactory bake in about eight hours with only a moderately low flame.

A gas concern informed me that the single burner on a certain gas stove burned eight feet per hour. I suppose this is when it is on full force. Eight feet an hour for eight hours would be sixty-four feet consumed. With gas at one dollar per thousand my beans are baked for less than six and one-fourth cents, as my burner is open about one-fourth of the way only. What meal can be cheaper than baked beans at this rate.

"I want baked potatoes for breakfast or if I want to use cold during the day I boil them while I am cooking the cereal for breakfast by placing the cereal in an open kettle on a stand within a larger kettle and placing a large cover over the outside kettle.

By CORINNE LOWE. New York.—(Special Correspondence.)—Cret—one with the dance—or the morning or the afternoon. This fabric is having a tremendous following at present, both for trimming and for dress purposes. One finds it applied on the sheer white net of a dance frock in the same breath that one gasps at the audacity of a French model of blue serge sleeved and trimmed in gay cottonette. For the porch and otherwise morning frock it is an insistent feature of summer fashions.

Black sateen decorated with motifs of either chintz or cretonne—here is one of the most stunning contributions to the hot weather morning, and certainly its practicality commends it to the woman who spends part of her morning by the gas range.

Black sateen is, in fact, an item of hot weather dressing which we cannot afford to overlook. Frequently it forms the skirt to a top of gingham or cretonne. Indeed, combinations of all sorts are rampant in this domain, and if you like you mate a cretonne skirt with a top of repp, linen or some other plain material. One of these combinations is illustrated in the frock of cretonne shown—a green background, over which are strewn old rose flowers—worn with a blouse of white batiste smocked in old rose. The girdle is of green ribbon.

Julius Fessner, who has been ill at the Clark hospital, has recovered and will return home Saturday.

ADVERTISEMENTS. FRECKLES. Now is the Time to Get Rid of Those Ugly Spots. There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning, and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Is He Pickle? Dear Miss Fairfax: Am 22, working as bookkeeper. About three months ago I was introduced to a girl of 19 and a mutual interest developed between us. We have been going about for three months, seeing each other three times a week. We grew to like each other deeply. It happens, however, that we both had wrecked romances. My friend and myself came to talk seriously, but I told her I did not know if I could settle down with one girl and that it would not be fair to her, in case I gave my promise which I could not keep afterward.

I suggested that we separate for one month. During that time we are to pursue the same course as before we met. At the expiration of the month we shall have done a lot of thinking and will be able to decide finally. HALL.

Don't encourage yourself in the belief that you are "pikle and lacking in stability. You don't find happiness if you set about being a deliberate philanderer. If it were not for your youth I would strongly advise your settling down promptly with the girl you find so congenial. But, since you are both youngsters, it may be well to try your plan of a month's separation. That is, it may be the fairest thing to the girl. But as far as you are concerned, the sooner you stop considering yourself an emotional weakling—the better.

A Ledger Library. A ledger is practical for keeping between its lettered pages clippings such as mothers and housekeepers use. If there is a story, a game, picture, etc. which the children wish to save it may be clipped and filed loosely or by pasting between the ledger leaves. If the title of a story begins with the letter "T" the story may be placed between the "T" leaves in the ledger.

A ledger library is a ledger each for stories, puzzles, party household hints, cartoons, poems, etc., and these may claim a shelf in the bookcase. When some one asks for a party idea it will be quickly found after the letter "P" in the ledger without looking through a number of magazines or other clippings. The same plan may be applied to recipes.

Fears to Diffuse. Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl 15 years of age and am considered pretty and attractive. This is my trouble: My Sunday school class is going to have a party soon. Each girl is to invite a boy friend, but I have several, and do not know which to invite, as I think a great deal of them all. I am afraid the others would be offended if I did not invite them.
