In response to a call issued by some of the musicians of the city about twenty ladies have expressed a desire to become members of some musical club. These ladies met on Tuesday in Curtice's music hall and adopted a constitution and perfected plans for this organization. It is to be called the Matinee Musicale and has a membership limited to thirty. The meetings are to be fortnightly, 3:30 to five p. m., Wednesdays from October 4 to May inclusive. Music is to be considered in its various bearings in history and literature, and it is to be considered from those standard points most necessary to the musical student. Any lady becoming an active member will be obliged to contribute her share toward the program, but associate members may have all the privileges upon the payment of semi-annual dues. It is to be sincerely hoped that the summer will but add to the interest already manifested and the full membership of members will be present at the meeting called for the second Wednesday in September to receive assignments and elect officers. Mrs. D. A. Campbell is chairman and Miss Stella Rice secretary of the present organization, while among the members are Mrs. P. V. M. Raymond, Mrs. A. S. Raymond, Mrs. Plank, Mrs. Nissley, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Lippincott, Mrs. Winger, Mrs. Holm, Mrs. Butler, Miss Hoover, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. W. Q. Bell.

"Notwithstanding the talk of demonetising silver," said Mr. Hallett, the well known jeweler at 1143 O St., when questioned by THE COURIER man, "people are buying it right along." What grade of silver sells best? Well, the plated ware sells well but we cannot guarantee it to give the satisfaction that the solid ware gives.

It takes a long time to educate the people to the fact that it does not pay to buy any but the solid silver ware, but we have succeeded in doing that to a great extent.

We have had a long experience in that line and know just how it is. The plated ware is cheaper in the start but not in the end. Then too, when it comes to engraving, the solid ware is the best. Hence we have put in an extra large stock of it and are prepared to show our customers an endless variety and at moderate prices.

Some fancy designs in tea, table and berry spoons, pie, cake and fruit knives, forks, combs and hat pins have been added lately to the already large stock.

"I tell you," said Mr. Hallett, "It pays to keep up with the times and that is just what we are doing. We also carry a line of souvenir spoons.
