

INFLUENZA,

Or La Grippe, though occasionally epidemic, is always more or less prevalent. The best remedy for this complaint is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Last Spring, I was taken down with La Grippe. At times I was completely prostrated, and so difficult was my breathing that my breast seemed as if confined in an iron cage. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and no sooner had I begun taking it than relief followed. I could not believe that the effect would be so rapid and the cure so complete. It is truly a wonderful medicine."—W. H. WILLIAMS, Crook City, S. D.

To Prevent Mistakes.

The lady from Chicago took a great house in New York, fitting it up with all the modern conveniences and luxuries, including an English butler. After he had been with her for a month she called him up.

"James," she said severely.
"Yes, milady," he responded.
"You don't drop your h's, I notice, when you talk."
"No, milady."
"You must."
"I cawn't, milady. I'm an educated person."

"Well, you've got to. That's one of the things I pay you for. How are these New York people ever to know you are not a gentleman if you don't?"—Detroit Free Press.

Particular.

The young man had cleared his throat and stood with clasped hands.

"Will you accompany me on the piano?" he whispered to a beautiful girl who sat near him.

"Without a chaperon?" she gasped.
"What would the people say?"

These and other misgivings crowded fast upon her.—Detroit Tribune.

Didn't Scare Him.

"You would be running a considerable risk, Cyrus," observed his elderly friend, "in undertaking to make your living by writing books. The average income of Ralph Waldo Emerson from his books was only about $3,000 a year."

"I could live like a fighting cock on $3,000 a year" said the aspiring boy.—Chicago Tribune.

She Stood More Chance.

Minnie—Hattie Homeleigh seems to be crazy over Boston men. Every one of those fellows with her wears eyeglasses.

Mabel—It isn't that, my dear. There is a method in her madness. She knows they are all shortsighted.—Harlem Life.

In Chicago.

"It's all wonderfully interesting," said one of the fair visitors at the big packing house, "but the odors are very trying."

"Why, I don't observe any odors," said the one whose husband is a naturalist.—Chicago Record.

A Hard Question.

If a fool and his money are easily parted, will somebody tell us how it is that there are so many rich fools?—Philadelphia Record.

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:"

"My little daughter, Birdie, now two and one-half years old, has been a great sufferer from salt rheum since she was about two months old. A very painful eruption covered neck, ears and entire scalp. I consulted physicians and tried many remedies, but without avail, until a

Friend Recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before the first bottle was taken the eruption had disappeared, and now none remains, while the child's general health is
