

Only the Scars Remain.

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood," writes HENRY HUDSON, of the Smith

Woolen Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia. "None impress me so much as my own cure. Twenty years ago, at the age of 25 years, I had swollen legs and became sore. Our family doctor could do me no good. It was feared my bones would be at last, my good old mother urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

For the cure of all diseases originating in impure blood, the best remedy is

HE HAD HEARD ENOUGH. How Senator Palmer Fooled His Old Friend, the Judge.

An old Republican judge from Illinois on his way west from New York stopped over in Washington long enough to have, as he intended, a little fun with his old friend, Senator Palmer. The senator's committee room was rather full when the judge entered, and he felt a bit diffident. Still, after clasping the senator's hand in a grip of friendship, he said, with a grin:

"What do you think of the election?" "Hey?" the senator, with his hand behind his ear, replied. The judge, something surprised at this, to him, the first sign of deafness in his old friend, said in a louder tone:

"I say, what do you think of the election?"

"Sir?" said the senator, with his hand still behind his ear and bending near the judge.

"I say," the judge loudly responded, turning a bit red as he saw that every one had stopped talking to listen to him, "I say, what—do—you—think of the—election—the election—the election?"

The senator looked pained, as he does when he has to turn down a needy office seeker. He glanced around, as if to read the judge's question in the faces of those present, and then, apparently failing, he turned again to the judge, and without even so much as a twinkle in his eyes thrust his ear to the judge's mouth and said:

"W-h-a-t?" This drove the spirit of victorious and gloating fun from the judge's mind.

"Dear me," he said in a low voice full of sympathy and regret, "I had no idea that my old friend John had become deaf."

Then he shook the senator's hand and left the room, whereupon the senator turned to those present and winked the other eye.—Washington Post.

A Great Big Swear.

Dicky Dogwood—Did you swear off any great evil this year?

Charley Poorpeigh—Indeed I did. I swore off being in debt.

Dicky Dogwood—That was well. How did you do it?

Charley Poorpeigh—Took an oath in supplementary proceedings that I had not a cent in the world.—New York World.

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

Good Advice Quickly Followed

Cured of Rheumatism by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"I was taken down with rheumatism over a year ago. I was sick for over six months. Often I would have such pains that I could hardly endure them. A friend came to me and advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I took him at his word and got a bottle of it, and since have taken eight bottles of it.

It Has Cured Me

When the doctors could do me no good whatever. After being benefited so much from this medicine I describe Hood's Sarsaparilla as a wonderful medicine. I also advise every one who is troubled with rheumatism not to be with-
