

There was an immense crush at the wedding of Miss Nellie White and Mr. Louis C. Marshall which was celebrated Tuesday evening at Holy Trinity church. In fact the crush was so great that many people holding invitations were unable to gain admittance, the doors being locked after a certain time for the protection of those already in the church. The Marshall-White wedding clearly demonstrates that Lincoln is getting to be something more than a small town and that it will be necessary in future at all large and fashionable church weddings to issue cards of admittance and to insist upon their being presented at the door. The wedding ceremony was most imposing. Seldon has so much care been taken in the ante-nuptial arrangements and the ceremony was marked by its beauty. The boy choir led the bridal procession. The gowned choristers appeared at the southwest corner and proceeded down the aisle sweetly singing Lohengrin's wedding march followed by the ushers, Mr. Frank Burr, Mr. Sam E. Low, Mr. C. P. A. Clough, Mr. R. M. Joyce, Mr. Fred W. Houtz, Mr. Mattson Baldwin, Mr. Will Meyer and Mr. Fritz Westerman. Then came the bride's maids Miss Marie Marshall, sister of the groom; Miss Mamie Carson, Miss Mae Burr and Miss Gabans, of Grand Island, all attired in cream satin and making a very pretty appearance. Miss Carrie Wasmer, of Grand Island, was the brides maid of honor. Miss White is one of Lincoln's prettiest girls and she made a beautiful bride. She wore a handsome gown of white satin and tulle veil and entered on the arm of her father and was joined at the chancel by the groom who entered from the vestry with his best man, Mr. Will Clark. Rev. Mr. Hewitt performed the beautiful Episcopal marriage ceremony in a very impressive manner. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride to the immediate friends and relatives and the happy couple left on the 9:30 train for Chicago and the east to be gone about three weeks. The bride and groom are both well known in Lincoln. Miss White is an accomplished and extremely attractive young lady and the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. White and Mr. Marshall is a young man prominent in business and social circles having grown up in Lincoln.
