

POINTS IN POLITICS.

As the time for the county convention draws nearer there is an increasing amount of talk of the desirability of nominating, particularly for two of the offices to be filled this fall, the strongest men that can be found. Most of the republican candidates will have a walk-away; but two of them will have to meet strong opposition. The prospect for demo-pop candidates is not at this time particularly encouraging, but whatever may be done in the way of fusion, Mr. Miller, the present sheriff, and Mr. Baker, the present clerk of the district court, are sure to prove strong candidates. As THE COURIER has before said these gentlemen have rendered good service to the county, and are both as strong, apparently, as when they were elected. They have been in a position to make many friends and few enemies, and they have been as adroit in this as they have been careful and painstaking in the

WOODEN MEN'S TALK.

The Red Dude hasn't had anything to say for a few weeks, but he has been thinking a lot. The Red Dude is as a rule, dead loyal to the home base ball team, and he is given, when a loquacious mood seizes him, to stringing the Lincoln boys with taffy. The other day he broke his long silence with:

"Say, cully, kin yer tell me wy it is dat erbout dis time every season de home team strikes er losin' gait? Fac' dead sure. Erlong in de early part o' June de boys gen'rally play like dey wuz wound up fer all time. Dey win and dey wir and dey win again. Seems like every feller has er rabbit's foot in his hip pocket and no hoodoo in de whole gang. Seems like dey wuz jess goin' ter win right erlong, and den purty soon dey strike er snag, or de Omaha club or sum'tin, and de winnin' gait is knocked are going to stay at home and take their vacation out in having fun with each other."

RECKLESS JUDGE.

The judge of a western court, in order to secure a safer and more civilized condition of affairs in the court room, asked the twelve jurymen and the ten attorneys present to place their pistols in a pile in the corner of the room, but there seemed to be some hesitancy in complying with the request, and the judge insisted.

"If Your Honor will put his down first," suggested the foreman of the jury, "I guess the balance of us will follow suit."

"Certainly, gents," replied His Honor, and laid his gun down in the corner.

In a few minutes all the others had done the same, excepting the sheriff and his deputy, who were not included, and 23 pistols were reposing peacefully on performance of their duties. Republicans should not delude themselves with the idea that anybody can be elected this fall. Such is not the case. If care is not taken in the selection of candidates for these two offices it is not at all unlikely that Mr. Miller and Mr. Baker will be left undisturbed by the election. These offices, so far as patronage and remuneration are concerned, are the most important of all county offices, with the exception of that of treasurer; and it rests with the party to insure the election of republicans to these places, or jeopardise its prospects by the nomination of weak candidates.

J. C. Johnson, of the Fifth ward, is a candidate for district judge.

It is understood that John P. Maule will not allow his candidacy for district judge to stand in the way of Ed Sizer's candidacy for clerk of the district court.

clear inter de middle o' next week or erlong inter January. Say, its tough luck, dis losin' business. Now, dey all tell me dat Omaha ain't got no license ter win anythin' from Lincoln, an' yet dose green-eyed, bow-legged, spavin-jointed, miserable, sickly, good-fer-nothin' troglodites wot wears de dirty cream Omaha uniform has de double-riveted, wrought-iron nerve to jess steal tree of de six games wid our team. Now, dat ain't right. No, it ain't, and I says when it comes ter dis, dat Omaha kin beat Lincoln som'tin' ought ter be did, am I right? I ain't saying our fellers hev lost der grip—fer I don't so believe; but dey ought ter do sum'tin ter change der luck. Now de team is home again, I say it ud be er good pian ter trow away de rabbit foots, and go out to de grounds in de cemetery car, or trow an ole penny over der lef' shoulders or sum'tin like dat. Am I right? We can't stand losin' and de rag in sight an' flutterin' right down before us in easy

the floor. "Now, gents," said His Honor, suddenly whipping out a gun, "the first man who goes near that pile gits it in the neck."

In an instant every man's hand went to his other hip pocket, and His Honor dived behind the desk as 22 bullets went through the window back of where he had been sitting, and 22 men were waiting for him to stick his head up, but he did nothing so rash.

"Put up them guns," he yelled; "put up them guns, or I'll fine every d— one of you for contempt of court."

Fourth and Fifth ward politicians are just now watching things anxiously and waiting to see just how the ball is going to turn. Whether both judges are coming in from the Fourth or only one is just as perplexing a question as whether the Fifth ward's proposed candidate will be Ensign for sheriff, Sizer for clerk, or Cochran for county judge. Ensign, Sizer and Cochran may all get into the convention. Who knows?

Alva Smith will be a candidate for sheriff before the convention, but it is predicted that the Smith men will not be stayers this year. A good many of them may go to Trompen.

There will be a meeting of the republican county central committee next Friday to fix the date of the county convention. The convention will probably be held some time in August.

reach, too."

Since Frank Du Teil's Red Dude learned to talk, Wohlenburg's flossy dudine has acquired the habit, and the old girl has any amount of fun with the chess players that frequent Wohlenburg's. She is on to all the weak points in the boys and sometimes she tells tales out of school. If Charley Hall could only hear what she says about him he might lose his sang froid, or whatever it is that people lose. "But I can stand Charley all right," she said. "I have got used to him. It's our golden headed Bixy boy that makes me nervous. Bixy is too much of a growler—no, I don't mean a tin growler. That isn't in my line. The poet is fidgety and when the gallery makes a suggestion to him he sometimes gets more red-headed than usual. He likes a nice, quiet game of chess. No, the chess players are not going to Europe this summer. They
