Professor Bessey spent Friday and Saturday in Omaha engaged in the study of the grasses on exhibition at the state fair. He reports an unusually large and fine collection.

Harry D. Aron and Florence D. Mar-ley were married at the home of the bride's parents, 1273 South Twenty-third street, by Dr. C. C. Lasby. Mr. and Mrs. Aron will be at home after October 15th at 1521 South Seventeenth street.

Mrs. Latta, Miss Olive Latta, Miss Martha Marshall and Miss Bertie Clark represented Lincoln at the Ak-Sar-Ben ball on Thursday. Many were the lognettes directed at the royal box. "The daughters of Lincoln are exceeding fair," said the people.

Professors Bessey and Bruner, of the state university, have just received word of the death of the eminent entomologist, Dr. C. V. Riley. Some of the old inhabitants of Lincoln will remember him as a visitor in "grasshopper times" back in the 70's. He was known as the foremost American student of insects.

Mrs. Yates entertained a few friends very informally Monday evening for Mrs. Van Evra and Miss Van Evra. Card tables were set on the porch and the guests played by the light of hanging lanterns out where the breezes blew. Afterwards there was water-melon and other refreshments. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John B. Wright, Mrs. Robinson, Mr. Joyce, Dr. White, Mr. Smith, Prof. Lyon, Mr. Lansing, Miss Maude Oakley, Miss Janet Underwood, Miss Grace Oakley.

The Lincoln Nebraska conservatory opened with ices and a blast of trumpets Wednesday. The parlors were thrown open at an early hour, and the guests, brilliantly arrayed in evening dress, assembled. After the usual social features Mr. William Lamprecht began the short program with a violin solo. Rev. Mr. Kirchstein then spoke on music as an art and its elevating influence. Mr. A. A. Hadley, the new conservatory pianist, made his Lincoln debut and Rev. O. H. Rowlands gave a talk on music. Mr. L. P. Brooks closed the program with an original poem on music.

Mr. P. A. Rydberg, of the botanical department of the state university, has just published a work of much import-"The Flora of the Sandhills of Nebraska;" it is issued as one of the contributions from the United States National Herbarium and bears the date of Sept. 14, 1895. Mr. Rydberg spent the summer of 1893 in the sandhills and afterward gave nearly a year to the critical study of his specimens in the herbarium of the state university and the national herbarium at Washington, and this extensive report is the result of his long labors. One hundred plates of new thistle, the work of Miss Edna Hyatt, embellish the book. Mr. Rydberg left Friday for New York city, where he will continue his studies in the herbarium of Columbia college.

Mrs. Emerson, (nee Brooks), is soon to be married to Mr. Edwin Emerson, the younger brother of her former husband. Mrs. Emerson was a student of the university, a resident of Omaha, and is a friend of many of the older residents of Lincoln. She is a woman of much talent. She draws with vigor and spirit. She paints, she plays the piano, and she writes poetry. To be sure the poetry has more feeling than sense, and more sound than quality. But it is not the work of a stupid person. Her friends in Lincoln wish her happiness and peace in her new partnership.

University marriages are more than numerous this fall and it is rumored that there are still more to be. Wednesday morning two well known young people, Mr. Rufus C. Bentley and Miss Ella Hart were married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. D. W. Palmer, at Hastings, Neb. Rev. C. E. Bentley, the groom's father, performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Bentley will continue to fill their places as laboratory assistants in the philosophical department of the state university next year, after which they will probably do post graduate work in some one of the eastern colleges. Both Miss Hart and Mr. Bentley always showed a peculiar aptitude for philosophy and have been specializing in it for several years. If similarity of tastes and union of purpose count for anything this combination of philosophers should be one lasting happiness and satisfaction. Here's to philosophy!

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson gave a delightful dancing party at Burlington Beach Friday evening of last week in honor of Lieutenant and Mrs. T. W. Griffith. These dancing parties at the lake have been among the pleasant recreations of the summer, and the Wilsons' party was particularly enjoyable. In town the heat was intense. At the lake cool breezes blew, and the music of the dance made the guests forget the prevailing torrid weather. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hargreaves, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Green, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Buckstaff, Mr. and Mrs. Tilton, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Dorgan, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. C. E.
