Something invariably happens to the State Journal people when they go up to Omaha. It is only a few years ago that the editor in chief of the peaceful morning paper combed his whiskers and made a visit to the metropolis. At that time the Journal maintained a branch office in Omaha, and after the editor had spent several hours walking up and down the streets, gazing at the shop windows, etc., he bethought him of his paper's office, and although it was in a rather conspicuous building, the New York Life, he devoted the rest of the day to searching for it. He missed several trains and finally came home without finding it. The other day, Thursday of last week, to be more particular, one of the reporters for the Journal, who is quite as unfamiliar with the metropolis as his chief, and who is known to many of the younger members of society, went up to view the Ak-Sar-Ben parade. The glitter or something was too much for his head. He couldn't find the right train home—he intended to take the Burlington special—and was carried in a Union Pacific train to South Omaha or some other place, where he spent the night. He reached Lincoln some time the next day. It is suggested that it would be a good plan for all State Journal people to take an L. D. T. boy along when they go to Omaha in future.

The Courier's Plattsmouth correspondent sends the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Waterman, of Lincoln, arrived in town this morning for a visit.

Simon Mayer is in the city.

Judge Newell came in this morning from a trip to Aurora.

Mrs. Cuthbert Ayer, of Havelock, is visiting in the city.

The Plattsmouth Woman's club will hold their first meeting of the season on October 7.

Mrs. James Herald has gone to Boston for a visit with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Tzschuck, of Omaha, spent Sunday in Plattsmouth, the guest of friends.

Mrs. J. M. Johns and daughter have returned from a two-weeks' visit at Lincoln.

Hon. F. M. Richey has gone to McCook.

Mr. and Mrs. Engenbroadt have returned from Jamestown, N. Y.

The Courier's correspondent in Beatrice sends the following:

This has been a week of homecomings from summer outings, visits and trips, and of little else so far as Beatrice is socially concerned. Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Howey are in town again after a stay of some weeks in Chicago.

Mrs. Mary Reed and Mrs. Frances J. Wetherald arrived Tuesday from the east.

Mrs. James F. Linaker and children have returned from Illinois, where they spent a month visiting Mrs. Linaker's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Deutsch have arrived in Beatrice and will occupy the Wheeler residence on North Seventh street.

Mrs. Samuel C. Smith returned last week from a short trip to Chicago.

C. H. Van Arsdale is home from Port Huron, Michigan.

Mrs. W. D. Moulton arrived in Beatrice Monday after a visit at Omaha and Fremont.

H. H. Waite came in Sturday from the Yellowstone Park and the Black Hills. Mr. Waite was so unfortunate as to fall from the toboggan slide in the Hot Springs plunge and is still somewhat disabled in consequence.

Dr. Herbert Miles is back again from St. Louis.

Mrs. Charles Loomis, nee Miss Winnie Crofts, has been visiting with the family of Mr. George W. Loomis in Omaha, and with friends in Council Bluffs.

Mr. Will Harrison leaves this Saturday for Spokane, Washington. Mr. Charles Harrison has given up his position in Chicago and will remain in Beatrice this winter with his sisters, Misses Grace and Bessie.

The Business Men's club is comfortably settled in its new quarters on Sixth and Court streets. This location is more convenient than the old one on Ella street and the rooms are not inferior, either in extent or appointments. The club has opened its doors to many new members this summer, particularly among the younger men. Though always the leading social organization of the city, it expects this winter to contribute even more than its usual quota to the society events of the season. With these good intentions, and with Mr. R. S. Bibb as president, the success is already assured of anything undertaken.

BEAUTIFUL IMPORTATIONS

Mr. C. H. Rudge, of the Rudge & Morris Co., who returned last week from abroad, has brought home with him a choice collection of odd pieces of furniture picked up in the eastern cities and in the various capitals of Europe. He has several complete bedroom sets in Mountain ash, the new wood so popular in England now, and in which the baby Duke of York's apartments are furnished. The style is peculiarly antique, and dresser and toilet-stand are finished with high Phoenician horns of the satiny wood. He has several low mahogany chairs with curved backs and just a mere apology for arms like the one in which Du Maurier pictures La Svengali. There are taboretts from London and Paris, the hexagonal Queen Anne with its mahogany faces curving outward and then in, and the Empire style with its rim of brass fret-work. There are the Roman chairs in mahogany, upholstered in light silks, used so much in French drawing rooms. Mr. Rudge has imported from Paris one of the round parlor cabinets for bric-a-brac. The frame and stand are of mahogany finished in brass and the sides are of French plate glass with glass shelves inside. He has picked up a couple of the new mahogany dining tables with irregular curved edges and little projections that makes the table cloth hang in folds.

He also imported several very fine Oriental rugs, Shirivan, Caribaugh Daghistan and Bokara all with a Velvety been. The Caribaughrug has a hundred different squirmly figures, each one a prayer that an Arab has spread on the sand and prayed on for years. The colors were selected in the first place by a child of the race whom the Sun has taught to mix colors. No wonder that people would rather have one of the Arabian rugs than ten American machine made rugs. The former will last through five generations and still be valuable in the sixth.

Although Mr. Rudge bought these things mainly to gratify his artistic taste they are now on exhibition at the store of Rudge & Morris Co. and can be bought at importer's prices.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.
