

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Joe Ott, who comes to the Lansing December 4, in "The Star Gazer" and familiarly known as "the man who never smiles," is undoubtedly owing to the fact that off the stage his yet somewhat juvenile and good natured countenance is practically unknown. He never has familiarized the public with his personal portraits of any description, always harboring the belief that there is more in merit, as far as drawing power is concerned in a lithograph or cut of one of his characters, or a scene from the play than from a whole half dozen portraits. Nevertheless a man's belief is oftentimes made changeable. An instance in this particular is so firmly registered in the mind of the comedian, that it is very probable he will never forget it.

Charming Effie Ellsler is billed to appear at the Lansing theatre next week. Every art numbers among its devotees some who do it honor in their personal-ity, as well as in the measure of their success; whose justly achieved career partakes equally of the artist and the artists work, the one bringing native grace and human interest to enhance effect of the other. To us she is still the miller's daughter, Lisson and light-footed, with the sweet naturalness of manner which was something more and something better than the artlessness of perfect art, and the low contralto tones, which (by common consent are the audible evidence of a womanly soul. It must be also said that she has won her place she holds by honest and persistent effort, by the steady development of an inherited capacity and by always appealing to the better sense and the better nature of her audiences. She is one of those who show that the stage may be made void of harm without lessening its interest for the public. She is playing Shakespeare now and will be seen as Rosalind in "As You Like It."

Fanny Rice and her clever company will be at the Funke opera house Monday, December 2d, presenting her latest and greatest success as "Nancy," in "At the French Ball," styled by the critic, "A female Rip Van Winkle set to music," is said to give clever Fanny Rice the best opportunity to display her wonderful versatility that she has ever had. For, aside from providing her with the most congenial role in the character of the honest, true-hearted, but mistaken and impetuous "Nancy," it permits her to introduce with consistency numerous singing and acting numbers. Prominent among the leading members of Miss Rice's company will be found such well-known people as that excellent actor, Mr. W. W. Fitzgerald, late of Robin Hood Co.; Mr. Herman Ehrant, late of Carlton Opera Co.; Mr. John J. Conley, late of Donnelly and Girard Co.; Mr. Edward Trautman, late of Nellie McHenry Co.; Mr. Frank E. Morse, late of Hoyt's Chinatown Co.; Miss Alice Vincent, late of Carlton Opera Co.; Miss Reba Height, late of Casino Co., and Miss Grace F. Wolvin late of Lyceum Co. W. H. Frillman of the "Old Homestead" company; Master Willie Meck, the wonderful boy soprano, of Grace church, New York. Seats on sale at Dunn's drug store. Regular prices.

Mr. Wm. C. Andrews will present a society comedy entitled "My Wife's Friend," at the Funke opera house, Saturday, December 7. The play is the latest effort of that able dramatist, Mr. Fred Marsden, and is written in that ludicrous vein which has made the vogue for French and German farce. Mr. Andrews, although a new star, has been an able actor for many years and will be remembered for his finished work in "Niobe." His method may be compared to the unctuous humor of Sol. Smith Russell. His comedy is of a high order and entirely devoid of horse-play. The supporting company are a selection of finished light comedians of the refined school, including Marion Giroux, Antoinette Walker, Minnie Monk, Albert Livingston, H. Rees Davies, and several others. Wm. C. Andrews, the star of "My Wife's Friend" company, is credited by the New York Herald as a man of intelligence, education and refinement, possessing keen insight, and in the portrayal of character his methods are remarkably judicious and delicate.

Nothing in This World
Is so cheap as a newspaper, whether it be measured by the cost of its production or by its value to the consumer. We are talking about an American, metropolitan, daily paper of the first class like THE CHICAGO RECORD. It's so cheap and so good you can't afford in this day of progress to be without it. There are other papers possibly as good, but none better, and none just like it. It prints all the real news of the world—the news you care for—every day, and prints it in the shortest possible space. You can read THE CHICAGO RECORD and do a day's work too. It is an independent paper and gives all political news free from the taint of party bias. In a word—it's a complete, condensed, clean, honest family newspaper, and it has the largest morning circulation in Chicago or the West—140,000 to 150,000 a day.
Prof. T. J. Hatfield of the Northwestern University says: "THE CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."
