

SOCIAL GOSSIP

"A gentleman who has been a society man in Lincoln for perhaps a decade" has been interviewed by a reporter for the State Journal. He says that while Lincoln young men have been particularly cordial to the Omaha young men the latter have been noticeably chilly in their manner toward their brothers of the capitol city. He went on to say that "one gentleman in this city had the honor of being invited to Omaha once. When he came back he was attired in the finest coat of frost that was ever worn by any one. It sparkled to such an extent that all who came in contact with him thought he had just returned from a trip to the Arctic regions with Lieutenant Greeley or some other explorer." A Lincoln young man capable of such a piece of description as this is certainly deserving of recognition—even in Omaha. Doubtless there is some cause for this somewhat plaintive plaint. The population of Omaha does not turn out en masse and greet the visiting Lincoln young man at the railway depot and take his luggage and put him in a brougham and, detaching the horses, haul him through the streets in triumph. It may be that the Lincoln young man, alone in the great city, is not always taken into the bosom of Omaha hospitality. But the young man interviewed by the Journal reporter was a little too sweeping in his assertions. Not every male visitor from this city returns covered with frost and icicles. And here, in this provincial town, we should be thankful even for small favors. If we can get a nod or a glance from the elect of the town where the people drink dissolved Missouri river mud we ought to be grateful. We ought not to expect much of a city that only opens up its heart to such personages as Adeline Patti who once wrote a letter to "dear Mr. Rosewater," and fair Isadore Rush. We are not in the class that trots approvingly on the Omaha track.

The Lincoln club will give a dance at the Hotel Lincoln Tuesday night, New Year's Eve.

On Christmas night Mr. Edgar Tuckerman and Miss Bessie Wightman, both of this city, were married at the home of the bride's parents, 1234 South Twenty-third street, only a limited number of friends and relatives being present. The house was beautifully decorated with smilax and holly. Promptly at 7:45 the guests having arrived Beethoven's wedding march was played by Mr. Hohman of this city and the bridal party entered the parlors and took their places. Mr. Edgar Banghart acted as best man and Miss Ona Tourtelot as maid of honor. The bride wore cream albatross with satin trimmings, carrying a bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor wore a pink cassimere trimmed in white silk lace and carrying a bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Tuckerman will be at home to their friends after January first at 1234 South Twenty-third street.

Wing Allen of Omaha was in town Thursday.

The Courier's correspondent in Omaha sends the following:

An event of the week in swell society in Omaha was the German given by the Monday night club on Monday evening. The dance was led by Mr. Cook and Mr. Cowin. The figures were all carefully arranged and successfully carried out, one of the prettiest of the number being where a large Japanese lantern was carried by each couple. The lights in the hall were all turned out during this number, giving a decidedly beautiful and novel effect to the scene. This was the holiday dance of the club and considerable money and time was spent in arranging the whole affair. Those present were: Mesdames Squires, Allen Hoagland, Colpetzer; Messrs. and Mesdames Dan Wheeler, Will Redick, Harry McCormick, Clement Chase; Misses Lindsey, Allen, Squires, Colpetzer, Hoagland, Chandler, Palmer, Kelly, McKell, Brown, Buck, Curtis, Doane, Dickinson, Ringwalt, Sloan, Mount, Taylor, Ethel Taylor of Erie, Pa.; Himebaugh, Drake, Yates, Rice; Messrs. Wheeler, Allen, Gamutt, Palmer, Cook, Cowin, Hoagland, Burgess, Brown, Wilbur, Towle, Wilkins, Gilbert, McKell, Smith, Fonda, Clark, Ewing, Mullin, Gulon, Chat, Redick, Clark Redick, Cooley, Carter, Sedwick, Heth, Hutchinson, Maj. Crowder, Cowin, Barker. Mr. and Mrs. Truman Buck gave a tea from 5 to 9 o'clock Christmas day, which was largely attended.

Saturday night the dancing club gives a tissue paper dance at Morand's hall.

The leap year party to be given on New Year's day is the pleasure (for the ladies) and pain (for the gentlemen) in prospect of which all are talking and of which many are liable to talk long after it has occurred.

MONDAMIN.

The Y. M. C. A. will keep open house on New Year's day. A fine musical and literary program is under preparation for the event.

Members of the State University clubs gave an entertainment at the Nebraska hospital for the insane on Friday evening the 27th.

With the closing days of last week there were two social gatherings of rather more interest than usual. Both were held at the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zehring. This home is one of the most pleasant and agreeable in the city. The rooms are large, up stairs and down, and are finished in hard wood and furnished as one might expect. The house was beautifully decorated with rare plants banked high on all sides, many of them in beautiful bloom. A rare cactus brilliant with blossoms attracted much attention. Added to the attractions of the house itself was the genial welcome extended by hosts and family. These two large companies spread over the house up stairs and down, and the capacity of the house was scarcely tested. The Woman's Club held sway Thursday afternoon and the Congregationalist Friday night. Every one knows how the ladies enjoy themselves on such occasions. At the church reception Mr. Gregory delivered himself of some interesting thoughts. He was glad to say that his people were sympathetic, and ready to respond on every emergency. He had just completed a canvas of the adherents of the church for funds to close up 1895 without debt, and he declared no one had refused to give excepting two or three, and these were more pained at their inability than he could explain. Every one has responded, and in the most genial and agreeable way. His canvas has shown how much of interest there was in such matters, and how people would express themselves on opportunity. He had experienced the greatest gratification at the reception he received and declared the church had been greatly benefitted spiritually thereby. He was followed by Mr. Chapin who is a close friend of Mr. Gregory. He is the second oldest pastor in the city, Mr. Gregory being first, and he declares that Mr. Gregory has put forth his very best effort for the church and the community and that they both filled a field which required the best effort of each of them. They had often been associated, and sometimes disagreed radically, but when they fought it out were more confident in each other than before. It was a remarkable thing that a service of so many years so full of usefulness had been accomplished by Mr. Gregory.

Mrs. Scipio Dundy of Omaha attended the Patriarchs' german on Friday. She was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ogden.

The Pleasant Hour held its party at the Lincoln hotel on Friday evening, too late for an account in this paper.

The Patriarchs gave a German Friday night led by Mr. G. P. Faucon and Miss Clark, full account of these two parties will be given in next week's Courier.

A rich dowager who has lived in Lincoln for a decade went down town the day before Christmas to complete her Christmas shopping. She put on a heavy seal skin cape and turned the collar up around her ears, then she thought she put on her new bonnet. On her way down she met many acquaintances who smiled joyously at her head. By the time the dowager reached O street influence of so many beaming smiles had had their effect upon her. She thought the spirit of Christmas had reached her friend's hearts and they were paying it out to her. She thought also that they admired her bonnet for they all looked at her head and smiled. In front of Mrs. VanDusen's millinery store she met an intimate who told her she had no hat on. Her horror stricken little hands went up to the top of her head and touched only hair. The dowager went into the millinery shop and borrowed a bonnet.

C. R. Welden who graduated from the state university last year and is now a divinity student at the Chicago university was in the city during the week calling upon old friends and classmates.

Ernest Arthur spent Christmas in Missouri Valley, Ia.

"The Marble Waiteth" is the title of a poem recently published by Charles F. Gale of Beatrice. The poem is a dignified production, pleasingly written and contains pretty ideas. It is in brochure form, white and gold and makes a dainty ornament for a library table.

Notice of foreclosure of chattel mortgage by sale of mortgaged property.

Whereas, on the 16th day of December, 1895, H. R. Nissley & Co., executed and delivered to Amos R. Nissley a certain chattel mortgage and which mortgage was on the 16th day of December, 1895, duly filed of record in the county clerk's office of Lancaster county, Nebraska, and which mortgage was given to secure the payment of a promissory note executed at Lincoln, Nebraska, on the 16th day of December, 1895, for the sum of $12,510.00, due on demand with interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum, from date thereof and which note was signed by H. R. Nissley & Co., and payable to the order of Amos R. Nissley who being still the owner and holder of said note and demand having been made and payment refused and default having been made in the payment thereof, as well as in the conditions and covenants in said mortgage and there now being due and owing on said note from said H. R. Nissley & Co., to said Amos R. Nissley the sum of $12,510.00, together with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent per annum from the 16th day of December, 1895, and by said chattel mortgage the said H. R. Nissley & Co., conveyed to the said Amos R. Nissley all the stock of dress goods, dry goods, linens, domestics, flannels, blankets, underwear, yarns, cloaks and all cotton and wollen piece goods, and all goods, wares and merchandise situated and contained on the east half and side of the store rooms occupied by said firm at 1028 and 1028 O street in the city of Lincoln, Lancaster county, Nebraska. Also all boots, shoes, rubber goods and foot wear and also all groceries of every kind, nature and description and all grocery sundries, wares and merchandise situated and contained in the store rooms aforesaid. Also all books and books of accounts as shown by the firm books, and all goods wares, merchandise and personal property situated and contained in the basement under said store rooms composed of dry goods, groceries, merchandise, etc., together with the iron safe and all office furniture, fixtures, chairs, cash carrier system in said store rooms and all fixtures, counters, shelving in said store rooms.

And, Whereas, on the 15th day of October, 1895, said H. R. Nissley & Co. executed and delivered to the American Exchange National bank of Lincoln, Nebraska, a chattel mortgage which was duly filed of record in the office of the county clerk of Lancaster county, Nebraska, on the 17th day of December, 1895, and which mortgage was given to secure the payment of three promissory notes, together with all drafts for money advanced or that might be advanced, all in the sum of $11,000, one of which notes for $4,000, was due and payable December 10th, 1895; one for $4,000, payable December 15th, 1895, and one note for $1,000, payable November 26th, 1895, with interest thereon at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the maturity of each note and all thereof signed by the said H. R. Nissley & Company and payable to the order of the said American Exchange National bank, and on the 21st day of December, 1895, the said American National bank sold, indorsed and delivered said notes and assigned said mortgage to the said Amos R. Nissley, who is now the owner and holder of each one of said notes as well as said mortgage and each one of said notes being due and having demanded payment of each one of said notes, the same being refused by the said H. R. Nissley & Company, and default having been made in the payment thereof and the conditions therein having been broken and there now being due and owing on said notes to said Amos R. Nissley from said H. R. Nissley & Company the sum of $6,075, together with interest thereon at the rate of ten per cent per annum, from the maturity of each one of said notes, and by said chattel mortgage the said H. R. Nissley & Company thereby conveyed to the said American Exchange National bank all of the stock of dry goods, merchandise and personal property above described and all the goods they were the owners of, situated in the basement and store rooms above named, together with all their books and books of accounts and all property contained in said store rooms. And there having been no suit or proceedings instituted at law to recover the debt remaining secured by said mortgages or either one of them or any part thereof. And the said Amos R. Nissley being now the owner and holder of said mortgages and each and every one of said notes named in each of them, he will offer all of said personal property above described and in said mortgages contained, for sale, for cash, at public sale at the hour of ten o'clock a. m. at the store rooms aforesaid on the 13th day of January, 1896.

AMOS R. NISSLLEY,
