the dance a la wild west show and passed on leaving him dazed, listening to the echoes of their parting war whoop.

Really, the most exciting thing nowadays is attending openings. The soda water and confectionery openings are, in their way, great. You get a good deal of society and some flowers and music thrown in with your dime's purchase. Wednesday I had an engagement with Jack at Ode Rector's and I had planned a little joke—or rather a big joke. At the appointed time, 2 o'clock, I was going to appear with thirteen or fourteen of my dearest girl friends. I figured that it would have cost Jack about $1.50. But it rained on the day set for the opening and Mr. Rector was out the money that Jack would have been compelled to spend. I tried to arrange a similar engagement for Saturday when the postponed opening will take place, but Jack won't be in the city. If it is a nice day the drug store will be a pretty gay place Saturday.

Yours lovingly,
Eleanor.

A SUMMER RESORT.

A delightfully cool and attractive place these warm days is the handsome store of Sutton & Hollowbush, 12th and O street. A new addition is a large and beautiful onyx soda fountain, one of the finest in the state. This is presided over by an expert fizz clerk. This season nut ice-cream and many new flavors in cream and ices are strong favorites. Mr. Sutton's cream has a state reputation; he fills orders daily from many outside points; and is making a specialty of this trade. The line of candy is now larger and finer than ever. Confectionery always fresh; many novelties.

CANDY AND FLOWERS FREE.

Today Sutton & Hollowbush will give their annual opening, and the event will be signalized by the presentation of beautiful and palatable souvenirs. The proprietors have brought 1,500 Cape Jasmines from Texas, and each lady purchaser will be presented with one of these beautiful flowers. And that is not all. With each flower will go a box of Sutton & Hollowbush's delicious candy. Hagenow's orchestra will furnish music during the day.

Cheaper than growing, 3 cans choice peas, 25c at The Alliance store, 1008 P street.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

A great amount of interest is being manifested in "Nell Gwynne," the new romantic historical play that Mlle. Rhea will present at the Funke opera house May 20. It treats of a subject familiar to all readers of English history, the romantic attachment of a great king to a poor girl, who afterwards become one of the brightest as well as most charitable women of her day, and who retained the regard of the king until his death. It is said that this story has been handled in a brilliant manner by Mr. Paul Kester, the young dramatist, and that he has given the fair Rhea an admirable vehicle in which to show her great art and remarkable versatility. New York critics say that she shines in this role as never before, and is at all times, the winsome, happy and lovable "Nell Gwynne." The scenes are laid in the time of Charles II, and give the auditor an idea of the loves and intrigues of this court, as well as the manners and customs of the ladies and courtiers who surrounded him.

The latest novelties in candies, salt water taffy, Jersey lilies, butter squares, chew-chews and salted peanuts introduced by us. We originate. "Ephemar," 1211 O St.

Do you eat candy? Do you ever make a present of a fine box of candy? Examine the fresh stock at Frank M. Rector's, 1211 O street. Ice cream parlors cream and ices in all flavors.

DO YOU WANT TO SAVE TIME?

Well the new flyer leaving Lincoln at 3:20 p. m. via Missouri Pacific will save you several hours to St. Louis, Cincinnati, New York and all eastern points, and connections are made in the St. Louis union station, the most expensive, complete and finest in the world.
