Mr. C. H. Rudge has been elected a member of the standing committee for this diocese. There are six members of this committee, three laymen and three clergymen. The clergy are Dean Gardner and the Rev. Doherty of Omaha and Canon Burgess of Plattsmouth. Chancellor Woolworth, Mr. C. W. Lyman and our Mr. Rudge of Lincoln are the laymen.

The funeral of Ralph F. Andrews took place Thursday. The pall-bearers were: D. W. Hawksworth, Harry Doubrava, L. R. Packard, V. P. Sheldon, J. W. Dixon, J. H. Mailleu, E. F. King and George Rinner. The body was taken to Kearney for interment.

Ralph Andrews came to the university in 1891. He was not here long before he became a prime favorite with all who were acquainted with him. He was known as "Curly," although the sobriquet was applied from love rather than a desire to give him a nickname. He was bright and immediately took a prominent position in his class. That place was held until his illness. This commenced last fall shortly after he had sustained a violent fall from a bicycle. He went to the sanitarium for treatment and later was taken to Chicago by his father and brother, Kenneth, who has been his constant attendant during his illness. The visit to Chicago failed to restore his health and he was brought back to Lincoln. Human skill failed to effect any improvement and his sufferings culminated yesterday.

The deceased was a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity and of cadet company C. His is the third death suffered by the local fraternity chapter, a fatality seemingly having attached itself to it.

By the death of Ralph Andrews many a student loses a loving friend and classmate. He was ever bright and cheerful and was one of the most lovable characters in the university. His death will be universally mourned as it is safe to say that he had few, if any, enemies in the city.

Alpha Epsilon chapter of Sigma Chi has adopted resolutions expressing deep regret at the death of their brother and the members will drape their fraternity pins with mourning for thirty days.
