vate life." Mr. Tilden added that: "In renouncing renomination for the presidency I do so with no doubt in my mind as to the vote of the state of New York or of the United States, but because I believe it is a renunciation of re-election to the presidency." Grover Cleveland of New York was nominated and a bitter factional fight was at once begun. Cleveland took to the woods and nothing was heard from him until August 19th when he forwarded his letter of acceptance from Upper Saranac lake. It was a short letter and did not mention the tariff. The New York Sun characterized it as "the feeblest and most unstatesmanlike document that a like occasion in our history has ever inspired." In the mean time a committee of clergymen composed of the Rev. Dr. Mitchell, First Presbyterian church Buffalo; the Rev. Dr. Gordon, First Baptist church, Buffalo; the Rev. Dr. Ball, Hudson, Street Baptist church, Buffalo; the Rev. Dr. Greene, Lafayette Street Baptist church, Buffalo; the Rev. Dr. Hubbell, North Pennsylvania church, Buffalo; the Rev. Dr. Chivers, Prospect Avenue Baptist church, Buffalo; and the Rev. H. G. Lord, West Side Presbyterian church, Buffalo; had published charges against the democratic candidate that set the whole country in an uproar. August 9th sixteen citizens of Buffalo published a sweeping denial of the charges, addressed to the "Independent republican of the nation." The great religious paper the Independent, in its issue of August 20th, repudiated Cleveland, whom it had slightly supported and called upon him to withdraw from the canvass.

Thus matters progressed on the democratic side of the controversy. On the other hand Mr. Blaine had not been nominated more than a few weeks before he began to be attacked upon personal grounds. The Independent, not content with demanding the withdrawal of Cleveland, demanded also that Blaine retire from the contest. That paper then supported St. John, the prohibition candidate for president. Harper's Weekly bitterly opposed Blaine. The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Times, in a dispatch said: "The contemplated support of George C. Gorham of Mr. Cleveland, and the knowledge that Gorham was one of Conkling's warmest friends, left Blaine to surmise that the great ex-senator was about to come out in open hostility to the republican ticket. This not only alarmed but it well nigh disheartened him. He felt that the combined opposition of the stalwarts, Independents and democrats would surely enable Cleveland to carry New York by an immense majority. To stem this tide and to pacify Conkling became the great object of his existence. To this end, friends of Blaine called upon Conkling with most flattering offers of reconciliation and peace. Conkling however, was not in the olive branch business. Turning to one bolder than his fellows and who had estimated that Mr. Blaine was expecting that before the campaign went much farther he would stump the state for the republican ticket, Conkling drew himself up proudly, and with the most withering sarcasm said: 'Pray give my compliments to Mr. Blaine, and tell him that I have no criminal practice.'"

And the campaign was prosecuted along these lines. A relief from these personalities was furnished by the candidacy of Ben Butler for president. Butler insisted in taking himself seriously.

Mr. McKinley and Mr. Bryan meet on an equal ground so far as personal integrity is concerned and the appeal that is being made in the pending contest is to the reason and common honesty of the people.

Local Notice No. 6.

The Chicago Times-Herald is the handsomest newspaper printed in the United States. Its typographical appearance is unequalled, and its columns are brim full of choice news. Taken all in all, it is a model newspaper.

See the new Photochromes at Crancer & Curtice Co.'s, 207 South 11th street, the newest thing in pictures.

We have purchased (because it is just the thing we have needed) the Columbian Cyclopedic Library, consisting of the Columbian encyclopedia, which is also an unabridged dictionary thirty-two volumes of convenient size neatly bound, four volumes of the annual cyclopedic review, four volumes of current history for 1896, one Columbian atlas and the neat convenient revolving oak case with glass doors. From the evidence obtained we find that some part of this work is placed in the best private and public library in this country and abroad, for the reason that they cover a field relative to the past, present and future progress and achievements of the human race not attempted by others. The plan is original, and the work throughout is carefully and ably written.

Current history contains 220 pages, is issued two months after the close of each quarter, this length of time being taken to reduce all information received to be an absolutely reliable and authentic basis. If these are kept on file, this magazine will prove a permanent and invaluable record of all important movements in political, social, religious, literary, educational, scientific and industrial affairs.

The magazine will be indispensable to all people who have encyclopedias, as it will be needed to keep these works up to date. To those who do not own encyclopedias it will be doubly valuable as their source of information is more limited. About March of each year the four volumes of current history are bound into one volume, known as the Annual Cyclopedic Review. There are now four of these bound volumes covering years 1892-3-4 and 5. The work has for endorers and subscribers in this city and state such people as Mr. Gere, editor-in-chief of the Lincoln State Journal, Hon. Joe Bartley, state treasurer, Hon. W. J. Bryan, Mr. Miller, editor of the Northwestern Journal of Education, Hon. H. R. Corbett, state superintendent of public instruction, Dr. R. E. Giffen, Miss Mary L. Jones, acting librarian at the state university whose letter we publish below in full: "Every reading person has felt the need of brief summaries of current topics and events. The daily, weekly and monthly periodicals and papers may furnish data sufficient, but the labor of collecting and digesting it is frequently out of proportion to the result obtained. A most satisfactory summary may be found in the quarterly issues of Current History. This in the library covering a field that no other attempts.

MARY L. JONES,
Acting Librarian.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.
