

ELEANOR'S LETTER

MY DEAR PENELOPE:

Society people in this city are long suffering. We, for the sake of literary unity—I say “we”—have a good deal to contend against. First, we have our little inside vexations; and then, which is far worse, we have people who write for the newspapers who continually misrepresent us. There is one newspaper in particular that seems to be animated by a desire to be as disagreeable and inaccurate as possible. We could stand the disagreeable things if what the paper said was in any degree accurate. But to have ignorant and irresponsible people make improper and grossly incorrect statements in the public press about the “young society people” is rather too much to bear with patience in these trying times, when the women are thrown almost entirely upon their own resources, while the men are down town attending to politics or something.

I have in mind an article that appeared in the morning paper last Sunday. I do not know who wrote it. It may be that the writer does not have access to any avenues that lead into society. If so, I suppose he, or she, is not so much to blame. Then, again, incredible as it may seem, it may be that the writer is a person who is in a position to know better. If this is the case the offense must be regarded as a malicious attempt to pervert facts.

This article, which purported to be a forecast of the coming social season in Lincoln, was remarkable for the vast amount of ignorance and the incredible number of falsehoods that are crowded into so small a space. I enclose it with my letter. You know enough about Lincoln society to know that it is absurd.

I wonder who gave this person authority to speak for the three leading dancing clubs of the city, and settle, off hand, just how and what will become of them this season, and apportion the number of dances or parties to each.

The reference to politics is malapropos; South America.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

A. B. Jones writes from Butte, Mon., that he will be in the city soon to enter into his duties as captain of the foot ball team of the state university.

The wedding of Percy B. King and Miss Ella Watson occurred at high noon Wednesday, September 30, at Grace M. E. church. Rev. C. M. Sheperd performed the ceremony. The wedding was an exceedingly pretty and happy one. Mr. King is a prominent and popular druggist. Miss Watson is a young lady of nobility of character and lovable nature. Mr. and Mrs. King left for Kansas City where they will attend the Priests' of Pallas entertainment.

The most delicious cold boiled ham is always to be found at C. L. Chipman's meat market, 120 South Twelfth.

Church Howe was in Lincoln to hear the old war general's addresses and to see the McKinley parade.

Clara Watkins returned Wednesday from Minneapolis and Wisconsin, where she has been visiting friends.

and the inference that society young men never vote is absurd. The statement that there will not be more than a dozen club parties in Lincoln this winter is, I can assure you, even more ludicrous. The statement that the Pleasant Hour club members have decided, without holding a meeting, that the club will not reorganize this year, is absolutely untrue. The statement that “many of the members (of the Patriarchs) joined the Lincoln club last year and lost their interest in the elder organization is partially untrue and wholly misleading. With these, and a few more exceptions, the article is all right.

The truth is, the social season will be about the same as usual. The clubs will all reorganize and give parties as heretofore. The Lincoln club elected a new set of officers last summer, and I know of no reason why this club should not continue its existence. The Patriarchs will hold a business meeting next week, when complete arrangements for the winter will be made. An officer of the club is my authority for the statement that a number of gentlemen who belonged to both the Lincoln club and the Patriarchs last year will this season give their allegiance to one club—and that the Patriarchs. I am informed with much positiveness that the Pleasant Hour club will soon hold a business meeting, and that the Pleasant Hour parties, which have been a leading feature of the social life of Lincoln for nearly a quarter of a century, will not be omitted this season.

To charge the subject, I know of just four important weddings in which society has an interest that will take place before the middle of October. By these ceremonies Miss Lulu Clark will become Mrs. Frank Cook, Miss Hallie Hooper will become Mrs. F. W. Houtz, Miss Margaret Baird will become Mrs. T. D. Crane. Miss Baird, when she marries, will go to Omaha to live. Miss Josie Treman will become Mrs. McClosky, and will live in Buenos Ayres.
