

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The third annual hop of Company B of the University of Nebraska occurred last Friday evening at Lansing hall. The hall was very prettily decorated in the colors of the company. The hop committee consisting of Sergeants Russell, Morrison, Davenport, Wetzel, Lyons and Burgett certainly deserve credit for the manner in which all the details were arranged. Miss Willoughby's orchestra furnished the music. A delightful program of eighteen numbers was danced. The members and guests present were Messrs. Sawyer, Pullis, Burckett, Packard, McCreary, Green, Manley, La Rue, Brown, Du Bravo, Randall, Lehnhoff, Hawley, Weeks, Fechet, Saxton, Hatfield, Burrows, Norton, Ricketts, Wells, Barber, Lindquist, Clements, Swartz, Stone, Gustin, Shuff, Weldon, Raymond, Rowe, Whipple; Misses Elliott, Cropey, Lansing, Woods, Clark, Gere, Beach, Ricketts, Whedon, Whitney, Stuart, Raymond, Weeks, Ames, Green, Barber, Vancil, Merrill, Hammond, Wright, Hargreaves, Du Teil, Davis, Cook, Baldwin, Pullis, Parks, Tuttle and Woodward; Mr. and Mrs. Copeland, Prof. and Mrs. Richards, Capt. and Mrs. Gaillkyle.

The Misses Bragdon of Auburndale, Mass., and Miss Anderson of Omaha, who were the guests of Miss Burr, left Saturday for home. Miss Julia Anderson left Saturday for California. They came to attend the Rodgers Hargreaves party of Friday evening.

Miss Mae Burr gave a delightful church tea and apron sale at her home last Saturday afternoon from 5 to 7. This proved a social as well as profitable entertainment for the church. Music was furnished free with every apron sold. Refreshments were served in the dining room.

Messrs. R. B. Howell, Young and Anderson of Omaha and John Dixon of Nebraska City attended the Rodgers-Hargreaves party at the Lincoln Friday night.

The Patriarchs gave one of their usual delightful dances in the Courier hall last Monday evening. The party was rather small, though more than the usual number of young people were present. Thirteen numbers were danced. Miss Willoughby's orchestra furnished the music. Ices were served during the evening. Those present were Judge and Mrs. Ed. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ogden, Mrs. S. H. Burnham; the Misses Sadie Burnham, Eleanor Raymond, Bertie Clark, Mary Jones, Sarah Harrie, Florence Farwell and Olive Latta; Messrs. John White, Dan Wing, Lyon, Owens, Harry Evans, John Farwell and Chas. Austin of Chicago.

One would have thought by the cheerful hum at the home of Misses Bertie and Margaret Clark last Saturday evening that the young people present had never heard of whist, yet they were the same people who kept so quiet when the game was on. The high scores on the north and south were won by Mr. Will Stull and Miss Miner. On the east and west by Mr. Fred White and Miss Olive Latta. Delicious refreshments were served in the dining room, where maiden hair ferns and white hyacinths beautifully decorated the table. The members present were besides the young ladies at home, Misses Hammond, Latta and Miner. The guests were Miss Harris, Mrs. Thurber and Lyon and Messrs. Fred J. White, John Phillips, Will Stull, C. A. Hanna,

Chas. Austin of Chicago has been in the city several days on business. He has attended a number of social functions during his brief stay.

The party given last Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Rodgers and Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Hargreaves was a very brilliant affair. The principal attraction in the parlor was the reception party. Both the gowns of Mrs. Rodgers and Mrs. Hargreaves were exceedingly rich and artistic. The American Beauties which she carried set off to advantage the black and red satin of Mrs. Hargreaves gown, and violets the rich cream and red brocade of Mrs. Rodgers' gown. One of the parlors was transformed into a cool and inviting retreat for the merry dancers with handsome screens, divans, lamps shaded with red globes and beautiful bouquets of American Beauties and tulips. Palms spread their graceful leaves in every nook and corner of the hotel. The dining room was especially beautiful for their presence and the fragile yellow jonquils. Here eighteen numbers of the program were merrily danced to the music of Miss Willoughby's orchestra. The Lincoln ladies, who are proverbially beautiful, were never more handsome than on that occasion. Many pretty gowns made their first appearance. Guests who did not care to dance looked on with faces which were radiant with pleasure, and possibly with thoughts of other days when dancing was under far less favorable circumstances. In the ordinary the guests were treated two fold, by the ices and coffee, and by the fragrance of the violet and hyacinth—a bowl of these flowers and violet colored ribbons were deftly arranged on the table. Ease and elegance characterized the whole to the guests present, who were Messrs. and Mesdames Carl Funke, L. C. Burr, C. S. Lippincott, E. P. Holmes, A. B. Coffroth, E. P. Ewing, F. M. Hall, A. E. Campbell, L. W. Marshall, G. W. Farrell, George Clark, A. G. Beeson, R. H. Oakley, Dr. and Mrs. Righter, Prof. and Mrs. Kimball, Dr. and Mrs. Ladd, Frank Smith, M. D. Welch, M. I. Aitken, J. A. Buckstaff, A. W. Jansen, P. H. Holm, Prof. and Mrs. Barbour, O. Mohrenstecher, R. O. Phillips, I. M. Raymond, W. B. Wilson, W. C. Wilson, Teeters, George Woods, Frank Woods, W. B. Ogden, H. H. Wilson, Walsh, Mr. W. M. Leonard and Mrs. D. E. Thompson; Misses Hollowbush, Brooks, Mae Burr, Maud Oakley, Grace Oakley, Burnham, Harley, Holmes, Righter, Latta, Vance, Bertie Clark, Garten, Welch and Price; Miss Anderson of Taylorville, Ill.; Miss Anderson of Omaha; Miss Braydon, Auburndale, Mass.; Dr. White, Professor Owen, Professor Lyon; Messrs. Lansing, Baldwin, Fred White, Mallalieu, Evans, Joyce, Hanna, Wing, Low, Honeywell, Harley, Gregory, Risdon, Will Clarke, A. H. Armstrong and Ray Welch; Mr. Howell of Omaha, Mr. Dixon of Nebraska City and Mr. Zeis of Boston. Among the spectators were Messrs. and Mesdames W. C. Brock, French, Charles Branch, Dr. and Mrs. Latta, Dr. and Mrs. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. McMurtry, Mr. and Mrs. Jay White, Miss Hoover, Miss Lippincott, Miss Peary, Mrs. De Steigner, Mrs. Putnam, Miss Bailey, Dr. Lowrey, Mrs. Nance and the Misses Blair.

Simon Kelly and his daughter, Miss Nellie, left Tuesday for the Black Hills, where they will remain some time.

Oscar S. Wolfe started for San Antonio, Texas, Tuesday.

G. W. Bonnell left yesterday for Newark, New Jersey, having been summoned there by the death of his aunt, Mrs. Nancy B. Thompson.

A nicely arranged oyster supper was served at the Commercial club one night this week, which was participated in by Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Marshall, chaperones Misses Grace Oakley, Florence Farwell and Olive Latta, Messrs. Mattson Baldwin, C. Y. Smith and Sam E. Low.

Willard Hammond, Martin Aitken and J. H. Harley started Thursday for Sioux City, Ia., to attend the Central Whist Tournament which met yesterday and today.

Mrs. Ed Baum of Omaha was the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. L. Burr, this week.

A pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized Wednesday at 6 p. m. in St. Joseph, Mo. It was the marriage of Mrs. Eunice de Steigner and C. H. Harrison of St. Joseph. Mr. Harrison is an attorney. During Mrs. de Steigner's brief residence in Lincoln she made a host of friends who wish her joy in her new home in St. Joseph.

Mrs. L. C. Burr gave a pretty Kensington, Thursday afternoon as a compliment to Mrs. Miller of Lafayette, Ind. Chatting merrily over dainty bits of embroidery made the time speed quickly. Refreshments were daintily served in the dining room. Mrs. Campbell sang several selections, among them a lullaby and "Little Boy Blue." Mrs. Campbell interprets her songs with such warmth of feeling that her hearers are always impressed. Among those present were Mrs. Miller, A. G. Beeson, R. J. Greene, W. B. Hargreaves, Rodgers, N. C. Brock, E. Henkle, C. C. Burr, A. D. Burr, D. A. Campbell, D. E. Thompson, H. B. Thompson, Robinson of Chicago, B. F. Burr, C. L. Burr, E. J. Baum of Omaha, R. C. Outcalt, Carl Funke, F. W. Brown, Guilfoyle, A. B. Coffroth, H. H. Wheeler, Dr. Righter, J. White, L. W. Marshall.

Busy? Well! Well! Lincoln Coal Co.

Mrs. Lippincott's musicale held at the Richard's residence on Tuesday evening was the largest and most brilliant musical party ever given in Lincoln. The noble court, around which the house is built, the long drawing room, Mrs. Richard's boudoir, and the galleries were filled with the musical and literary showing of a college town. It was said that there were four hundred invitations. Not until the musical numbers were over and there was a rush towards the centre of the court, where the receiving party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Lippincott and Mr. and Mrs. Richards stood, was there any lack of room.

Mrs. Lippincott sang, as has been said, with sweetness and strength. She was exquisitely gowned in white with pink roses.

The Bucyrus Mandolin Club made a beautiful spot of soft blues and whites and pinks. They played in excellent time and were enthusiastically applauded. They were like a large bunch of fragrant flowers, appealing to all the senses irresistibly. Society girls are supposed to be frivolous, and they are more or less. In this club there must be a controlling spirit to sober the trifling and irrelevant tendencies of buds to do nothing but flutter, look pretty and flutter. This spirit, in a remarkably short time, has drilled the butterflies into playing with precision and intelligence the best music written for mandolins. For this quick understanding of the purpose of their organization, the butterflies themselves deserve a better name—but there is not any.

Mr. John Randolph played Mrs. Lippincott's accompaniments sympathetically. The liquid instrumental notes followed the singer's with perfect understanding of the song and the singer. The piano and the voice were one. The former was never in the way, but always just where it was wanted.

DEAN-DANDY.

An Omaha Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Dandy, daughter of General and Mrs. Geo. B. Dandy, to Lieutenant James L. Dean was solemnized with all the pomp and gorgeousness of an army wedding last evening at Trinity Cathedral, the ceremony being performed by Bishop Worthington. Miss Webster was maid of honor. Miss Beesie Yates, Miss Palmer, Miss Kountze and Miss Turner of Chicago were bridesmaids. Lieut. Quay was best man. Major Crowder, Lieut. Perry, Gregg and Paxton being the ushers.

The bride was a veritable vision of beauty, gowned in a white brocade satin, the waist and sleeves being of chiffon, her veil held in place by a star of diamonds and pearls. Mrs. Dandy's gift to her daughter. Miss Webster was in pink brocade and carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations and maiden hair fern. The bridesmaid's gowns were white Liberty tissue, trimmed with lace over Nile green taffety silk strips, with wide green satin sashes. They carried shower bouquets of white carnations and maiden hair fern. The bride's gifts to her maids were green enamel wreath pins set with diamonds. The groom's to the men were pins, three lovers' knots set with diamonds.

The Cathedral was most artistically decorated with flowers, ferns and palms in the church and national colors in the nave of the church. The ribbon used for enclosing the pens instead of the customary white was red, white and blue. These colors were used in the minutest detail of decoration at the house.

Among the immediate bridal party who occupied the front seats were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Dandy jr., Mrs. Dandy, General and Mrs. Brooke, General and Mrs. Manderson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Yates, Mrs. Morgan and Miss Yates, Mr. Herman Kountze, Mr. and Mrs. Char. T. Kountze, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Palmer. The Cathedral was filled with friends, a large number of whom attended the reception at the family residence and extended their well wishes and congratulations to the young couple. The gifts displayed were many and costly.

Miss Helen Nance gave a charming flower mission tea Thursday evening. About fifty young ladies and gentlemen were served the dainty refreshments. A royal time was enjoyed with card playing, dancing and singing the popular airs. These teas, to which everybody is invited to come and bring ten cents, are becoming a pleasing feature in the social life of Lincoln. In the afternoon the young ladies held a business meeting. Among those present were the Misses Florence Farwell, Maude Oakley, Henrietta Hollowbush, Grace Oakley, Lucy Griffith, Maud Rasser, Blanche Garten, Helen Welch, Fannie Rector, Hoover, Mae Burr, Nickols, Nellie Lau, Mary Fechet, Kathryn Brooks, Sadie Burnham, Olive Latta and Mrs. Ode Rector; Messrs. and Mesdames Ed. Fitzgerald and L. W. Marshall; Messrs. M. H. Baldwin, John Lottridge, F. J. White, F. C. Cooley, Harry Reese, Jim Burks, Homer Honeywell, Raymond Welch, Roy Sawyer, Hartigan, R. Corby, Dan Burks, D. G. Wing, Hanay, A. Clapp, C. Young, Harry Evans, C. Y. Smith, J. Mallalieu and Chas. Baker of Beatrice.

The Deborah Avery chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held a business meeting yesterday from 2:30 to 6 p. m. at the home of Mrs. A. H. Dorris. Arrangements were developed for an entertainment which promises to be original and entertaining, on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22nd.

Miss Rose Foster has returned from a pleasant visit with Miss Habin of Beatrice, where she attended the Mayberry wedding.
