A merry crowd of young ladies and gentlemen were down at the station Wednesday noon to see Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mallalieu start on their wedding journey. Rice and congratulations were decidedly in evidence.

Miss Ura Kelley who is always a welcome visitor here came down for the Mallalieu-Moore wedding. She returned Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wright entertained Wednesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Fleek of Newark, Ohio. Whist formed the amusement for the evening.

Lincoln society is always happy to see the familiar faces of John Dixon of Nebraska City and Bert Wheeler of Omaha in their midst.

The Mallalieu-Moore wedding drew a great number of lovely people to Lincoln. Some wore the familiar faces of time tried friends. Others, although strange, have won admiration and many acquaintances. Numerous luncheons, teas and similar affairs occurred in compliment to them.

An elegant and delightful act of appreciation was the reception tendered Rev. and Mrs. H. Percy Silver Tuesday evening at the Lincoln hotel by the wardens, vestry and ladies of Holy Trinity church. The hotel was artistically decorated in cut flowers and palms. H. J. Walsh greeted the guests and introduced them to the receiving party, consisting of Rev. and Mrs. Silver, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sewell and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Rudge. Between four and five hundred called during the hours of eight and eleven. Groups of happy, nicely dressed people filled every nook and corner. Mrs. Silver appeared in her handsome wedding gown of white moire silk. The vestry acted as ushers and were on the entertainment committee. Ices were served by the Misses Bessie Bartruff, Ellen and Frances Gere, Anna Dunn, Lottie and Maggie Whedon and Maisy Ames. The ladies wore dainty evening gowns some of which were bridesmaid dresses. Mr. and Mrs. Silver spent several months abroad this summer. This welcome makes their home coming extremely pleasant.

Case Edwards of Chicago, a former Lincoln man, stopped in the city a few days on his way to Denver.

Miss Emily Weeks and Miss Nell Randall left Sunday for Madison, Wis., to attend the national convention of Kappa Alpha Theta fraternity. They will stop a few days in Chicago.

Miss Florence Putnam left Wednesday for Utica, N. Y., where she will attend a ladies seminary.

An elaborate family dinner was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Funke Thursday evening. Those present being the sons and daughters of Mrs. Moore sr., of Newark, Ohio. They were as follows: Mrs. Moore sr., Messrs. and Mesdames S. E. Moore, W. B. Ogden, Fleek, Sutton, Carl Funke and Miss Claire Funke.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Wright delightfully entertained Mrs. Fleek Wednesday evening with duplicate whist. It was a small company of four tables but large in proportion to the pleasure given each guest.

Mrs. W. B. Hargreaves and Mrs. T. J. Griffith of Ft. Bliss, spent Saturday shopping in Omaha.

Mrs. L. W. Cates gave a dainty luncheon Wednesday for the following ladies in honor of Mrs. Moore, sr.: Mesdames Carl Funke, W. B. Ogden, Fleek, Sutton and Mrs. W. B. Hargreaves.

A lovely party was one given by Mr. Turpin Wednesday evening for his dancing class of married people. Last evening nearly a hundred young people enjoyed a similar party at Courier Hall. Those present Wednesday evening were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—
H. H. Wilson,
J. B. Horton,
W. A. Rankin,
Chas. Neal,
Misses—
Dennis,
Fouke,
Mesdames—

In travelling through Kansas and Nebraska he will make Lincoln his headquarters. He has many friends here who will be glad to welcome him whenever he comes.

Haydon Art Club Reception.

The reception given in the picture gallery at the university on Monday by the Haydon Art club was attended by over a hundred members, past and prospective.

Mrs. Parker's and Mrs. Brock's studio were open and the early evening was spent in these rooms. Mrs. Brock occupies the atelier formerly used by Miss Righter. The china, of which she is so clever a painter, made a beautiful display and the little room was crowded until the beginning of the lecture, by admirers of her work. Miss Parker's portraits and still life painting have been commented upon frequently in these pages. She is an artist of fine perceptions and perfect technique, especially in pastel portraiture. When the guests had completed the circuit of the softly lighted and decorated ateliers they gathered in the picture gallery to listen to the address. Vice-President Barbour opened the Haydon Art club season with a speech in which he recalled the triumphant history of the club in presenting works of art to the people and of drawing people's attention to its utility by lectures. Prof. Barbour has served the club with an enthusiasm and ability that prove him a true disciple. The club is a debtor to him for the arrangements of last two exhibitions for which and at which he worked with untiring energy. He presided a successful season and the interest the club showed in his remarks fulfilled the prophecy, so far as the first meeting was concerned at least. Prof Barbour was followed by Miss Parker, who delivered a most interesting lecture on "American Art and Artists," illustrated by slides in charge of Mr. Cornell. The slides are especially fine ones. They are of pictures by Messrs Whistler, Sargent, Abbey, Vedder, Thayer, Church, Chase, Alexander Harrison and many others. In many cases, notably in the photographs of some of Whistler's paintings, the slides were more satisfactory than the paintings themselves. The reason is a trifle mysterious, but it may be because a photograph leaves out detail and presents the outlines of the subject denuded of all accidents of light and surroundings. "The Lady With the Yellow Buskin," showed the deep, soft shadows—the harmony of coloring and the light poise of the figure in a way that I had never recognized before. Miss Parker's comments showed a sympathy with artists and their work and an understanding of it. She is very successful as a teacher but she comes before the people so seldom that many are ignorant of her high standing as creative artist. The meeting on Monday night was a precursor of five or six others to take place during the winter.

A membership committee was appointed consisting of Mesdames Hall, A. S. Raymond, Giffen, Kelly, Wright and Yates. Membership fee is a dollar a year and admits the holder to all lectures of the club and by paying one entrance fee a member is entitled to go in to the annual exhibit as many times as he likes.

WHERE IS THIS GOD?

And shall a pigmy
soul, beclouded
By a myriad mysteries,
meet endless doom
Because it cannot understand?

Where is a father's heart so obdurate
That he, his helpless
child would burn
In never ending torment,
for a thing
A mystery, it had not mind to fathom?

Where is this your
"God of love,"
By whom—if I believe not
—I am damned
In hell eternal? Where is this heathen God?
And let me meet him
fight him—face to face
Though by one swift glance he crushes me
To impalpable dust.
