Bargains in Boots.

"It's all very well to talk about issuing bonds of $10 each," remarked Mr. Dukane, "but that is not the way to induce women to buy."

"What would you advise?" asked Mr. Gaswell.

"Let Secretary Carlisle advertise bonds at $9.98, marked down from $10."—Pittsburg Telegraph.

Found Them So.

Baldso—I didn't mind the questions till the lawyers got to the cross-examination.

Herdso—Then what?

Baldso—They were too all-fired cross.

Determined Not to be Bitten.

Dawson—I've seen divers go down and stay under water an hour.

Jawson—Pooh! I've seen em' go down and stay an hour and a half and smoke all the time.

Dawson—I saw one go down a year ago and he has not come up since!

Neil—Do you believe there is any luck in a rabbit's foot?

Edith—Indeed I do. Why, I knew a girl who used one to spread her powder with and she married a man worth nearly a million.

Social and Personal

On Tuesday evening with the help of a few friends Mr. and Mrs. Buckstaff celebrated the twenty first anniversary of their wedding.

Mrs. John B. Wright and son will leave for a month's visit in Chicago the last part of next week.

Mrs. Beeson and Mrs. Greene left on Thursday for a visit in their old home, Lafayette, Indiana. They were accompanied, as far as Chicago, by Mrs. W. B. Hargreaves.

Miss Mame Carson returned on Monday from her trip in Europe. The party of which she was a member visited Holland, Belgium, France, Italy and Austria. Miss Carson is fortunate in not being affected with mal de mer. Though the return voyage was very rough, Miss Carson did not mind it and was able to enjoy the six meals provided on ship board with a secure mind. She had a delightful time, with all.

Miss and Mr. Schweitzer, after a six weeks' visit with their sister, Mrs. H. Mayer, returned to their home in San Francisco, California.

Mr. M. Weil has been spending the last week at Burr Oak, Kansas.

The Philharmonic Orchestra of thirty-five performers will give the first of the series of five concerts for this season at the Funke Wednesday, November 3. The soloists for this first concert are Mrs. Charles K. Urquhart, soprano, of Omaha and Charles Hagenow, violinist.

The death of Mr. H. S. Gordon, removes another old timer from Lincoln. He had made many warm friends who will miss him. The body was taken east on Friday, where it will be buried in the century old graveyard at Sheffield, Massachusetts.

Col. O. H. Phillips, brother of R. O. Phillips, died at his home in Havelock, on Thursday morning after an invalidism of several years.

Dr. H. K. Kerman, who died a few days ago in Macomb, Ill., passed several years practicing his profession in Lincoln. He is very kindly remembered by the friends he made here.

Last Friday afternoon Mrs. Sawyer invited about thirty ladies to luncheon in honor of Miss Morton and Miss Mary Morton, her niece. The tables were set in the octagonal drawing-room and the guests sat only on one side, so that each one faced everybody else in the room. At two o'clock Misses Field and Wilson and Charlie Sawyer began to serve a luncheon of many courses. After it was served, Mrs. Sawyer, who sat in the center with Miss Morton on her right and Miss Mary Morton on her left, said that the time had come for the consideration of a topic of interest to everybody viz, Woman. Then, with witty turns and flashes of a wit that is especially her own, Mrs. Sawyer introduced the following speakers who spoke by the (menu) card as follows: "The Business Woman," Miss Harris, whose speech, whether by design or not, was in the soup; "The City Improvement League," Mrs. W. G. Langworthy Taylor; "The Aesthetic Woman," Mrs. Wilson; "The Contented Woman," Miss Wilde; "The Ambitious Woman," Miss Stoddard; "The Wife," Mrs. Ricketts;

Misses Boggs and Caffyn have removed from their rooms at 1123 N street and may now be found at 1516 O street, in the rooms formerly occupied by Miss Guilmette.

The Well Preserved Woman," Mrs. Kirker; "The Domestic Woman," Mrs. Hodgman; "The Married Woman," Mrs. Hartley; "The Discontented Woman," Mrs. T. C. Munger; "Unappropriated Blessings," Miss Dennis; "The Educated Woman," Mrs. Newmark; "The Traveled Woman," Mrs. Lambertson; "The Old Woman," Mrs. Field; "The New Woman," Mrs. Maule; "The Club Woman," Miss Elliott. With these sparkling speeches came equally refreshing music. Mrs. D. A. Campbell, her voice enriched and strengthened by her recent studies abroad, sang "Ma Onliest Honey," by Templeton. Mrs. Lippincott pleased the ladies greatly with the song "Because I Love You, Dear." Mrs. Will Owen Jones contributed a piano solo, "The Fauns," by the well known woman composer, Chaminade. This number was played with the exactness of which Mrs. Jones has long been a mistress. With the added depth of tone acquired recently, Mrs. Albert Watkins added to this part of the feast a song about the prince that was heard with the greatest pleasure. Mr. Campbell and Mrs. Lippincott also sang a duet, "The Land of Swallows," by Massini.

The toasts were short, bright and crisp. Many a man who starts out to make the effort of his life at the cost of the exceeding weariness of the dinner guests might ponder their badinage and graceful posings on heavy subjects, to the great improvement of his next peroration.

Mr. Albert Turpin gave a party last Friday night in Courier Hall. Miss Willoughby's orchestra furnished the music to the following guests;
