

turned at a later date, when the historic relics could be seen, and also the great shops of London. Mr. Silver expressed himself as an authority upon hats and dresses, having made an exhaustive study of the subject.

Time did not permit a detailed description of London, but a few words were said of Canterbury Cathedral, and some impressions of Paris were given.

The lecture throughout was in the happiest vein of the speaker; replete with bright anecdotes and amusing experiences with just enough of description for variety. The personal interest in Mr. Silver and his wife, and the fact that this trip was a "bridal tour," gave added charm to the words.

Mrs. C. S. Lippincott sang "The Daisy," by Ardit, and was enthusiastically recalled.

"Sweet Castles," by Freeman, gave the audience an opportunity to hear Mrs. Silver, and the wish was felt by many that the sweet tones of her fresh, young voice could be oftener heard.

"A Night in Venice," by Lucantoni, was given as a duet by Mrs. Lippincott and Mr. Myer, and was much enjoyed.

An extra number, not on the program, was announced, when the Magnolia Quartette, composed of waiters in the hotel, received so hearty a welcome that they gave several selections.

Mrs. Kate B. Cheney accompanied the songs in a sympathetic manner.

As the audience left the dining hall, ices were served in the corridor. Great praise is due Mrs. F. W. Brown and her corps of assistants for the charming manner in which all the details of the evening were carried out. About seventy-five dollars was secured as a result of the entertainment.

The death of Lieut. Jackson on Friday morning at St. Elizabeth's hospital was entirely unexpected. He was a stranger in a strange land, but the few acquaintances he had made were already his friends. All classes were suspended on Friday when the news of his death reached the university.

Mrs. J. Sarbach of Fairbury, Neb., spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Friend.

Mrs. M. Weil entertained her friends Thursday in honor of her aunt who is visiting her. The guests spent a very pleasant afternoon playing high five, after which most delicious lunch was served.

On Tuesday evening a party was given in honor of Miss Gertrude Gage and Miss Bernice Merrill, who left the following day for Hartford, Conn. The party met at the home of Miss Gage and afterwards went to the Kappa Sigma house, where the evening was spent in dancing. Ices were served. Mrs. Gage and Mrs. Egan chaperoned the party.

Mrs. Lippincott entertained a few friends at dinner on Saturday evening of last week.

Mrs. D. A. Campbell has issued invitations for a recital to be given at the home of Mrs. L. C. Richards on November twenty-sixth. Her many friends will be glad to hear her after her study abroad.

The Lincoln Light Infantry has issued about five hundred invitations for their reception to Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn on Monday evening, November twentieth.

The Tri-Delta fraternity will give their party at the Lincoln on Wednesday, November twenty-fourth.

Mr. Thomas Creigh of Omaha came down for the Kappa Kappa Gamma party last week.

Mr. Ralph Saxton of Edgar is in the city.

Miss Martha Burke of Batavia is the guest of Miss Dorra Harley.

Mr. Elgar Morrill, who spent the summer in Stromsburg, has returned to Lincoln and expects to remain for the winter.

The Pleasant Hour club will give its first party on Thanksgiving night, as has been their custom for years. The party will be given for Mr. and Mrs. Mallalieu.

Mr. Burt Wheeler of Omaha was in Lincoln for a few days last week.

The annual banquet of Sorosis was given on Friday evening of last week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sawyer, where those charming reunions have always been held.

The committee on entertainment, consisting of Messrs. James Maule, Lambertson and Beebe, had prepared many delightful surprises for the guests.

The sides of the octagonal banquet room was divided by flags, trophies and portraits into emblematic representations of France, Russia, Japan, England, Germany and America. Japan was over the mantle piece gowned in furs and flowered silk with a big umbrella the wide doors were draped with the noblest and handsomest of all flags. Germany had the southwest corner, which was draped in white silk and crossed with long German pipes and dueling swords tipped with crops caps in bright greens and reds and chaperoned by his imperial majesty, Emperor William in counterfit presentment. The United States had the place of honor in the center of all the nations and president Lincoln's portrait and the American flag emphasized for the second time the patriotism of Sorosis. France was a mass of drapery and white lilies and jeweled with the heraldic fleur de lis. Russia occupied the northeast corner of this microcosmic dinner party and was represented by a polar bear and a black bear and the coat of arms of the reigning house. The table decorations were goblets.

The president, Mrs. M. D. Welch, was the toastmistress of the evening, and presided with grace and dignity. After each toast, the national air of the country represented was given by the Ideal Mandolin Club. England came first on the program, and met with a warm tribute from Mrs. Sawyer in her response to the "Motherland." "God Save the Queen" came from the mandolins. Judge Tibbette followed on "Japan," a serious talk on the fairy land, but its lighter side was given in the merry music of the "Mikado."

"La Belle France" by Mrs. Fling, was next on the program. As she had spent several summers in that delightful land, many charming glimpses of its life and customs were given, closing in the musical accents of the French tongue. "Imperial Germany" by Judge Hall, was a theme for wit and merriment, and was followed by "Die Watch am Rhine."

"The Outermost Rim" by Mrs. Barbour, came next on the program. This topic which was but the "Klondike" in disguise afforded ample opportunity to the speaker for an overflow of sparkling wit and fun. "Greenland's Icy Mountains" was the appropriate music.

Mrs. Holyoke responded to "The Autocrat of Europe" in a delightful talk, full of charming contrasts of seriousness and humor. The Russian hymn was then given.

Utopia by Mr. Lambertson, came last on the program, and was an amusing recital of early experiences in public speaking, which may finally lead to "Utopia," ending in an eloquent peroration of America.

One of the most amusing features of the evening followed the passing of a dish of walnuts. Each guest took one apparently uncracked, the nuts yielded to pressure and disclosed a kernel in the shape of a roll of white paper on which was written a question and a number was duplicated by another nut which
