

FITZGERALD DRY GOODS CO.

1023-1029 O St.

Lincoln, Nebr.

OUR SHELVES HARBOR NO PRETENSES

And the Bargains We Ofefr in Wash Dress Goods are exactly as Represented in Our Advertisetishment. At Least Come and See.

WASH DRESS GOODS

5c A YARD.

Lawns and dimities, 30-inch wide, good assortment of colors, regular price 7½ and 10c, at 5c.

10c A YARD.

Lawns, dimities and gingham, an immense assortment, all 12½ and 15c goods, at 10c.

12½c A YARD.

Domestic organdies, madras, gingham, lining batiste, all 15 and 18c goods; at 12½c.

18c A YARD.

A fine line of wash dress goods, heretofore they were sold for 20c and 25c a yard, at 18c a yard.

25c A YARD.

An immense line of choice wash dress goods, former prices 30c and 35c a yard, at 25c a yard.

35c A YARD.

French organdies and other fine fabrics at reduction on former price, at 35c.

Fitzgerald
Dry Goods
Co

Mail Orders Promptly Filled

1023-1029
O Street
Lincoln, Nebr

hoped that other ladies of the city would volunteer their services in similar offices.

In closing Mrs. A. M. Sullivan was made chairman of the Clinton school, and Mrs. L. C. Richards was appointed to the committee on parks.

The Cosy club of Tecumseh have completed the study of the "Winter's Tale" and are now at work upon the Tempest, which they will finish at the close of the year. Interest continues unabated, even amid the worry and flurry of housecleaning.

A new club has been lately organized in Tecumseh, composed entirely of quite young ladies and its membership is limited to ten, as its name, "The Deka," indicates. Its president is Miss Gail True; secretary, Miss Jennie Dew.

They are devoting their first year to United States history, with an original paper at each session bearing on their line of work.

They have been working for some time without any distinctive title and when the name was finally chosen they issued cards to their "christening party" which was given at the home of Miss Helen Wright Tuesday afternoon, May 10, the invited guests being the other ladies' clubs of Tecumseh, the Cosy club and The Friends in Council. The affair was decidedly unique and was as pretty a function as one might wish to see. The afternoon sunlight was excluded and shaded lamps shed a soft light over a bewildering profusion of flowers. The color scheme of the first room was the heliotrope and white of the Cosy club. The next room showed the pink and white of The Friends in Council, and the dining room glowed with the yellow and white of the Deka.

The young hostesses were gowned in white and received with a graceful dignity which was not at all marred by the few little anxious asides to some of the older guests. The program was as follows:

Piano Duet—"Witches Flight". . . . . Russell Misses Gail True and Jennie Dew.
Recitation . . . . . Miss Blanche Roberts
Piano Solo—"Manzanillo". . . . . Robyn Miss Jessie Davidson.
Select Reading . . . . . Miss Helen Wright
Vocal Solo—"A Dream". . . . . Bartlett Miss Gail True.
Miss Garnet Sullivan then christened

the new club, breaking a bottle of water over the club emblem, a bank of marquerites. The president, in a short speech, presented the new club to its older sisters and offered as a toast an adaptation from Longfellow's "Building of the Ship."

Only what is sound and strong
To this new club shall belong.
A goodly frame and a goodly fame,
And "The Deka" be her name.

She called on the presidents of the guest clubs for responses. Mrs. McLanahan for the Cosy club and Mrs. Bennett for the Friends in Council responded heartily and appropriately.

A little later the young ladies served refreshments in the dining room and an hour afterward the nicest reception of the year was a thing of the past.

Friends in Council of Tecumseh met with Mrs. Howorth May 4. The hostess read a carefully prepared and excellent paper on Mrs. Humphrey Ward, giving a sketch of her books and of her public and private life. Mrs. Merriman had prepared a paper on the subject of new books; she was unexpectedly called from the city and her paper was read by Mrs.

W. Shaw. The paper proved beyond doubt the author's familiarity with new books, and her comments and praise as well as criticisms were greatly appreciated by all. The general discussion, subject, New Books, was led by Mrs. Chas. Chamberlain, followed the reading of Mrs. Merriman's paper. Each member of the club gave a sketch of some new book, or a short biography of the author.

Refreshments were served during the social hour, by the hostess. The subject for the next two meetings will be club culture.

THE THEATRE

Daniel Sully played to a small but appreciative audience at the Oliver on Monday night in O'Brien the Contractor. Mr. Sully's methods are those of Hearn and Thomas Jefferson. The result is a blending of humour and pathos most delectable. Mr. Sully is a fine actor who deserves a wider reputation than he seems to possess. His support is very good and the play very well suited to Mr. Sully's talent.

For club reports, society and theatrical news, you want THE COURIER