

Lincoln this year expects to take up the questions of rest rooms for the comfort and entertainment of wives and children of farmers.

On the whole the year book of Nebraska's clubs is directive, instructive, suggestive—a bureau of information, a pleasure to the eye and a satisfaction to the mind.

The State Federation is to be congratulated upon the careful, thorough work of the committee as evinced by the book, and upon its chic appearance.

The fortnightly club of Lincoln has issued its year book for two years. It will study Russian literature, history and institutions. The book contains the names of the officers and members, the constitution of the club, outlines for the study, the bibliography and chronology of the subject as well as a diagram of the Romanoff dynasty.

OFFICERS—1898-99.

President—Mrs. E. H. Barbour.
Vice President—Mrs. A. W. Field.
Secretary—Mrs. C. H. Imhoff.

CALENDAR—1898.

- The Russian Race and Empire.
Physical Features and Their Influence on Character and Institutions.
History of Government.
Poland.
Military Service.
Social Classes.
Serfdom—Liberation of Serfs and Emancipation of Slaves Compared.
1899—
The Orthodox Church.
Architecture.
Nihilism—Compare Nihilism, Communism and Socialism.
Religious and Decorative Art.
Internal Improvements and Principal Industries.
The Story of the Crimea.
Napoleon's Invasion of Russia.
The Russo Turkish Trouble.
Russian Mir.
Educational Systems.
Songs and Folk Lore.
Judicial System and Press.
Siberia and the Prison System.
Painting.
Russia in the Far East.
Poushkin and His Immediate Antecedents and Contemporaries.
Gogol—Character and Influence of His Works.
Music.
Doctoyevsky—Compare His Writings with Those of Tolstoi, and Turgenief.
Turgenief—"Father and Sons." "On the Eve."
Sienkiewicz.
Tolstoi—Influence of His Teachings.
Principal Cities.
Franco Russian Alliance—Her Present Relation to European Powers.
Coronation of Nicholas II.—What May Russia Hope From Him.
Extra Topics—Position of Women in Russia.
Why Has Russia Been More Backward Than Other Nations?
Music.
Historical and Political Writers.
CHRONOLOGY.
(From "Russia: Story of the Nations" Series.)
I. Heroic Period.
II. Russia Divided: Period of the Appanages, 1054-1238.
III. Russia under the Mongols, 1238-1462.
V. Establishment of the autocracy and consolidation of the Empire until the death of Boris Godunov, 1462-1605.
VI. Ivan and Peter; the Regency of Sophia.
VII. The reforms of Peter in abeyance; reigns of Catherine I.; Peter; Anne; Ivan VI., and Elizabeth, 1725-1796.
VIII. The plans of Peter developed; Peter III.; Catherine II., 1672-1796.

IX. Reigns of Paul, 1796-1801, and Alexander I., 1801-1825; Russia in collusion with the French Revolution and Napoleon.

X. Fruitless reactions followed by reforms; reigns of Nicholas I., 1825-1855; Alexander III., 1881-1894.

XI. Nicholas II., 1894.

BIBLIOGRAPHY.

- Art—
Atkinson—Art tour to Northern Capitals of Europe.
Maekel, W.—Russian Art and Art Industries.
Kugler—History of Painting.
History—
Morfill, W. R.—Story of Russia.
Rambaud, Alfd.—History of Russia.
Gossip—History of Russia.
Lamartine—History of Russia.
Wolkonsky—History of Russia.
Lariviere—History of Russia.
Merimee—History of Russia.
Ralston, W. R. S.—Early Russian History.
Green, F. V.—The Russian Army and Its Campaigns in Turkey in 1877-1878.
Holland, F. E.—Treaty Relations of Russia and Turkey.
Kinglake, A. W.—Invasion of the Crimea.
Hawley—War in the Crimea.
Motley—Peter the Great.
Literature—
Bazan—Russia, Its People and Literature.
Botta—Handbook of Universal Literature.
Dupuy—The Great Masters of Russian Literature in the Nineteenth Century.
Vogue—Russian Novelists.
Wolkonsky—Russian History and Literature.
Brandes—Impressions of Russia.
Religion—
Stepniak—The Russian Peasantry.
Dalton—On Religious Liberty in Russia: Open Letter to the Head of the Russian Synod.
Frederic—The New Exodus: A study of Israel in Russia.
Heard—Russian Church and Russian Dissent.
Life, People, Institutions—
Dixon, W. H.—Free Russia.
Stepniak—Underground Russia.
Wallace, D. M.—Russia.
Vogue—The Tear and His People.
Leroy-Beaulieu—Empire of the Tears and the Russians.
Green, F. V.—Sketches of Army Life in Russia.
Stevens—Through Russia on a Mustang.
Taylor—By Ways of Europe.
Taylor—Greece and Russia.
Stadling—In the Land of Tolstoi.
Tweedie—Through Finland in Carts.
Oliphant, L.—Russian Shores of the Black Sea.
Murray, E. C. G.—Russians of Today.
Stead—Truths About Russia.
Kennan—Siberia and the Exile System.
Dragomanov—Russian Peasantry.
Miscellaneous—
Haggood—Isabel F.—The Epic Songs of Russia.
Rae—Contemporary Socialism.
Ballou—Due North; or, Glimpses of Scandinavia and Russia.
Browne—Land of Thor.
Bryce—Trans-Caucasia and Ararat.
Buckley—Midnight Sun. Russia Before and After the War.

PLANS FOR CLUB WORK.

Following a general plan for a study of Greece, recently given in this department, is subjoined a special outline on the Grecian drama and poets. It covered two years of work by the Fortnightly club of Seneca Falls, New York, secretary, Mrs. L. E. Lathrop, and may be culled from to make a one year's

THE CLUB WOMAN
—AND—
THE COURIER
ONE YEAR FOR $1.25

CLUB WOMEN:

DO YOU want the club news of the United States and Nebraska?

Then send a dollar and twenty-five cents to THE COURIER, Lincoln, Nebr., and receive them both for one year.

If you want a sample copy of the Club Woman send your name to

THE CLUB WOMAN,
104 School St., Egleston Square,
Boston, Mass.

It is the best club paper published.

course if desired.

- The Greek Drama—
The Sphinx.
Greek Music.
Greek Myths.
Pallas Athene.
Greek Religion.
The position of women in Athens.
Greek plays in English and American colleges.
The temple of Apollo at Delphi.
The City of the Violet Crown.
Greek games.
Thebes.
Greek education.
Greek architecture.
Ajax Telamon.
Customs and manners of the Athenians.
The Greek poets.
Lemnos.
Philoctetes, Crusoe, and Enoch Arden.
The Homeric Ship.
Homer and the Critics.
Helen.
The Importance of the Oath.
Troy and its Royal Family.
Hera.
The Olympian System.
Achilles and Hector—a Contrast.
Armor and Weapons of the Iliad.
The Underworld of Homer.
Schliemann's Explorations.
Hephaestion the Artist.
Homer's Admiration for the Horse.

In a neat brochure, with white covers lettered in gold and tied with bright colors of the great white empire, the English-American Reading class of Buffalo, New York, presents its study plan of Russia for the coming year. The meetings of this club are held weekly, one long paper, as a rule, or, on occasion, a group of shorter ones presenting the different phases of the same topic. At the end of each meeting quotations from some designated author are given. Corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. L. Loebnick, 172 Fourteenth street, Buffalo.

- The Great White Empire. Quotations from Geoffrey Chancer.
Primitive Russia. Quotations from John Gower.
Princes and Principalities. Russia in slavery. Quotations from James I. of Scotland.
Russia consolidated. Ivan the Great. Ivan the Terrible. Quotations from Edmund Spencer.
Songs and Legends. Quotations from Sir Philip Sidney.
Moscow and the Kremlin. Quotations from William Shakspeare.
Peter the Great. Quotations from Christopher Marlowe.
The Semiramis of the North. Quotations from Ben Jonson.
Religions, past and present. Quotations from Beaumont and Fletcher.
Quotations from John Milton.
Alexander I. Quotations from Jeremy Taylor.
Don Quixote of Autocracy. Quotations from Increase and Rev. Cotton Mather.
The people. Manners and customs. The Aristocracy. The middle class. The peasant. Quotations from George Herbert.
Alexander the Earnest. Quotations