

A very pretty and impressive wedding ceremony occurred on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock at the Trinity Methodist church when Miss Ruby A. Prindle and Mr. R. D. Hubbard were united in the bonds of matrimony by the Rev. Chipperfield, pastor of that church. The church had been decorated by friends in honor of this occasion. Just at eight o'clock the march from Lohengrin was played by Miss A. B. White. The relatives of the bridal party preceded them to the altar. Then came the ushers, Messrs Arthur Gadd, K. Leonard, Chris Dybbro, Glen Odell. Following them came the little ring-bearer, Miss Luella Shuttler, in a dainty white organdie, bearing the ring upon a white pillow. Following was the bridesmaid, Miss Ella Fowler, gowned in pink organdie and carrying pink roses. Last of all came the bride upon the arm of her brother, wearing a beautiful gown of white organdie over which fell a flowing veil. She carried bride's roses. At the altar they were met by the groom, who was attended by Mr. Ed Hubbard as best man. After the ceremony Mendelssohn's wedding march was played. An elegant luncheon was served at the home of the bride for the near relatives and the bridal party. Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard were the recipients of a great many beautiful presents which testified to the good esteem with which they are held by their many friends here.

The party will return by a southern route. Mr. and Mrs. MacLean expect then to go the Black Hills for few days with Regent Morrill and family.

The Burlington (Vt.) Free Press of last Saturday contains the following item of particular interest to the young people of this city:

"The engagement is announced of Miss Marie Marshall of Lincoln, Nebr., to R. C. Miles of this city. Mr. Miles is of the firm of Miles & Perry and he has a wide circle of friends and acquaintances who will join in hearty congratulations."

The firm of Miles & Perry is engaged in the clothing business.

This description of a pretty wedding luncheon is taken from the Mail & Times of Des Moines:

"In the center of the festal board was placed a tall, slender crystal vase, filled with white flowers, with a fringe of lacey green maidenhair ferns. The flowers came out almost to the edge of the table, and made a beautiful canopy of fragrance above the heads of the guests, while not shutting off one's view of the other side of the table. The ice cream resembled a salad. It was frozen in the form of a crisp green and yellow leaf, and over the whole was a frozen custard resembling mayonnaise. The fruit salad was served in the shells of rosy apples, whose pulp had been scraped out and mixed with celery and mayonnaise and then replaced. At each bridesmaid's place was a tiny green coal-port lamp with a white rose shade, and decorated with maidenhair. The lights were lighted at the beginning of the luncheon. The one which burned out soonest signified that the owner would be a bride before any of the other maidens at the table. At each place was placed the bride's gifts to her maids—green enameled shamrocks.
