Some of the delegates and members of the grand council arrived on Friday of last week. The majority, however, arrived on Monday and Tuesday of this week. All trains which came to the city on those days were met by Kappa carriages and all visitors were taken to the Lincoln hotel. Some who have relatives or friends in the city are spending at least a part of the time with them. On Tuesday evening there was an informal reception at the home of Misses Florence and Margaret Winger, which was attended by almost a hundred Kappas. This reception was exclusively for Kappas, so as to give them an opportunity to become acquainted with each other before any other strangers were introduced. They were received by the hostesses, who were assisted by Miss Richmond and Miss Sargent. The home was decorated with many pennants of light and dark blue, the color of the fraternity. Across the curtains of the reception room was the letter Sigma, the chapter which is entertaining. The dining room, where punch was served, was decorated with long pennants and blue and white flowers. At this reception the pretty silver convention pins were given to all guests. The pins were a compliment from D. L. Auld of Columbus, O., one of the fraternity jewelers. The pin is a silver fleur-de-lis, the flower of the fraternity, beautifully designed. On Wednesday morning the first business session was held. The convention was opened by the marshal of convention. The sessions were held in the chapel. There was a surprise in store for most of the members when the chapel was opened. It had been most beautifully and tastefully decorated by Mrs. C. H. Gere and Mrs. L. C. Richards. The rostrum and the piano and small tables on it were adorned with palms and cut flowers. The balcony was draped in fraternity colors and the front of the hall covered with Kappa, university and national flags and a large key.

On Wednesday evening a picnic tea was given for the convention, the mothers of the town Kappas and other women friends at the home of Miss Ena Ricketts. Tea was served on the lawn on small tables, and the scene was beautiful indeed when the forty tables were surrounded by the guests in bright dainty gowns. Later in the evening there was music and other informal entertainments.

On Thursday evening the convention, with members of all other frat-
