The Holiday Merchandising Has Begun.

Saturday, December 3, is the day upon which we formally introduce our vast assortments of holiday merchandise to the purchasing public. We need not go into detail about this annual event, this event that everybody within reach of this store has learned to look forward to with the keenest interest. We will say that this year's stocks are larger, we have more room and many more salespeople. You may infer from this that we expect a larger business than ever. That's the very reason for our holding the opening earlier than usual, we know the volume of business will be the greatest we have ever known and by giving people an early opportunity to make selections, those who take advantage of it may avoid the tremendous rush always attending our holiday selling. We will gladly lay aside your purchases and reserve them for you until you are ready for them.

STORE CLOSURES AS USUAL AT 6 P. M., EXCEPT SATURDAY'S UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE.

Died, on Saturday, November 26, in Lincoln, at his home 1925 T street, George Lewis Conkling, an old soldier, at the age of 64. He was born in Pennsylvania and served during the rebellion in company G. The funeral occurred on Monday and was in charge of Farragut Post No. 25, G. A. R.

Died, in Lincoln, on Saturday, November 26, at his residence 1029 L street, Earl Augustin Cooley of blood poisoning.

Mr. Cooley leaves a widow, one son, Fred C. Cooley, and an aged father, Dr. S. C. Cooley. He was 53 years old and a native of New York state. He has been a resident of Lincoln since 1878 and was well known to many citizens. For the past six years he has been deputy custodian at the government building.

Mr. Cooley was a member of Farragut Post No. 25, G. A. R., was a prominent Mason and also a member of Mt. Moriah commandery Knights Templar. His funeral occurred from his late residence on Monday afternoon and was conducted by the Masonic orders, assisted by the Grand Army.

Died, in Lincoln, on November 30, Captain Wm. C. Heddleson.

Captain Heddleson was born in Dover, Kentucky, sixty-five years ago. His father was a soldier of the revolutionary war and the war of 1812. The captain's boyhood was spent in Winchester, Ohio, and at the age of 15 he became a clerk on an Ohio river steamboat. At the breaking out of the war he enlisted for a term of ninety days, at the end of which he enlisted again, was mustered in as second lieutenant of the Twenty-fourth Ohio infantry. In 1873, his term of enlistment having again expired, he went to his home and raised a troop for the Twelfth Ohio cavalry and was commissioned its captain. He served in this capacity until the end of the war. He then secured a position with the Adams Express company at Cincinnati which he held until 1868, the year of his removal to Lincoln. On coming here, he formed a partnership with J. N. Townley and erected a frame building on the corner of Thirteenth and M streets, in which a hotel was opened. The old Townley house is a familiar memory with many of the older residents of Lincoln.

Since that time Captain Heddleson has been almost continuously a resident of this city and has been prominent and active in many of its interests. From 1883 to 1886 he managed a hotel in New Mexico, but returned to this city after that. He was a charter member of Appomattox Post, G. A. R., and belonged to Capital City Lodge No. 68, K. of P.

Captain Heddleson was the last member of his family. A niece and a nephew, Mrs. Mary F. Fuller, of Lincoln, and Lieutenant Townley, now of Washington, D. C., are the only surviving near relations.
