night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Yates for their son, Lieut. H. C. Yates, of West Point. The house was adorned with an abundance of cut flowers and other decorations, and the presence of many handsome young ladies and gentlemen made the scene one of much beauty. The first part of the evening was given to cards, and tables were strewn through the rooms for the games. Afterwards dancing was indulged in by the young people to music furnished by a melodious orchestra. Refreshments were served during the evening. One of the greatest pleasures of the evening was the greeting by Lieut. Yates of his many friends who have not seen him for some time. He has but recently graduated from West Point, and will in all likelihood remain in Lincoln but a week. It is hinted that he may be called to Santiago shortly.

Mr. J. C. Seacrest has returned from New York where he went to attend the meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. The members of the association had a hard time in reaching the city for the meeting, on account of the storm, then raging. Mr. Seacrest was compelled to stop over in Buffalo and the Buffalo News had the following to say in regard to the matter: "With all New England in the grasp of ice, General Taylor of the Boston Globe, the wittiest orator of the association, stays close to his pork and beans, while the Adonis of the western delegation, Mr. J. C. Seacrest was forced to stop over in Buffalo to enjoy our lawn fetes, moonlight excursions on the river, and the general warmth which prevails here. He read the newspapers of Detroit, but owing to the great frost of the bi-centenary, which chilled him so badly he said to the conductor, 'Put me off at Buffalo.'"

The members of the Lincoln club enjoyed a novel and amusing party Thursday evening at Lincoln Light Infantry hall. It was called a poverty party and the guests were all required to come in rags and tags. Any one appearing in "store clothes," was fined if he or she tried to dance. Some of the costumes were grotesque and very comical. Mr. Plamondon and Miss Sheldon led the grand march. An orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. Punches and ices were served from old crocks in tin dippers. There were no chairs in the room and the guests had to seat themselves on the floor. The programs were printed on pasteboard cigar cases. About forty couple were present and enjoyed the dance thoroughly.

A delightful banquet was given in the ordinary of the Lincoln hotel Thursday night complimentary to Dr. George H. Simmons who will leave in a few days to take the responsible position of editor on the Journal of the American Medical association. Dr. Garton acted as toastmaster, introducing the speakers with witty stories. The speakers were: Doctors Mitchell, Bridges, Christie, Stone, Winnett, Lowrie, Lord of Omaha; Green of University Place; Wilkinson, Holyoke and Simmons. Dr. Simmons made a speech of thanks in conclusion.

The members of chapter K., P. E. O. gave a delightful reception at the home of Mrs. O'Connell, North 14th street, on Friday afternoon, for Mrs. Barber, state inspector for the society. Members of the society were the only ones present; after inspection by the officer the guests enjoyed the afternoon greatly. The rooms were decorated with the colors of the organization, yellow and white, and cut flowers were in abundance. Refreshments of a dainty nature were served.

Dr. and Mrs. Edgren have issued invitations for an "at home" for the members of the Nebraska Folklore society for Wednesday evening, March 1st, at 1446 Q street. The program will consist of a metamorphosis of an eastern tale, "King Robert of Sicily," by Dr. A. F. Edgren; "Folklore of the Georgia Negro," and readings from Joel Chandler Harris, by Mr. John Randolph.

The announcement cards have been received in this city of the wedding of Mr. Joseph Grainger of Lincoln, to Miss Elsie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Webster at Heaton Moor, Stockport, England. The wedding took place Feb-
