Social and Personal

Lent certainly seems to have fallen upon Lincoln society this week, for there has been a dearth of entertaining, and parties have been almost unknown. The cold, too, has had its effect, and it has kept many in doors. There have been many little inconsequential gatherings, but the larger functions have not been held. A few things have been promulgated for new next week, and further in the future are more parties. But this week—well it has been insufferably dull.

Like a knot of gay ribbon was the party given in this gray week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Yates. Tuesday evening. It was in honor of Lieutenant Halsey Yates, who is home on a short furlough, and the guests were all of the married set. The house was beautiful with a profusion of carnations that spilled fragrance and beauty everywhere. The guests were seated in the lower parlors for four handed euchre and spirited games were played, Mrs. A. S. Raymond showing the most skill among the ladies, and Mr. E. E. Brown among the gentlemen. After cards the company adjourned to the billiard room on the second floor, where refreshments of an elaborate order were served. Tiny tables, beautifully decorated, were scattered through the room and the room was lighted with candelabra. The guests found their places at the tables by little cards with their names printed thereon. There were fifty-eight guests present to enjoy the cordial hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Yates and to greet again their young friend, Lieutenant Yates, who has a great many friends in the city.

Miss Florence Putnam gave a very gay little party Wednesday evening at her beautiful home. The young people were ushered into rooms fragrant with cut flowers and brilliant with lights where they spent an evening of much enjoyment. The amusement for the evening was progressive euchre, and when the games were over it was found that Miss Hollowbush had won the prize for the ladies and Mr. Sawyer that for the gentlemen. The guests were then seated at the dining table where a dainty luncheon was served. The guests were: Misses Mulry of New York, Hand, Oakley, Hollowbush, Welch, Cochran, Raymond, Gregory, Harrison, Hargreaves; Messrs. Ed and John Butler, Gregory, Walsh, Edmiston, Bartlett, Sawyer, Turkey, Baldwin, Yates, White, Raymond, Joyce, Honeywell, Hurlbut, Hayes, Sherman, Smith.

Mrs. H. H. Wheeler gave a luncheon Monday, which is spoken of as being unusually elegant, in honor of her guest, Miss Emma Van Sickle. The decorations were asparagus ferns and the purple and yellow flowers of spring. Those present were Mesdames Beeson, Green, Greene, Burr and Burr, Stuart, Leonard, Dorr; Misses Irwin and Van Sickle. Miss Van Sickle leaves tomorrow for Omaha where she is visiting her sister, Mrs. David Baum.

Monday night the boxes were filled at the Oliver with parties to see the presentation of "Ruy Blas," by members of the Nebraska school of oratory. The following occupied boxes: Governor and Mrs. Poynter, son and daughter; Dr. and Mrs. Wharton; Mesdames Tilton, Taylor, Briggs and Master Briggs; Dr. and Mrs. Dorris; Dr. Paine; Chancellor and Mrs. MacLean; Dr. and Mrs. Link; Mrs. Maggi, Mr. and Mrs. Gates, Adjutant General Barry; Dr. and Mrs. Rowlands; Dr. and Mrs. Hindman; Mr. and Mrs. Prescott and family; Mr. and Mrs. Buckstaff entertained Mrs. Loveland of Saginaw, Mich., Lieut. Townley, Messrs. and Mesdames Wilson, Hardy, Stevens, Holm, Munger and Mrs. Frank Smith.

Chaplain and Mrs. Henry Masterman celebrated the fifty fourth anniversary of their wedding day last Sunday by giving a dinner to members of their family. There were four generations of Mastermans present, and the old couple were very happy, surrounded by their children, grand children and great-grand-children. Chaplain Masterman is widely known in G. A. R. circles, where he is a familiar figure at all gatherings of old soldiers. He has officiated at a very large number of funerals of Grand Army men within the period of his office as chaplain. Both Mr. and Mrs. Masterman have a very wide circle of friends who feel for them a hearty affection.

Mr. O. A. Mohrenstecher who has for some years been in business as a part of the firm of Herpolsheimer & Co., has withdrawn from the firm by mutual consent and will go east soon. He has not yet determined whether he will go to New York, where he has some very flattering offers, or to Quincy, Ill., where his brother-in-law and father-in-law are in business. The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Mohrenstecher is very deeply regretted by Lincoln society, which appreciates their unusual charm very jealously.

Mr. N. N. Hawley of Lincoln, and Miss Ida May Reynolds were married at Raymond, February 21st, at the home of Mr. C. S. Cadwallader. The bride was attended by Miss Madge Cadwallader. Rev. S. W. Embree of Lincoln, officiated. The bride wore white silk and carried bride roses. After the ceremony the guests enjoyed a delightful wedding dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Hawley will reside on Walnut Grove farm, five miles south of Lincoln.

Miss Marie Hoover has returned from a five month's visit in Denver where her playing was much appreciated. All the Denver papers gave her very flattering notices. This from the Denver Republican is selected:

The concert of the Tuesday Musical club on Tuesday, for its associate members, was one of the events of the week in musical circles. The program afforded a delightful peep into the music of the period from 1800 to 1850. A charming feature was the playing of Miss Marie Hoover of Lincoln, Nebr., who since her arrival in Denver a few months ago, seems at once to have found and filled a place in the club. She has been a great favorite and the Tuesday Musical club was loath to part with her, doing so only in the hope that she may soon return to Denver to remain permanently. Miss Hoover's touch calls forth flattering comment from all who have the pleasure of hearing her, and the club is anxious to have so talented a pianist come into the regular membership.

There was a delightful dance last night at Turpin's dancing academy in which the members of the different fraternities of the university mingled in a
