Social and Personal

As usual, last week ended up with a host of parties on Friday and Saturday evenings. To bring the week to a happy close several people gave parties. Miss Mae Burr entertained informally Friday evening. Music was the theme of enjoyment and a chafing dish supper brought the evening to a close. Those present were: Misses Hoover, Hollowbush, Oakley; Messrs. Joyce, Thatcher, Letmer. Another party where music was the main enjoyment was that given the same evening by Messrs. M. J. and J. L. Janowitz at the Windsor hotel. An informal program was participated in by Miss Ella Givens, Mr. J. L. Janowitz, Messrs. and Mesdames Scott and Ferguson and Mr. Kettering. Other guests present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Gardner, Winters; Misses Morris, Davison, Crawford; Messrs. Austin and Husband. Refreshments were served at the close. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson assisted the Messrs. Janowitz in entertaining the company. The girl members of the Union society of the university received the girls of the Palladian and Delian societies Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. H. Wilson. The guests represented different books and a library of seventy-five volumes was the result. Refreshments were served. Mesdames MacLean and Manning, Misses Boulton, Barr and Conklin assisted in receiving and entertaining. The reception given by Mrs. I. S. P. Weeks for Mrs. Marsh, wife of Rev. Marsh of the Unitarian church, was a bright and sociable one. The ladies of the church were present and the afternoon was happily spent in social converse. Mrs. Aitken and Mrs. H. W. Brown presided at the tea and coffee urns and Misses Marsh, Edgren, Lewis and Weeks served. The house was bright with flowers for the occasion.

Mrs. W. B. Ogden gave a Lenten tea Thursday afternoon to a company of ladies that was one of the pleasantest events of the week. The guests arrived about 3:30 and were seated in rooms brightened by great bouquets of roses. After greetings were exchanged, Mrs. Hinman was introduced to speak concerning Armenia and the people of that land. The address was one of extreme interest, Mrs. Hinman having been a resident of that land where her father was a missionary, and she was able to give fine word pictures of the land of massacres. She prefaced her address with a historical review and then proceeded to describe the country as it is today. Her word pictures of the mosque of San Sofia were graphic and full of poetical phrases. She told some stories of Armenian boys who had become educated and said that they had made great advances since the American schools had been opened there. After the lecture which was thoroughly enjoyed, refreshments were served. Mrs. D. D. Muir presided at the coffee urn and Mrs. Carl Funke assisted in serving. To bring the afternoon to a close Mr. William Reed Dunroy gave some readings from his poems. He gave a group of Nebraska poems, followed by some of a philosophical turn. He read in a clear, unaffected manner and the ladies were delighted with the opportunity to hear Mr. Dunroy read his own verse. The guests expressed themselves as highly indebted to Mrs. Ogden for the privilege of attending the gathering and for being allowed the privilege of contributing to the support of some poor Armenian child, for the meeting was for the purpose of raising money to support one of the little children made orphans by the cruelty of the Turks.

Delta Tau Delta fraternity gave a smoker at its chapter house at 17th and Q streets Wednesday night. About fifteen alumni from Lincoln and Omaha besides the active members of the fraternity were present. Following the cigars the guests were served with light refreshments. Those present were: J. F. Saylor, J. L. Teeters, C. C. Marlay, W. T. Stevens, W. S. Summers, M. I. Aitken, N. S. Harwood, E. C. Strode, Horace Whitmore, D. L. Love, E. J. Cornish, Lincoln; Representatives H. A. Meyers and R. H. Olmstead, Senator Joseph Crow, Omaha; Representative W. T. Thompson, Central City; Representative A. J. Weaver, Falls City. The active members present were: A. L. Browne, J. P. Cleland, W. Christensen, O. G. Whipple, C. W. Weeks, J. L. Kind, C. A. Atwood, G. Barnes, A. K. Barnes, L. M. Weaver, B. A. Yoder, B. K. King, W. W. Burt, R. A. Drain, A. Watkins, Jr., A. E. Parmelee, E. M. Bauman, V. A. Henderson.

Friday night of this week was gala night with the members of the L. A. Kensington club. They met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kennard for a banquet and a good time. The members were joined by their husbands and the evening was very pleasantly spent with euchre and conversation. The house was decorated elaborately with cut flowers in honor of the occasion and the refreshments served during the evening were exquisitely arranged. The club has met every two weeks all winter at the homes of the different members for quiet games of euchre and the meetings have been full of enjoyment. In order to give their husbands an inkling of the good times enjoyed, the members invited them in for this occasion.

Tuesday at 1 o'clock, Mrs. Frank Irvine gave a Lenten luncheon for Mrs. Gordon of Omaha, who is a guest of friends in the city. Mrs. Gordon formerly resided in this city, where Dr. Gordon was pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and therefore she is not a total stranger in Lincoln society. The party was a quiet little one, not ostentatious but full of informal pleasantness. The ladies wore beautiful gowns and the rooms were brilliant with meteor roses in abundance. Covers were laid for ten. The guests were: Mesdames Gordon, MacLean, Lambertson, Burnham, Raymond, Muir, Yates, Baker, Irvine and Ralph Taylor of Vermont.

Mrs. W. B. Hargreaves gave a delightful luncheon Tuesday, for Mrs. Loveland. The house was brightened with a profusion of beautiful flowers, the curtains were drawn and gas light softened and subdued the scene. The dinner was most elaborate, served in courses and was a marvel of dainty creations. Covers were laid for Mesdames Loveland, Stebbins, Wright, Hargreaves, Griffith, Funke, Wilson and Wilson.

Miss Hand, who has been the guest of
