ing was partly a business one and partly social. Mrs. Raymond opened the meeting by thanking the members of the club for their active co-operation in the work of the past year. There is a graciousness and savoir faire in Mrs. Raymond's manner, added to her executive ability that has made her a wonderful presiding officer for the club.

Miss Marie Adamson is visiting relatives and friends in the city for a few days, before leaving for Hot Springs, South Dakota, where she will remain for some time. She has but recently returned from Omaha.

Mrs. J. D. Macfarland gave a small birthday dinner to a few old settlers on Monday. It was a pleasant gathering of old time friends. It is a fortunate circumstance that a loyal friend makes loyal friends. Mrs. Macfarland's affection for the friends she made long ago is one of the most charming characteristics of an original and fascinating woman. Her guests were Mrs. D. D. Muir, Mrs. E. P. Holmes, Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Buckstaff, Mrs. A. S. Raymond, Miss Hohmann and Miss Harris.

Outside Society Notes.

The North Side Private Butlers of Chicago will open a series of entertainments with a dance at Wellington hall, 70 North Clark street, tomorrow night. In announcing its formation and purpose, the new club prospectus says:

"The object of this organization is to raise a new and higher standard in entertainment among colored people. Only twenty-five butlers have been admitted to membership, and these are some of the best-known young colored society men in Chicago. The membership was thus limited because the interests of the organization can be best served only by butlers in the service of wealthy families of high social standing. The invitation list for the entertainments, therefore, includes such persons as will faithfully reflect the graces of the aristocratic set of Lake Shore drive and Dearborn avenue. Cake walks and rag-time two-steps will be noticed only by their absence. A high class colored orchestra in full evening dress and hid behind palms and ferns will play the music, which has already been selected by the president. Carriages will be called at 3:30."

Warner E. S. Williams, butler for Mrs. E. S. Isham, 1 Tower court, who is a graduate of Howard university, Washington, D. C., is president. Mrs. Wilbur's butler, James Wheeler, is secretary. Speaking of the club's prospects,

President Williams said:

"Colored society has long been in need of a strong social organization of tone and quality. Colored butlers being in constant contact with the best social life, will reflect its graces and accomplishments as no other class could. We expect to set the pace."
