...Perfection...

Absolute perfection is often claimed for shoes that are simply stylish. Shoes that are plenty stylish enough when new often lack durability and comfort. All our shoes are good. The higher priced ones are absolutely perfect in every detail. The cheaper ones, of course, can not be.

SOCIETY

There is nothing new under the sun and the world would be as tiresome as the blasé people, who have tried everything, if it were not for youth and love. Young people's parties do not tax therefore the ingenuity of hostesses. The possibility quite well understood by each one of an assembled company of unmarried young men and women, that that night may decide the identity of their future most intimate companion for life, furnishes enough diversion. But companies of married people, where everything has been settled and who have danced, played cards, crokinole, tiddlywinks, for seasons and seasons want to be surprised. Baby parties are being given in other places. The hosts and guests dress in any costume suitable to a little boy or girl under nine years and they play "ring round-a-roey," "King William was King James' Son," "drop the handkerchief," "clap-in and clap-out" and "soap bubbles." These parties are said to be very amusing. The only objection to them is that it requires special preparation on the part of the guests, and most men are unwilling to take the trouble. I hear of a hostess here who contemplates a baby-party but hesitates on account of the unwillingness of the average man to dress for the party.

Major and Mrs. F. J. W. Stoney gave a euchre party Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Buckstaff won the royal prize, and Mrs. Thomas and Mr. Ewing the prizes for shouting. The house was decorated with American Beauties. The daintiest of luncheons was served in three courses. Following were present: Messrs. and Mesdames Buckstaff, Thomas, Ewing, Rector, I. M. Raymond, Yates, Wright, Fawell, Fawell, Howe, Tefft, Cowdery, Mitchell; Mesdames Pitcher, Mansfield, Woods, Lawton, Stewart; Misses Putnam, Hardy, Hollowbush; Messrs. Marquette, Buckstaff, Holmes, Kennard, Joyce and Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller and Prof. and Mrs. E. H. Barbour entertained the members of Sorosis and other friends last evening in honor of Mrs. George Shipman of Chicago. The beautiful Miller home was thrown open and easily accommodated the three hundred guests. The reception hall was adorned with palms, the music room with American Beauties and the refreshment room up stairs with bridesmaid roses. Mrs. W. J. Bryan wearing a silken gown the shade of the roses, presided at the refreshment table and was assisted in serving sherbet by members of Sorosis. Other members of the club assisted the hostesses in ministering to the comfort of their guests. Mrs. Miller received her friends in a red velvet jacket over a blouse of white panne velvet worn with a skirt of black crepe de chine; Mrs. Barbour wore a gown of white silk; Mrs. Shipman wore a skirt of ivory satin made entrain and a pale blue corsage trimmed with chantilly lace. A beautiful musical program was given by Mesdames Shipman, P. V. M. Raymond, Misses Eiche and Ensign. Mrs. Shipman was a favorite when she resided in Lincoln and her fine voice was heard frequently in churches and concerts and her friends and admirers were delighted at the opportunity to hear her again. She was generous with her songs last night and graciously responded to en-cores. The other musicians who assisted Mrs. Shipman are too well known to require special mention. All were warmly received and pleased their audience greatly. The following program was presented:

Mrs. George E. Shipman,	Soprano.

Sigma Chi gave an informal card party Saturday evening for Mr. Charles Patterson, an honored member who is soon to leave the city. After the games a luncheon was served. Those present were Mrs. J. H. Auld, Misses Moore, Harley, Montgomery, Hays, Jackson, Auld, Shaw, Hargreaves, Manrid, Ashmun, Stewart, Gahan, Hecock, Funke, Spinney; Messrs. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Turner entertained Monday Night club on Tuesday evening. Those present were Dr. and Mrs. Casebeer, Dr. and Mrs. Hill, Messrs. and Mesdames Stine, Clinker, Garoutte, Hutchins, Whiting, Hibner, Lahr, Chapin, Bartruff and Mrs. R. M. Turner.

The members of the E. E. D. Kensington gave their annual masquerade on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hayden. The characters represented varied with the number of persons present and were truthful. Music, dancing and light refreshments added to the enjoyment of the guests.

Mrs. C. J. Guenzel gave a pleasant one o'clock luncheon Tuesday in compliment to Mrs. Wilson of Chicago. Maiden hair fern and carnations beautified the table. Besides the guest of honor there were present Mesdames S. C. Hoover, James Stevens, Usher, Ingalls, Quiggle and Levi Munson.

Miss Martha Rachel Quiggle will, in a decidedly grown up way celebrate the eighth anniversary of her birth this afternoon. She will be assisted by Miss Della Hoover and a large number of small men and maidens will be present. Daylight will be excluded and tapers in handsome candelabra will illumine the scene. The supper table will be done in green and white, a large white birthday cake on which will burn eight green candles being in the centre with bouquets of carnations at either end. Games of all sorts will entertain the guests. Those invited are Miss McPhee, the little Misses Della Hoover, Mary States, Esther Burnett, Henrietta Cone, Helen Blich, Barbara Baird, Gladys Lucore, Reta Hollingsworth, Lucille Lees, Lida and Winifred Irvine, Della and Clara Hoover, Lila LeGore.
