profession of this city, is ever alert to make meetings interesting, and to add to the comfort and pleasure of the visiting physicians. The scientific work of the society, this year, will be of a high order. Papers will be contributed by many leading men of the state, upon a great variety of subjects, both practical and theoretical. Two distinguished members of the Medical Profession, namely: Doctor Nicholas Senc, Ex-President of the American Medical Association, and one of America's leading surgeons, and Doctor N. S. Davis, Jr., of Chicago, will deliver addresses. The social features of the meeting will not be neglected. The busy physician will find the few days spent at the meeting not only instructive, but restful in the pleasure of meeting his confreres. Among other questions that of a reorganization of the State Society upon a proper basis, more in harmony with that recently adopted by some of the eastern states, will be considered.

One of the earliest twentieth century enterprises to be recorded in the history of Lincoln is the establishment of a new sanatorium. A few weeks ago the Lincoln Normal dormitory building was purchased by the Doctor B. F. Bailey Sanatorium company, and after a thorough equipment with all modern appliances, will be opened about May the fifteenth. Nurses, doctors and attendants will be under the personal supervision of Doctor Bailey, who with Mrs. Bailey will reside in the sanatorium. The board of directors is composed of Doctor Bailey, president and manager; Mr. John B. Horton, secretary and treasurer; Messrs. Alex. Berger, Willard Kimball, W. H. Mauss, and Doctor J. P. Cobb of Chicago.

Mrs. Herbert Bushnell gave a luncheon at half after noon on Wednesday to the officers and leaders of departments of the Lincoln Woman's club. The guests were seated at small tables and found their places by means of animated little pen and ink sketches which illustrated a name, quotation or title of a book that had previously been written on a small slip of paper and presented to each one. A luncheon of goodly things was served, spiced with an abundant feeling of good will and friendship. After the luncheon Mrs. Bushnell asked Mrs. Morning to say a few words concerning the "club kingdom." Mrs. Morning responded in an inspiring and spiritual manner. Mrs. Plummer was then asked for a toast in behalf of the parliamentary department to which she responded in a brief but happy fashion. Miss Hayden spoke in clever words of the efforts of the committee appointed by the art department and Mrs. Sawyer with all the grace of feeling and scope of mind that has always been her possession, replied to the toast "Pearls in an Oyster Shell." Covers were laid for: Mesdames Welch, Burnett, Fling, Jackson, Eames, Plummer, Moring, Gunn, C. F. Harpham, Widener, Henry, Sawyer, Arnett, Piree, Callen Thompson, Bagnell; Misses Hayden, Towne, Miller, Harwood.

Mrs. J. L. Kellogg gave an exquisite Kensington on last Tuesday afternoon. A two course luncheon was served at the close of the musical program, which was furnished by Miss Holmes and Mrs. Frampton. The invited guests were: Mesdames J. H. Spencer, Candy, Ricketts, Caldwell, Stuart, Robbins, Elmendorf, Evans, Davis, Gustin, Winnett, Welch, Piper, Doane, Burkett, E. W. Allen, Adams, Berge, Bushnell, Andrews, Alabaster, Doty, Fowler, Grow, Whedon, Frampton, Garten, Henry, Jaques, Korsmeyer, Huntington, S. B. Pound, O'Neil, Metcalf, Watkins, Wendling, Welch, Woods, Williams, Lindly, Gillilan, Hall, Houtz, Lamb, Lowry, Martin, Lees, Wharton, Winger, Woodworth, Miller, McCreary, Nickols, Stine, Pitcher, Schwake, Steckley, Newman, Miller, Martin, Patrick, and Vaile of Baltimore; Misses Holmes, Risser, Dennis and Miller.

Married on Wednesday evening, at their future homestead, a farm near College View, Nebraska, Mr. Frank E. McGrew and Miss Jennie Kier, Reverend L. P. Ludden officiating. A large party of young people from Lincoln were among the guests. Mr. McGrew was formerly employed in the dairy department at the university farm and is now in charge of a dairy and fruit farm. The bride is a sister of Mr. S. K. Kier of this city and formerly lived at Sheridan, Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, and Mr. and Mrs. Le Gore gave the last of a series of card parties at the Spencer home last Saturday evening. The guests present
