SOCIETY

The feature of the week socially is the series of entertainments given by Mrs. C. F. Harpham and Mrs. A. A. Scott, at the home of the former, number 1535 C street. On Friday morning ten tables were filled at six handed euchre. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Le Gore. Those present were: Meedames Billmeyer, Cook, Cook of Chicago, Chapin, Dorr, Everett, Manahan, Evans, Wolcott, E. Fitzgerald, Gerhart, Hutchins, Field, Freeman, Giffin, Junge of Omaha, J. C. Harpham, J. H. Harley, Harry Harley, Henkle, Morrison, Metcalf, Morrill, McGrew, Chapin of Minden, Fred Phillips, Porter, Ricketts, Rudge, Risser, L. C. Richards, John Reed, Frank Smith, O. M. Branch Finch, Hammond, Jakway, Holyoke and Fling; Misses Carson, Risser and Richards.

On Friday afternoon about ninety guests were entertained at a kensington. On this occasion Mrs. Harpham and Mrs. Scott were assisted by Meedames Usher, Davis and Kelley and Miss Harpham. The guests were: Meedames Agnew, Adams, Atwood, Burkett, Boynton, Bushnell, Caldwell, Butler, Bagnell, Blackburn, Christy, Campbell, Candy, Derby, Dobbins, Easterday, Eames, Fitzgerald, Fessler, Finarty, Gustin, Gordon, Hoddy, Hebbard, Hoover, Hascall, Hartley, Henry, Holcomb, Hall, Jones, Jackson. Knotte, Knotts of Kansas City, Kellogg, Lees, Mills, Leese, Miller, McConiga, McCreary, Menzendorf, Miltonberger, Patrick, Peters, Phillips, Phillips, Wendling, Poynter, Plummer, Pirie, Scott, Steckley, Stevens, Stein, Stewart, Savage, Schwake, Sanderson, Sanderson, Tebbetta, Trester, Tomson, Turner, Talbot, Toeva, Towne, Traphagen, Watkins, Wharton, Winnett, Wallace, Tate, Whiting, Davis and Doctor Wood; Misses Butler, Poynter, Hartley, Haskell, Harpham, Auld and Agnew. Six handed euchre again was the entertainment on Saturday morning when the hostesses' assistants were: Mrs. Billmeyer and Mrs. Cook of Chicago. The guests at this function were: Meedames Elias Baker, Chapman, Casbeer, Dayton, Davis, Ewing, Eubanks, Folsom, Folsom, Fiske, Foster, Gund, Gleason, Garoutte, Guerzel, Gardner, Hill, Howland, Hirsching, Hayes, Harris, Ingles, Kelley, Kennard, Leese, LeGore, Lahr, Latahaw, Munson, Nelson, Phillips, Quiggle, Shawyer of Alliance. Robbins, Rankin, Rewick, Rewick, Rose, Scott, Stonebraker, Thompson, Usher, Crandall, Warner, Widener, Wilkinson, Witter, Weil, Yates, Underwood, Castor, Tibbets, Golden of Fremont, Pound, E. Bignell and Spencer; Misses Spencer, Newmark, Pound, Erb, Howland, Ewing and Usher of Brooklyn. Cut flowers, ferns and palms were used in the house decorations, and refreshments were served to the guests. No prizes were given to the winners of the games.

Married, on Wednesday evening, Miss Ida Friend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Friend, and Mr. Myrtell Aach. The ceremony was the first ever performed in the Jewish temple, and the service was conducted by Rabbi Simon of Omaha. The church decorations were in green and white, and consisted of palms and white carnations tied with white satin ribbons. The bride's gown was of white organdie, with veil, and a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Constance Sarbach of Fairbury, and the ring bearer, little Alice Weasel, also were dressed in white. After the guests were assembled Mrs. W. L. Sheetz sang, "O Promise Me," after which the bridal party entered to the strains of the Mendelssohn march, which was played by Mrs. L. J. Herzog. Preceded by the ring bearer and the bridesmaid, the bride walked with her father, and was met at the chancel by the groom and his best man, Mr. Carl Weil. After the service Mrs. Herzog played the beautiful march from Lohengrin. The ushers were: Messrs. Loeb, Kohn, Speier of Beatrice, and Sarbach of Fairbury. Following the ceremony the guests adjourned to the home of the bride's parents, 209 South Eighteenth street, where an elaborate reception followed. In the parlors the decorations were in the colors used in the Temple, green and white. In the punch room asparagus and autumn foliage were used with good effect, while the dining room was beautiful in pink and green. The hostess was assisted in receiving by Mrs. E. P. Finney, Miss Friend and Miss Franck; punch was served by Miss Gertrude Friend and Miss Jessie Newmark, while in the dining room Mrs. M. Weil and Mrs. Morris Friend presided, assisted by Misses Ethel Hooper, Cora Schlesinger, Hattie Berkeon and Anna Mayer. Miss Elsie Ackerman and Miss Babbette Weil assisted in the dressing rooms up stairs. The guests were permitted to view the wedding gifts to which one room was devoted. After a wedding trip of ten days Mr. and Mrs. Aach will be at home at 209 South Eighteenth street.

A teacher's success is demonstrated most conclusively by the success of his pupils. Miss Anna Vandergree, a young colored woman, who was a pupil of Miss Helen Gregory's kindergarten school has just been appointed by Mrs. Hearst to teach in the kindergarten maintained by her for negro children in Washington, D. C. It is a tribute to both Miss Gregory and Miss Vandergree that in a city containing the number of colored people that there are in Washington, Mrs. Hearst, whose experience of kindergarten teachers is exhaustive, should choose one from so far away as Lincoln, Nebraska. Miss Vandergree herself studied conscientiously to learn the problems of teaching little children. With the natural gifts of a teacher she has overcome many obstacles that a white girl does not have to meet. Her success is highly gratifying to her friends here and to the friends of her race everywhere. Miss Gregory, who is at the head of the Hearst kindergarten in Lead, South Dakota, is a young woman of remarkable energy, ability and integrity. The school is a large one; there are 130 children in attendance, and three other teachers. A sewing class for girls of from eight to twelve years has just been started with an attendance of 143 the first day. Miss Gregory has so many friends in Nebraska that the news of her success in disseminating sweetness and light to the miners' children in Lead will be received with quickening joy. When we are dust her influence will still be blossoming again in culture.
