NEBRASKA CORNHUSKERS

University of Nebraska's Doughty Football Players for Season of '01

Record for 1901

Nebraska 17, Lincoln High School 0.
 Nebraska 5, Kirksville, Mo., Osteopaths 0.
 Nebraska 28, Doane College 0.
 Nebraska 0, Minnesota 19.
 Nebraska 17, Ames, Ia., College 0.

Nebraska, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Chicago, Northwestern and Purdue.
 Science has done for Nebraska what it will do for any football squad. It has made them dangerous foemen. Coach Williams found this out last acknowledged in the west as chief candidates for championship honors. In each instance Nebraska was outweighed many pounds, man for man. This was particularly true at Minneapolis, and although the Cornhuskers were in poor condition, and Captain Westover played throughout the greater portion of the game in a semi-conscious condition, the best the northern giants could do was 19 to 0. Nebraska was in much better condition three weeks later when she met the Wisconsin team at Milwaukee, and it was only the perversity of fate that prevented scoring that day. The Cornhusker mettle was proved though when the fiercest charges of the Badgers gait is evidenced by the overwhelming scores with which she defeated her old time rivals Kansas and Missouri. The former suffered defeat by a score of 29 to 5, and the latter 51 to 0. Wisconsin will be played again next season, at Milwaukee. Minnesota should be brought to Lincoln. Iowa will be met, and the Nebraska boys will probably journey either to Chicago for a meeting with Northwestern or Chicago, or to Champaign, Ill., for a fray with the Illini. The Cornhuskers are in a winning class, and the prospects for another season indicate that they have the ability to stay there.

 Of the seasoned timber that has made up this year's doughty eleven.

From an obscure institution, seldom if ever heard of in football annals outside the Missouri valley, Nebraska state university has suddenly risen to a commanding eminence. A new name has been added to the galaxy that has been known for several years as the "big nine," and that name is Nebraska. By their achievements on the gridiron the Nebraska boys have earned a place in the same class with Wisconsin, Min-

Thanksgiving when his brawny Minnesotans were carried down the field by the little Cornhuskers, and two hard earned touchdowns scored—a feat no other team accomplished against the giant Gophers last season. Mr. Williams had this fact still more emphatically impressed on his memory last Saturday when his Northmen were drubbed by the smaller but more scientific men of Wisconsin. What Phil King of Princeton has done at Wisconsin, Walter Booth of Princeton is doing at Nebraska. With Booth again at the helm great possibilities are seen in the future.
 Nebraska has been beaten but twice this year, and then only by teams netted only 6 points in the first half, and aggregated only 18 in the end. Against Minnesota the Badgers piled up 18 points in the first half, and then contented themselves with playing a defensive game the second half, neither side scoring. Wisconsin beat Nebraska 18 to 0; Wisconsin beat Minnesota 18 to 0. Nebraska followers can get some consolation from the statement of Captain Arthur Curtis of Wisconsin who said after the deciding game:

 "Nebraska played us much harder than did Minnesota. Nebraska is a harder team to stop and plays a better defensive game."
 That Nebraska has struck a rapid only two men will be lost. Ex-Captain Erew at right guard is playing his fourth year, as is also little Drain, the quarterback whose generalship and individual work have added many a yard of opposing territory to Nebraska's possession this season. These will be serious losses, but with nine good men for a nucleus there is little to cause discouragement for the season of 1902, provided, of course, Booth can be retained. No one can estimate the value of Booth's services during the past two years. He has developed football men; he has developed plays; he has developed the university as a football institution and he has caused to a large extent the enthusiasm for
