LIFE'S MAZY WHIRL

Horrigan, a young democrat of ability, is contesting with Mr. Cosgrave for the police judgeship, but his hopes of election are based on nothing tangible and in fact neither he nor any of the fusion candidates on the city ticket have any chance of election. In the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh wards the republican councilmanic candidates, while opposed by men against whose character and fitness there is practically nothing to be said, have a walk-away. Mr. Bishop in the Fourth is a much more able man than his unknown opponent, and is so much better equipped to perform good service that not the least hope exists for Mr. Keith. In the Fifth and Seventh Councilmen Frampton and Lyman are seeking re-election. Both have made excellent representatives in the city governing body, and with their experience and knowledge of affairs are in a much better position to do good service than their opponents. In the Sixth, in Lee J. Dunn, the republicans present the sort of a man the people of Lincoln desire to see in the council, a business man of property and experience.

In the First ward M. D. Clary, the republican nominee, is confronted with Councilman Malone, who is seeking a third term. Mr. Malone's record as a councilman is so well known that it need not be commented upon. Mr. Clary is a business man with a following sufficiently large to justify the belief that he will be elected. In the Third ward George H. Moore, the republican nominee, is having opposition in the person of Horace F. Bishop, a young attorney. Every indication points to the election of Mr. Moore. He is a big, stalwart Burlington engineer, a man very popular among his fellow workmen and influential in labor circles. He has been very active in republican politics, and he will take the office with but one pledge, to do his best for the interests of his ward. In the Second C. E. Wilkinson, republican, and Jacob H. North, democrat, are the contestants. Both are capable gentlemen, but there is no reason why any republican should decline to vote for Mr. Wilkinson. He is a clean and able man, who can be depended upon not to co-operate with any faction or gang in opposition to the city's best interests.

Facts of Interest

Doctors in Sweden never send bills to their patients. They cheerfully accept whatever sum the patient choose to give them.

In Europe ten out of every one thousand people are living out of their own country; in America 137 out of every thousand, while 300 out of every thousand Australians were born in some other part of the world.

America sells nearly three times as much as she buys; Germany buys $250,000,000 worth more every year than she sells, while Great Britain last year actually bought twice as much as she sold.

In France the women teachers elect women members on all boards of education. In Sweden women vote for all elective officers except representatives; also, indirectly, for members of the upper house. In Ireland the women vote for the harbor boards and poor law guardians; and in Belfast for municipal officers. In Russia women householders vote for all elective officers and on all local matters.

Professional shoppers are employed by a certain large dry-goods firm in London to test the ability of shop assistants. This firm owns several large shops and employs nearly 1,000 assistants. To find out whether every customer is politely served a number of lady customers are employed to call at the various shops. They are told to give as much trouble as possible, and sometimes to leave without making a purchase after looking at nearly everything in the shop.

Peru holds the record as a mining country. She has 2,500 mines, from which 70,000 workmen dig gold, silver, sulphur, coal, phosphate, quicksilver, borax, copper and lead.

The season of fasting and penitence is nearing the end, sorrow and sighing will flee away with the setting of today's sun, and tomorrow will bring joy and gladness, and Easter carols, and resurrection lilies. Never before was there such a display of lovely blooms for Easter, as a visit to the florists' shops will prove. First there are the lilies pure and white, and fragrant, general favorites at this season. Those to whom the white flowers are suggestive of sadness may revel amid the colored beauties but they will find it hard to choose from so much loveliness. The lavender, pink, and purple hyacinths, the yellow daffodils, the brilliant hued tulips, touched by the brush of the most skillful of artists, with the gayest of colors, are all there to tempt with their reminders of spring. Then there are the roses and carnations which are always with us but which seem to feel glad themselves that spring is here and to be just a little brighter than usual on that account. To these are added the cyclamen in its various shades, and the delicate spirea, and many many others, and for a setting to all come the palms, tall and graceful, and the ferns. All of these will be seen in the churches to-

Many parties are announced for next week. The largest and consequently the most brilliant, will be the McDonald dance Wednesday night and the Raymond reception Thursday night, but there will be many others, and the days and the nights will be filled with gladness.
