St. Pierre Abandoned as Site for a City

PHOTOGRAPH OF CITY OF ST. PIERRE.

It is hardly probable that efforts will be made to restore the ruined town of St. Pierre, isle of Martinique. Four of future eruption from the volcano, Mt. Pelle, will deter people from setting in the vicinity of the monutain.

with played brilliantly on the planoforte. A two course luncheon was served each afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Whiting announce the engagement of their daughter May C., to Mr. Theodore Westermann. The nuptials will occur in October.

Mrs. M. E. Van Brunt, and her daughter, Mrs. Winslow Van Brunt of Beatrice, started Monday evening for New York and New Jersey for a six weeks' visit.

Governor and Mrs. Ezra P. Savage have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter Emilie Maclot, to Mr. Adriane Royal Harvey, of Omaha, to be celebrated June fourth, at the executive mansion, at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Miss Jennie Smith, who has been the guest of her brother and his wife in Honolulu since last fall, arrived at San Francisco last week and went immediately to visit her sister, Mrs. Cobb, in Texas. She will return to Lincoln in a few weeks.

Messieurs H. A. Tukey, C. Houck, Jack Sumner, Chester Sumner, Charles True and H. von Mansfelde, all members of Phi Delta Theta, are guests at the chapter house. They came to attend the Pan Hellenic last night and the Delta Gamma party tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hutchins gave a six-hand euchre last evening. They will give another this evening, and Mrs. Hutchins entertained fifty ladies in the same pleasant manner this afternoon. The house was adorned with white roses. Dainty refreshments were served.

Delta Gamma will give a picnic dance this evening at Walsh hall. The guests will assemble at half after six when a picnic supper will be served. Dancing will begin at half after eight o'clock. A rustic effect will be carried out in the decorations. About twenty-five couples will be present.

"Oh, tell me about your courtship," said the gushing girl friend, "was there any romance about it?"

Book Fines At the Library

"Getting fined on library books indicates imperfect business training. Of course we like to get the cash but the man or woman who is tardy with a book is just as likely as not to be late or unmindful of an important engagement." This was the statement made by a busy assistant at the city library after collecting a liberal fine upon a delinquent who had fust brought in a seven-day book two weeks late. As a result two and a half cents per diem went into the coffers of the institution.

"That man gets fined with monotonous regularity. He always keeps the book too long. When he takes out a volume I generally get a notice ready for mailing. A day before the book is due I send it out just to help the patron along. Sometimes I have to send out two more. But there is one good feature about it. He always pays the penalty with startling promptness."

Just as an experiment a representative of the Courier made a date with the patron on matters connected with his business. The man kept it. Another engagement was likewise faithfully and religiously held sacred. But when it came to something strange
