The patrons' association of the Capitol school held the first meeting of the year Thursday afternoon. There were about seventy-five ladies present to listen to the thoughtful, intelligent talk of Doctor Katherine B. Wolf upon "The First Five Years of a Child's Life." At the next meeting Mr. Fowler, state superintendent of public instruction, will speak upon "The Essentials in a Public School Education." The work laid out for the remainder of the year is as follows:

November fifteenth—Mr. Fowler. "Foods for the Growing Child," Miss Rosa Bouton. "The Very Little Children," Mrs. C. F. Ladd. "What and How Much Should Our Children Read," Mrs. T. C. Munger; and "What is the Ideal Mother's Love," by Mrs. C. H. Elmendorf. "The Period of Adolescence," Mrs. Inland Wheeler. "Manual Training," by Dean Ellery Davis. "Music in Our Schools," by Professor Sheetz. The patrons of the Capital school have derived much benefit from these meetings, and it is to be hoped that soon every school in the city will have a like organization where the forces of home and school may meet not for criticism, but for mutual benefit.

Mrs. F. M. Hall, president of the Woman's club, will be at home to all members of the club Monday afternoon. The members whose names begin with any letter of the alphabet from A to M inclusive, are requested to go to the reception between the hours of three and four o'clock, those whose initial letter comes from N to Z inclusive will be expected between the hours of four and five o'clock.

Mrs. Hall's preparations for this reception are on an elaborate plan. The decorations will be exceptionally beautiful, and a distinct color scheme will be carried out in each room, both upstairs and down. A most effective plan has been devised for the dining room and it will be literally a bower of verdure and bloom. Mrs. Hall hopes to greet all members of the club for the season of 1902-03 during the afternoon.

The Lotos club met Thursday afternoon with the president, Mrs. C. E. Bessey. Professor W. G. L. Taylor, who returned a few weeks ago from a European trip, talked of foods used in France and Germany. He spoke of the good quality of vegetables in France and of the skill with which they are prepared, a delicious dressing being generally used on them. Mr. Taylor's landlady went out one day and bought one tomato, and by using a dressing for it, she made it serve a family of six persons. Fish is used extensively in France, often with a saffron dressing.

Horse meat is used in France, and when served at hotels is frankly announced as such on the bills of fare. Mr. Taylor paid it a negative compliment by saying it was not so very bad.

More meat is used in Germany than in France, and beer is used instead of wine.

At a French theatre one evening during the performance of a play by Soumet, a spectator was observed to be slumbering. "Look," said Dumas to the author, who was sitting near him, "you see the effect produced by your tragedy!" Next evening at the same theatre it happened that the play was one of Dumas' own, and it happened also that a gentleman in the stalls was overpowered by sleep. Soumet, being present, noticed this, and with infinite satisfaction, tapping Dumas on the shoulder and pointing to the offender, he said, "Please notice, my dear Dumas, that your plays can send people to sleep as well as mine." "Not at all," was the ready answer: "that's our friend of yesterday; he has not waked up yet!"

With a stupendous triumph in New York to his credit, Mr. Tynan in his portrayal of "Robert Emmet," in the play of that name, will tour the country.

A Newcastle man, who seldom attends church, was persuaded to hear a sermon and was much impressed. "You are never too old to learn," he remarked confidentially to a friend. "Now I always thought Sodom and Gomorrah were husband and wife, and I find they were nothing but two cities."—American Weekly.
